Uh, Rog? Your spell check must be on the fritz again. What is a "recepticle"?
Let's see...you list of gaffes keeps growing.

Methjadone
Anoinymous
Sumbliminal
Seperation
Cociane
Don't worry, Rog. You got the filty words down just pat. Those you can spell sans any errors and for you that is all that is important.

Surely you jest! Roger? Friends? No way! The only friend Rogie has is his right hand which provides solace during those long, lonely nights he silently suffers through. Did not you know that this is how Rogie earned his nickname of "Thumper"?

You know what I mean.... do you spose Riley will make him re-test like you had to do?

6. Roger Wiseman's ISP and Employer

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time. Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV. Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Woger, in his blind fury to flame us, has often typed so fast that he forgets how to spell correctly. Of course I am in no way inferring that Woger is stupid. Far be it from that.
Roger is simply ignorant.
For instance, Roger has had problems with....

Seperation
Recepticle
Cociane

Rog....do not bother with your standard drivel that I am posting anonymously. (check the spelling, Boy)
I am not hiding behind Big Marie's curtains. I am not posting as "Mysterian 2001".

By the way, does the term "cyberstalking" mean anything to you?

This looks like a GREAT business opportunity for some enterprising hams from r.r.a.m. or 14.313 to make some nifty and bizzaro adult playtoys!

Make a mold of various bodily parts (both sexes) then add chopped liver, pumpkin pie filling, bread dough from the xyl's bread machine into the cavity and start pumpin boy!!!!! HO HO HO HO Hooo!!!

And cause their made in China you get em for ten cents each then can sell em at the hamfest or the corner adult store in the seedy part of town at 4000% profit!!

Yup. Some hams I hear on 20 and 75 should jump (grin) on this...

The question about low bands vs Ethernet came up recently on TowerTalk. Wonder if rec.radio.amateur has any wisdom to offer?

Can't speak for 160, but I had to dump my 100 baseT Ethernet hub for a 10 baseT unit because of the hash on 80. (A couple of S units above sky noise.) Previously I had switched from unshielded Cat 5 wiring to shielded Cat 5, along with snap-on ferrite filters. That helped, but not enough.

I am using the Linksys BEFSR11 DSL router, but at least on 80 it's not the router that causes the trouble. Make sure you're using only 10 Mbit Ethernet, not 100 Mbit.

I have problems the other way, also. Transmitted RF (100 W) gets into my LAN and causes "interesting" effects. Ferrite has tamed it for the moment, but I don't know about QRO. Next step is fiber optics and/or 2.4 GHz wireless "WiFi".

 Has anyone written up how to deal with DSL & LANs vs ham radio? **

Happy New Year to all!

p.s. And then there were our "RF quiet" high power lamp dimmers that coupled into our phone lines and screwed up DSL for a long time. EMC is not a simple thing these days!

Roger hasn't posted in several hours, as he is busy doing "damage control," trying to call (on New Year's Day) all the people he works with, telling them to disavow any knowledge that he works there. The pointy-headed little Glendale Gnome is so easy to manipulate that it is laughable.

It is an "in" abbreviation for tea time. Woger looks forward to tea time with his friends each day, because it is a time when they can relax, hold their pinkies high, and discuss the hair styles of their other friends who were stupid enough not to show up for tea.

He thinks that law enforcement people also engage in such activities, even though the rest of us know that only CW operators and ARRL officers are similarly inclined.

You were quite right about 6 meters for the last 5 days. Condx have been terrific from just my mobile station with a 1/4 wave vertical and 100 watts in Virginia USA.

I've been working Europe and the Carribean quite a bit. Even heard a JY9 (Jordan) today on 6 meters but the pileups were too much for my little station.

I'm working on a project of putting a full wave horizontal loop for 6 meters on my truck (vehicle - automobile) while the Solar Cycle is at near peak and F2 DX is terrific.

Go to http://wireless.fcc.gov/uls/ and click the Online Filing icon.

When you get into the system, an address change is considered an Hypocrit. You propose going to 2.4 GHz, which in effect also happens to jam and cause other difficulties for AMATEUR 2.4 operations..... However, I agree that currently, most of the jamming and problems up there are from cordless phones (at least in my area).

59. Mobile Antennas

About once a month, I will put a blurb on here about my Carolina Cyclone series of screwdriver antennas. I hope I don't annoy anyone by doing so, it's just that I get quite good responses in this manner.

One of the advantages of the Carolina Cyclone is that it is more cost effective while delivering performance equal to or beyond that of the more expensive ones. Thru careful research and.
with the assistance of a professional plastics supplier, I have found a material that meets all the requirements of the more expensive competitors in toughness, UV resistance, and power handling. This material is UNMW,or a kind of black Nylon similar or the same as Nyloc used on locking bolts (the little black or white collar near the head). The material turns well for the machinist and further reduces the cost because it produces less waste. Delrin is very high cost, and actually costs FOUR times that of UNMW. Most machinists dread to turn Phenolic because it, too, produces a huge amount of waste, comes off the lathe in long strings of fabric, and causes a huge mess to be cleaned up when finished. It, too, costs almost 4 times that of the Nylon derivative. Back to Delrin. What the fellows that use this hugely expensive stuff don't tell you is that, while Delrin IS very tough, UV resistant, and makes great antenna coils, it is also brittle--meaning that if you prang your coil on a low garage door header, it is more likely to break. We DO make mistakes sometimes. LOL! Now I do not mean to degrade the rival materials because they are good antenna coil forms. But the point I AM making is that there is something out there that will do the very same thing at a more reasonable cost.

And that is where the Carolina Cyclone I & II come in.

Cyclone I is a FULL 2" dia
Wire is #14 wound at 8 TPI
Form is UNMW (black Nylon) Decoupling fingers are a full 1/4" wide for strength, longevity, and tight contact.
Power handling is 800 watts (warranted)
Hardware is aluminum, brass, and stainless steel to resist corrosion and rust.
Coil cover is 1/8" wall LEXAN for a clear weather protection for many years

(Butyl will crack and discolor in a year or so)
Price is just $240 shipped (less whip) to lower 48 States Includes all ferrules, collets, and parts necessary..

Cyclone II is identical to the one above except it is a FULL 3" dia for the absolutely "persnickety" and avid HF mobile DXer. This is for the fellow that wants Texas Bugcatcher performance and screwdriver convenience. The one who wants "Q" factors in the 400+ range.
Construction is to the same commercial-grade standards and good looks as the Cyclone I.
For example, most "generic" screwdrivers use a wood insert screwed and glued into the bottom of a PVC reducer. This has very little in the way of threads, will sometimes strip, or come out of the bottom of the coil altogether. Without revealing too much, I have incorporated a 1" long turnbuckle nut which has the corresponding length of internal threads. It is secured in such a way that it is almost impossible to, either pull this assembly out of the coil, or to strip the drive
nut. I have repaired some screwdrivers that "mysteriously" stopped travelling, and the cause was that the brass wood insert pulled completely out because there is not enough material in the PVC bushing to keep it in there securely. Yet, if disassembly is ever needed, each subassembly can be taken apart, repaired with commonly available hardware, and put back together.
Cyclone II handles a FULL 1500 watts SSB! And costs only $350 Shipped to lower 48 states. Compare those prices to some of the big name screwdriver makers! I guarantee performance that will both please and surprise you, or your money back. For those of you who have never heard of me, I can say that I have shipped Carolina Cyclones all over the US--many to readers of this newsgroup. In 6 years of building, I have had exactly ONE to return for a mechanical failure, and I swapped it out immediately. You will find no negative remarks on the internet about trading with me--I do what I say or I make it right. If I didn't, I would be out of business in short order. But I want to STAY in the antenna business because this is one of the aspects of ham radio that I love working with.

Earilier, I said that I have a goal. My production is small--anywhere from 2-3 per month except during hamfest season. I don't try for huge numbers because I acquire the parts, I assemble, I test, and I ship! When you get an antenna from me, it is, indeed, from me! I have no employees. I work for myself. I need to make that goal of 3-4 antennas during January.
If you are in the market for an HF mobile antenna, please help me make that goal AND receive an excellent product in return!

Thank you for reading, and thanks to all of you who have purchased the Carolina Cyclone
in the past.

Happy New Year, and the best of 73 to all, license, repeater jammer. And there have been quite a number of retests, fuckwit. At least I could pass it twice, while you still have to pass it the first time, repeater jammer. Still jamming repeaters after the repeater

Jerry

ANYONE thinking the FCC IS, or is LIKELY to do anything with any serious degree of dedication and aggressiveness to "control" or in ANY way address the issue of CB lawlessness is living in a DREAM WORLD!

The likes of Riley Hollingsworth are doing precious LITTLE in the direction of "CB crackdown" - and about all you see at best, is perhaps one such FCC case per month - and THAT only occurs if the FCC is taken by the hand and forcibly LED to the offender by a Ham or government/commercial interest who has already done all the footwork FOR the FCC...

I worked KP4 Sunday at about 1500Z from my mobile and 100 watts with a 1/4 wave vertical.

Europe has been coming in from 1300Z at the earliest until 1800Z or so at the latest. The times vary somewhat depending on condx each day.

I've heard some Carribean stations working Europe so just be on the lookout.

Yea, it's all there how widdle woger got spanked by the FCC for jamming on HF. See http://www.rainreport.com/ click on FCC Letters, do a search on wiseman and you will see the letter about woger's jamming on 20 meters. Keep searching on wiseman and you will see the letter where Riley made woger retake the test.

KC8's a moron, but pointing out typos is just inane and petty.

At least say something intelligent.

When the government wants to make an example out of you, your constitutional rights mean nothing, but don't expect any commie atty. from the ACLU to run to your rescue.

Mitnik is like a number of others who were even more quietly thrown in prison for being just a little too scary and too smart for the feds. Ever read about the man who came up with a workable plan to do away with evil politicians via anonymous funding from the net? Guess where he is today. I certainly don't support his ideas, but I do support his right to print, post, or say anything per the First Amendment right to freedom of speech. But, he is a bit too smart, thus dangerous, and so he must be punished for thinking outside the box.

What's even funnier is that you responded to a forge.

I don't post from google, and I won't start a message cross-posted.
Notice my IP address and organization. Now that you know what a genuine message from me looks like, you can ignore the ones that aren't.

Now, if you go to the Rain Report, you'll see where Jizzswallowing Recepticle was caught jamming repeaters.
If you go to courttv.com and there's links that can link you to Jizzswallowing Recepticle's criminal record.

Poor thing.

I can only speak for my own experineces, but I'm running 4 computers on 100 base Three are in the same "small" room with the Ham Station.

Two of the three do not have the cabinents on. IOW, they are wide open
I run the full legal limit on all bands 160-10, although I'm off 160 right now.
I run 100 watts on 6-meters, 160 watts on 2-meters and 35 watts on 440.
The one computer sits right beside the two dual band 144/440 rigs which are just above the Icom 751A HF backup tranceiver and about 3 feet to the left of the 756 Pro and the old 76A amp. The second computer (without cabinet) is only a foot to the left of the first computer.

The computer I' m using now (with cabinet) is about 4 feet to the East of the first computer.

All three run 24 X 7 and are tied together through a router which also ties to a dual ISDN router.

The only problem I've run into is that there are so many AC runs in the shack that I had to add a ground to the mike cable on the 756 pro as the AC field in the room is so strong I was getting AC hum in the audio (not feedback). If I'd reach up and ground myself to the mike connector, or touch any bare metal on either the 756 Pro, or the Alpha 76A the humm would disappear. That meant my body was picking up the 60 cycle AC just like an antenna. Icom uses the outside shield as a ground (that isn't really a true ground) for the neutral on the mike up/down frequency switches. As I never use those anyway, I moved it to chassis ground and immediately got rid of the humm (which had been present on all bands)

I use the standard unshielded cables with no filtering.

I'm using 100 Mbit with no problem.
The hub is a dual 10/100 inexpensive Linksys while the ISDN router is Netgear

BTW the multi mode (packet) controller hooks from the HF and dual band (VHF/UHF) rigs right into the serial port on the closest computer. One of those without a cover.

The computers are 1.2 Gig Athlon (100 MHz FSB X 2) I got mine a week before they came out with the 133 X 2. which is the one used for packet.
The second is a 1.333 Gig Athlon (133 MHz X2 FSB) (both use MSI motherboards with RAID -- K7T266 Pro and K7T Turbo) The third is an old 450 P-III (Slot 1), but I don't remember the MB manufacturer. It's used mainly as a backup storage machine, but unfortunately as I'm well past a quarter terabyte on the other two, so it only gets the data files. (It can serve as a backup for an internet connection if need be. All three run 24 X 7.
I put the covers back on the two Athlons this past week, but they have been without covers well before upgrading to the Athlons.
> I have problems the other way, also. Transmitted RF (100 W)

I'm running the legal limit and have not noticed any problems yet and I've done a lot of checking. It will be interesting to see how the systems get along when I install the shop computer. That will take an ethernet run of roughly 175 feet which will be right beside the feedlines to the tower and directly under the 75 meter sloper and between two 40 meter slopers..

I do have an elaborate ground system with 21, 8' ground rods and nigh onto 360 feet of bare #2 copper that connects the all the station equipment, the tower, and house electrical ground into a common point. Got bit a couple of times befor hooking in the electrical ground.

On "average" the system gets hit twice a summer, but we escaped even a close one last summer.

> gets into my LAN and causes "interesting" effects. Ferrite

Now I am concerned about the wireless...Particularly as I run 440 and will be going high power on both 144 and 440...course high power is a relative thing on those bands. I'm limited to 400 watts to the antennas (stacked 12s at 127 feet) due to exposure limits. 440 is actually a higher power limit, but the odds of me running more than a couple of hundred watts with an antenna mounted amp are pretty remote.

>  Has anyone written up how to deal with DSL & LANs vs ham > radio? **
Not that I know of. It's such an individual thing. I would bet that some one will soon though. People say the number one rule is to keep the covers on...It's difficult to do when constantly modifying the computers and I have to open them up and do a complete clean out every month, or two. Two at the very latest. They run so much air through that they do a great job of collecting "dust bunnies". This one gave an over temp alarm last week. I opened it up to fine that the bottom of the CPU heatsink looked like it had a layer of felt across it. (it's one of those that look like a mineature radiator with copper and aluminum fins.) If I increased the air flow any more, I think it'd be able to hover. In other words, it's gettin' noisy in here. And I can't shut the door or the equipment will overheat. (It's not much fun in here when it gets that hot either. How hot? room temp will go well above 30C. I'm changing out the old towers for new ones meant for the increased airflow for the new high speed chips. Along with that I'm going to 300-400 watt power supplies from the original 250s. With as many 8 to 10 drives they run lots cooler than the over worked smaller ones.

How do I get 8 drives? four in the RAID, two HDs on the EIDE buss and two CD drives on an EIDE buss. PCI cards are available for about $30 that will let you add 4 more in a RAID, or just EIDE ATA 100. I had standardized on 40 Gig ATA 100s, but I can now get 80 Gig ATA 133s for less than two 40s. All are 7200 RPM.
Six 40s on one machine is 240 Gig and two machines total nearly half a Terabyte.
Archiving data sure takes a lot of CDs. <:-)) (I do a lot of image work and am getting darn tired of scanning)

I find your use of "nazi" to be very interesting here. Now, usually, on UseNet, saying "nazi" is an automatic admission of defeat but, in this case, is more amusing (astounding?) than would normally be the case.

I think you mentioned Hal "Duh" Turner's sponsorship by Rikki "Daddy" Butler. And, of course, Butler's stained glass window of a swastika and his silver bust of Adolf Hitler sort of makes one think that Butler and his middle-aged, male "admirers" might just be "nazi's" themselves.

I've got a printout from Butler's website in 1999 that shows the Aryan Nations' "Daddy" with his right arm stiff and elevated at an angle that looks just like the leader of one of the countries we defeated in World War Two.

So, if Duh Turner's wacko beliefs are similar to "Daddy" Butler's, then aren't there nothing but "speech-nazi's on Hal's message board"?

Gray Shockley

Btw: I don't think that Daddy Butler can afford to sponsor anything. He's bankrupt - financially as well as morally. The middle-aged boys' Daddy can't sponsor them anymore. He's living on the charity of a couple of those middle-aged boys.

Iï¿½m trying to find out how an electromagnetic driven tuning fork would have been used in a radio.

This tuning fork was part of a huge collection of old radio parts that was received from a family friend in the mid 1960s. I left the tuning fork with a teacher in the early seventies.

The tuning fork was packaged in an aluminum can and included a pair of driver and pickup electromagnets attacked to the rectangular fork. When you drove it at its resonant frequency you got a nice pure sine wave output. I never truly understood how these tuning forks were ever used as part of a radio because of their low frequency.

Does anyone have any idea about hoe these tuning forks might have been used? Iï¿½ve tried to search the Internet for similar devices and closest thing Iï¿½ve found is an optical chopper.

Yup! Yup! Yup!!

I think ole KA4MUJ (sk) was right when he said these people had "a disease".
Can't get it out of their system. It's all they LIVE FOR which means we have much more radio fun to look forward to. I still miss the Mike and Judy show however.
When Raincoat Charlie would get in there and talk about "4x D-Cell vibrators" and such, it was like live comedy theater you'd pay $35.00 a seat for downtown right out of your speaker for free. It can only get better in 2002. When NR5T and EVE get in there it's a 3-ring RF circus. So all you SWL's get tune in to 14.313 USB for some daytime and weekend radio fun.

Early VLF transmitters used a tuning fork to generate the transmit frequency.

Many years ago there was one on display at the Rugby VLF site.

Maybe its one of those. In which case its quite unique.

You continue to show your stupidity. There were no VEC's when I took my test, I took my test at an FCC field office, unlike you who cheated and bribed the VEC to get your license, and unlike you, I don't jam and will not be required to retest like Riley and the FCC boys made you do. HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAH!!!!

Martin,

I hope this information is of use to you, as your post is a couple of months old. This information is from the Harris service manual

1) The operating Voltage of the unit (PSU requirements) 13.6 VDC +/- 20%, 1.3 Amp typical

2) The tuning range
The operating frequency is 1.6 to 32 MHz

3) The minimum wire / whip length that can be used
1.6 - 32 MHz - Longwire, dipole, and 24-35 ft. whip
2.0 - 32 MHz - 16 ft. whip
4.0 - 32 MHz - 9 ft. whip

4) The maximum transmitter power the ATU will handle
RF input power: 125 watts PEP voice duty, 30 watts average

One item to be aware of when choosing antennas:

"JMP4 must not be installed when the RF-3281 is operating into a whip antenna from 9 to 35 feet long (2.7 to 10.7 meters). This combination may result in an overcurrent condition at low operating frequencies.

"Installing JMP4 configures the antenna coupler matching network for long-wire antennas from 75 to 150 feet (22.9 to 45.7 meters). When the jumper is installed, additional shunt capacitance is added to the antenna connection. THis capacitance is required to overcome the inductive impedence of the long-wire antennas when operated at frequencies where the electrical length of the antenna is between 1/4 and 1/2 wavelength."

This may be off topic but I have to bring up that 27.555 has been getting all jammed up with idiots lately and causing freebanders to be worried. I am not however worried because there are PLENTY more clearer frequencies above the freeband to move to.

I am again auctioning a Kenwood TS-450SAT HF Transceiver in excellent shape:

http://cgi.ebay.com/aw-cgi/eBayISAPI.dll?ViewItem&item=1317524919

(item # 1317524919)

I initially offered this radio for auction in late November, 2001. The winning bidder kept me waiting until he said he lost his job and could no longer afford the rig.

Please take another look.....

Thanks!

You think you steal frequencies. Frankly i hardly hear any chickenband on Greetings readers... I hope that this message is not too out of place.

I got my novice class amateur license back in high school and worked a lot of code and 10m phone... However, as college wore on, I had less and less free time to spend on the radio. As such, I hardly made a contact since 1997.

Well, I finally settled down in a job and bought a house. I would LOVE to get back on the radio and found out that I can still renew my license (I think).

I looked around on the web and couldn't quite find answers to the following questions. I was hoping someone could give me a hand!

1) I was a novice which appears to have gone away. When my license is renewed, what class will I magically become? I'm assuming that I'll become a TechPlus.
2) From what I understand now, there are only Tech(plus), General, and Extra classes. Is it true that ONLY 5pm code is required for all those classes now? In other words, I could take my General exam sometime in the summer?? drools

Any help you can offer is appreciated.

Thanks much!

Oops... one additional question I forgot to mention:

4) My wife is interested in getting her license... But until then, I know you can allow other people to work contacts provided you are present to assist them. Can someone refresh my memory on what I could allow her to do on my rig prior to her becoming licensed?

Thanks... and apologies for the double posting.

The FCC is not licensing any more Novice Class licensees, however, those that are licensed as Novices will stay that class unless they upgrade.

That is true. The maximum Morse Code speed required for Amateur testing now is 5wpm. You will need proof that you have passed the 5wpm code test, OR, take the test again.

I looked your call letters up at http://www.qrz.com. According to those records, your license expired in Sept 2001. You have a 2 year grace period in which you can renew your license without testing again, HOWEVER, you may not operate your transmitter during this grace period time. You will have to wait until your license has been renewed.

However, you can go online, and if the FCC records show your license has been renewed, you needn't wait until you actually have your license in your hand.

Andy,

Thanks for the info... I, too, found the qrz site (which is where I learned of the grace period). So I'll be submitting my forms for renewal.

Now, let me ask a follow-up if I might. So I am a Novice until I upgrade...
Can I upgrade from Novice to General directly or must I go TechPlus and THEN to General?

Thanks,
Brian

Watch when you reply to a post of Roger's. He's adding the group alt.cocksucker.geno-paris to his posts, hoping that your eyes will think it is really Roger's group, alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman. When Roger replies to a post, he will change the name of his group to that of geno-paris, hoping that you will not catch the change when you answer Roger's post. Big Marie's little peek-a-boo curtain boy can be a very naughty little boy!

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

I only had to take the test once, woger and yes, if front of the FCC and there was no 'no-code' license then. Why did you have to take the test twice?

No. You will be renewed as a Novice. The old license classes exist for renewals only. You cannot be renewed as a Technician(w/HF) because you don't have element 3 (or the older 3A).

If you pass all the written elements, you may upgrade from Novice to Extra. We don't care - but it's possible.

yeah this is worrysome, I mean the keydown idiots and drunks should

1-40 I just hope the cancer does not spread to the outside frequencies where you can actually talk to others.

GLENDALE, WV: The FCC requested July 11, 2000, that Roger L. Wiseman, KC8JBO, retake the General examination elements under the supervision of an ARRL-VEC volunteer examiner team. Wiseman must appear for retesting by September 11, 2000, or his license will be canceled. Applicants appearing for re-examination are granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements passed. The FCC had written Wiseman on March 29, 2000, advising that it had been made aware of "an ongoing personal dispute" between Wiseman and another licensee that included allegations of interference or jamming on 20 meters. FCC Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement Riley Hollingsworth invited the two licensees to contact him to discuss the matter. Additionally, the FCC had sent Wiseman a Warning Notice last November in response to allegations of deliberate and malicious interference on 20 meters.

Cancer is cancer. It's just not in such an advanced stage on the "freeband" as it is where the cancer started. However, like all forms of cancer, if left untreated it will spread throughout the entire "organism" with terminal results...

I just happened to be tuning across 7.415 and the word is that Profit Stair is somehow embroiled in a scandal. A very CURIOUS scandal. a MAJOR scandal that involves (you guessed it...) allegations of S E X and M O N E Y. This was broadcast tonite on the "Table of Truth" program with someone called Brother Mike and Brother Bennitt out of West Virginia.

I only caught the last 4 minutes but the phones live

HOOOOOO HAWWWWW !!!??? What gives folks ????

Is this another Jimmi Swaggart/Jim Bakker/Billy

I have received two e-mails from @mailman.qth.net which purportedly have subscribed me to the Henry and LogWindows mailing lists. These messages include a prescribed password that I am supposed to use when posting to the groups. I have not subscribed to any of these groups.

At the same time, it appears that the qth.net web site has been highjacked with commercial ads. If you attempt to click on anything, like help, you will be sent to these advertisements.

It looks like someone has lifted the e-mail addresses of current and/or previous subscribers to the qth.net mail groups and started spamming them. I would be very cautious about any e-mails you receive from anything@mailman.qth.net .

Not as easy as Catholic High School girls are!
Take it from one who's been there while in H.S. and saw things that went on at parties in the 70's that would make today's porn stars blush.
(..sorry, just reminiscing on long ago days of youthful abandon - grin!)

Roger is not available for comment. Roger is busy hiding behind Big Marie's curtains. Rogie had a very busy night at the Lavender Lounge and is quite simply tired out.
Do not fear......recalcritant Roger will stir from his slumber in the wee hours and proceed to utilize his most vehement of diatribes.
Rogie is like that....all filth and no ghusto.
Rogie is kind of simple...he lives for the newsgroups. He IS the newsgroups.
Rogie has no life aside of the Newsgroups.
He has no personal life.
Rogie is, quite simply, a nonentity. And he hates that.

Poor anonymous COWARD. Owned by me and proves it with each post paying homage to me. Trying to include me in your gay activities, Geno, too bad I don't go that way. Tell us, Geno, why did Jonna initiate that divorce? Was it because she came home and found you fucking that little boy? Then her witness she called at the divorce trial was your mother..no wonder she died in 1996, she never quite got over the shock of seeing you fucking that little neighbor kid like that.

Now, Twatty, you'll have to continue to see that big black man, I doubt your parents want anything to do with you now that you've told them you are an AIDS carrier. That IS why you're so angry with your parents, isn't it? Or is it because they shuffled you from foster home to foster home because of all the domestic violence?

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email
address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Oh, and your voice....sounds like you're talking with either a dick or cow pattie in your mouth, or both. That slow drawl says what a fucking knuckle-dragging inbred you are.

Too bad that caller ID caught your number as 405-514-4836...which comes back to YOU, Pussy Paris.
Now, why did Jonna T. Paris divorce you? Was it because she caught you fucking that kid up the ass when she and your mother came back from shopping?

SONGS OF THE CYBER-DOOMED, II: THE TERMINATOR TERMINATES THE FIDONET'S INTERNET E-MAIL GATEWAY

Earlier this year, Burt Juda, an administrator for the FIDOnet's Internet mail gateway announced the network would lose the gateway as a consequence of a denial-of-service attack on his system carried out by a couple of the network's ex-sysops, one of whom - The Terminator - is familiar to Crypt Newsletter followers of the FIDOnet "cyber-doomed" news stories (Crypt 27 - 28).

Juda commented recently in a post widely distributed by various on-line networks:

"Effective March 1, 1996, the Internet Gateway at 1:1/31 will be shutting down. At that point, there will be NO MORE 'default' gateway for electronic mail inbound from the Internet for [the US].

"The reasons for this termination of service are numerous . . .

"Most recently, an excommunicated SysOp has gone on a rampage of forging subscription messages to subscribe numerous FidoNet addresses to . . . unwanted Internet mailing-lists in a deliberate attempt to 'break' [FidoNet] routing . . . and the gateway structure."

Further, Juda writes, "I can no longer deal with the voluminous netmail being received from [people] querying what has happened to their inbound [electronic mail] coming [through the affected gateway].

Juda added he no longer had the time to support the service when cyber-denizens "continue[d] to break the rules of its use and bypass . . . controls."

The Fidonet Internet-netmail junction, which provides service to the community of amateur, pro and semi-pro BBS sysops and callers who use the FIDOnet nationwide, was brought to the point of collapse as a result of mass electronic mail forgery by The Terminator and another collaborator.

In late 1995, The Terminator and a partner spent an evening ramming the Fidonet-Internet gateway in Piscataway, New Jersey, with posts forged to look like they originated from as many FIDO-sysop network e-mail accounts as could be gathered. This is quite a few -- thousands -- as it turns out. Many, many of these posts were simply subscription requests to Internet mailing lists.

Subsequently, the Fidonet/Internet junction was overwhelmed with the volume of nuisance mail and hung.

The Terminator had been involved in disruption of the FIDO Virus Information echo and others throughout 1994 and 1995 with re-directed spam-mail. The mail-bombs, rammed through unsecured FIDOnet mail links from Europe, Israel and the United States, consisted of virus source code interspersed with a great deal of text hardcore filth dealing with transvestism and scatological material fabricated for the occasion and/or cross-posted from an adult-oriented network.

One example of such mail:

"Are there any persons out there that get off by watching a woman pee? There is just something about seeing and hearing a woman pee. Not sure if I am into getting peed upon, but I am always open to new adventures."

Because of the level of trust in the inherently wide-open, difficult to secure FIDO technology network, FIDO administrators and sysops were never able to completely plug the system breaches exploited by The Terminator, leading more recently to the collapse of its Internet gateway when expanded attacks overpowered the message handling capacity of the junction and the patience of its administrator.

At the time of the original nuisance mail rammings in the FIDO Virus Information message base, some BBS operators monitored their systems more closely for obviously fake mail; others attempted to secure their automated mailer software with mixed success. Still others took the expedient cure. They simply dropped service on the special interest groups affected, the same answer given to the problem by the FIDO/Internet electronic mail gateway administrator.

Shortly after the initial failure of the FIDO/Internet mail gateway, The Terminator contacted Crypt Newsletter from Moberly, Missouri, to point out the interruption in service brought about by the attack.

"The FIDO/Internet gateway is crashed," he said.

The start of attacks on FIDOnet computer virus information message feeds in 1993 were attributed to Paskell "Geno" Paris of Oklahoma City, a FIDO sysop and self-styled "technopath" who waged a guerilla war for control of a small section of cyberspace moderated by Ed Cleton, a European host of virus information topics on the FIDOnet. Paris was later indicted and convicted on fraud charges, crimes unrelated to his activity on the FIDOnet. As a consequence, Paris served time in state and federal prison. The Terminator carried on Paris' mail war with Virus Information moderators Jeff Cook, a representative of Thunderbyte Anti-virus, and his successor, Allen Taylor. During the period and as a result of repeated mail bombing runs, The Terminator was banned from the message base. Nuisance mail-rammings of virus source code and forged messages, however, continued to plague the FIDOnet echo.

COLOSTOMY BAGBOY RETURNS TO CIVILIAN LIFE IN OKLAHOMA, REFLECTS ON SIMPLE PRISON RECREATIONS

Recently, Paskell "Geno" Paris called Crypt to inform readers he had returned from a two year stay in federal prison in connection with events that are well known to readers of "The Virus Creation Labs."

In 1993 Paris travelled under the handle "Colostomy Bagboy" while lurking on the Fidonet as sysop of the "Oklahoma Institute of Virus Research" in Oklahoma City. While a Fidonet sysop, Paris engaged in a well-publicized public feud with Edwin Cleton, a former moderator of one of the network's "Virus Information" message feeds.

As a computer virus exchange bulletin board sysop, Colostomy Bagboy edited two issues of the underground publication, Vortex. Vortex was a profane, hideously violent e-zine that mixed extreme bad taste and off-color humor with exhortations to join the author in the "stylish destruction" of the data of others found in the silicon vortex -- Paris' euphemism for the world computer network. To most users accustomed to driving slowly down the middle lane of the information highway, Vortex read as evidence that menacing electronic bogeymen lurked under every rock in cyberspace. However, like many electronic magazines from the underground it was exaggerated for effect, talking the talk and walking the walk of many such underground publications.

Federal and local lawmen indicted and arrested Paris the same year. He was subsequently convicted on charges apparently unrelated to his underground persona. A fraud charge stemming from the creation or usurpation of a false identity and a forgery charge resulting from attempts to counterfeit treasury bills landed him in prison. Paris also maintained computer tampering was also part of the conviction, coming down from what he claimed was an unsuccessful attempt to access and meddle with the FBI's National Crime Information Center computer database.

While serving his two year sentence, Paris said he was contacted by reporters looking for a scoop on the underground world of computer hacking. However, no stories resulted. Paris added he was allowed to be part of a computer club at one of the minimum security facilities -- a work camp -- where he was incarcerated. In addition, Paris told Crypt News fisticuffs is a common recreation in American jails.

RANDOM NOTES: A DISPATCH FROM PASKELL PARIS; TOM TOMORROW VISITS COMPUSERVE

Over the holidays, Paskell "Geno" Paris mailed Crypt a number of dispatches including a Christmas greeting. Paris, recently admonished by a two year stint in prison, has resumed travel in cyberspace under the handle "Colostomy Bagboy." Any who are interested in swapping correspondence with him can send mail to:

jesus.christ@webcitement.com .

Paris indicated he was once again involved in tormenting users of the Fidonet, referring to them in one electronic document as "[the] Filthy Fido Capitalist PigDogs." Bagboy's current operations are somewhat reminiscent of those of the character Jesus Bernal in Carl Hiaasen's black humor/crime story, "Tourist Season" (Warner Books). In neo-Bernal style, Paris vows to "smite [enemies] until they are most smote" by employing mass distribution of nuisance electronic leaflets and political statements.

Poor CONVICT Geno.

> You funny Woger. That isn't even my sock puppet

Liar. But I see caller ID has caught another felon, who's going to hear from the Oklahoma County District Attorney's office soon. But you're all too familiar with talking to them, aren't you CONVICT?

they will get a 'better' education.. they dress them like total sluts, and give them the morality of one... hmmm

Check this out. That perpetual boil on the ass of ham radio and the FCC is keeping his latest rent-a-dxQTH scam alive!
Just waiting for the next sucker.

www.dxholiday.com/na/kp2.htm

Without a doubt, KV4FZ has got to be the all time scam artist ever to key a ham radio mic. Got to hand it to him, even his BARF organization is coming back to life on 14313 and 3894.5

I don't know if this description of Brother Stair is true but if half of it is I wouldn't worry about a sex scandal--I'd worry about Jonestown the Sequel.

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time. Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV. Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

From the ARRL web:

FCC Focusing on Role of Former Licensee as Contest Op

NEWINGTON, CT, Dec 5, 2001--The FCC is looking into whether a South Carolina amateur broke any rules when he let former licensee Herb Schoenbohm, ex-KV4FZ, operate during a recent contest. Stephen S. Reichlyn, AA4V, rented and operated from Schoenbohm's station in the US Virgin Islands as AA4V/KP2 during the CQ World Wide SSB Contest the weekend of October 27-28.
After the FCC was alerted to the operation, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement Riley Hollingsworth wrote Reichlyn on November 13. He requested further information on the role of the "former licensee" whose location and equipment Reichlyn had used. Although the letter did not mention Schoenbohm by name, Hollingsworth subsequently confirmed to the ARRL that Schoenbohm was, indeed, the "former licensee" in question.
Following a legal odyssey that lasted more than five years and ended at the doorstep of the US Supreme Court, the FCC was successful last year in its efforts to deny Schoenbohm's Amateur Radio license renewal application. The FCC had turned down Schoenbohm's application citing his 1992 felony conviction on federal fraud charges and on character issues. His interim operating authority expired earlier this year.

Hollingsworth's letter was prompted by an e-mail said to have been authored by Reichlyn that outlined Schoenbohm's role. The information in the e-mail--forwarded to the FCC by another amateur--suggested that Reichlyn may have let Schoenbohm operate while Reichlyn was absent or asleep and in violation of FCC rules governing third-party communications.
FCC rules consider an unlicensed individual who communicates via Amateur Radio to be a third party and require that a licensed control operator be present at the control point, "continuously monitoring and supervising the third party's participation." Such a third party also may not exchange messages with stations in countries with which the US does not have a third-party traffic agreement. That list includes the UK and most of Europe.
The FCC also may have to consider how its refusal to renew Schoenbohm's license affects his legal status as a third party. An individual whose license was revoked or suspended or surrendered for cancellation following revocation, suspension or fine--or who is under a cease-and-desist order relating to amateur operation--may not serve as a third party at an Amateur Radio station.

In his November 13 letter, Hollingsworth asked Reichlyn to list specific operating times and operators, to describe his "exact location" during times AA4V/KP2 was on the air and to detail when he was asleep while others operated. Hollingsworth also asked for a copy of the AA4V/KP2 contest log and for records of any other transmissions made as AA4V/KP2 between October 1 and November 5.

Reichlyn responded November 18 with a five-page explanation and more than 150 log pages of his contest and non-contest operation from the US Virgin Islands this fall. The FCC provided copies of Reichlyn's letter and some of the log pages to the ARRL at the League's request.
Reichlyn confirmed that he had rented Schoenbohm's station for the event and that he and another operator planned to travel to the US Virgin Islands to participate in the contest. When the other operator had to back out at the last minute, Reichlyn opted to attempt a solo operation. During the contest, however, he asked Schoenbohm to fill in briefly on two occasions, Reichlyn said--for about an hour and a half on October 27 and again the next day for about a half hour. He said Schoenbohm "was fully supervised by me as I was resting in the same room" on both occasions.

Reichlyn said Schoenbohm agreed "reluctantly" to spell him when he was not feeling well and on the second occasion while he "ate and rested." He said no one but he and Schoenbohm operated during the event, and that, to his knowledge, Schoenbohm never used the station without his supervision and oversight.

Reichlyn said he "certainly would not have asked him [Schoenbohm] to help me" if he had any reason to believe it might violate FCC rules. He also pointed out that Schoenbohm would not be likely to risk any violations himself since he had taken an Amateur Radio exam since losing his license and was "awaiting a favorable ruling on his license application" from the FCC. Schoenbohm vowed last year to return to Amateur Radio. Hollingsworth confirmed that Schoenbohm's license application is pending within the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau.
"It is now obvious to me that perhaps my choice of using Mr. Schoenbohm as a relief operator was poor but nonetheless, I would not have knowingly jeopardized my license to achieve a higher score in a radio contest or for any other reason."
Reichlyn, who said he's been licensed since 1967, told Hollingsworth that he would cooperate with the FCC in resolving the investigation. Hollingsworth told the ARRL that the case remains open and the inquiry continues.

Suuuure it is, Liar. Got it on caller trace back to the phone company, who'll keep tabs on all the calls coming from your area. Then you'll get that repeat performance as a featured felon on "Cops" again.

Not according to the court records, Weeno.

Forgot the name of your ex-wife so soon? I guess since you only married her as a "beard, " silly gay Paris.

Pack it with the suitcases and it's no problem. Pack it in the carry on, and be prepared to unpack it and do all that explaining every time you change flights.

True Jim, but you must remember that Herbie lives for getting onto ham radio and generating as much trouble on the airwaves as possible. His stellar track record of verbal harassment of the Maritime Mobile and Intercon Nets for over 15 Years prove that beyond any doubt whatsoever.

He may have had his wings clipped by R.H. for now, but he will find a way to get back on the air if at all possible.
This guy's a ultra right wing pariah with OCD and up until now, a microphone.
Ham radio is his brand of crack cocaine.

WussyWoger and his moronic M.O.

1) Wogers first activity is to be the Worlds Biggest Fucking Dick.
(notice how he will pounce on the lack of apostrophes in this message, yet make voluminous errors of his own while replying in his usual spasmodic, drooling style with his "shaven-dogs-ass" face.)
2) Wogers second activity is to sodomize anything within his reach.
(Neighborhood boys, fags, animals, his mom, vats of lard, etc....)
3) Wogers third activity is to stand back and proudly view his entire colostomy bag collection. He has unsuccessfully tried to market his scent, "Eau de Colos". (It must really suck to be as clueless as Woger.)
4) Wogers fourth activity is to violently and spasmodically gyrate as he drools spittle and temper-tantrums his way through Usenet.
5) Wogers fifth activity is to catch any personal information about anyone who attempts to clue him in to his miserable, putrescent nature, and go at it full steam by complaining to employers, spouses, friends, and any authorities he can. This is due to the fact that he has no employer (worth mentioning), he has no spouse (none will have him), and he has ZERO friends (due to his fascination with feces and lard).

A poem, below, illustrates his life quite eloquently:

"Eau de Feces", by Anon

Roger, Roger, Roger Wiseman
All the ladies say "Thats a small size, Man!"
His feeble brain is taxed beyond compare, to merely sit, shit, or stare.
He lives in a town where the police cruise, but nobody dare stay, afraid their anus he will bruise.
He wont bathe until its been at least a week,
as he spends his time behind the curtain to peek.
It has been said that his head has a slope, it has also been said that any remedy is no hope.
The time has come to bid you adieu,
And oh, look, here comes Woger,
I thought I smelled poo!

kc8GAYbo Forever!

I think that would be an excellent outcome although I don't think Bro. Stairmeister's more "kooky" followers would have the balls to drinketh-the-Kool-Aid. More likely they will have to be forcibly removed from the Walterboro Compound by the local authorities where they will no doubt become a burden to the local welfare bureau, or burger flippers at McDonalds or the Truckstop off of I-95.
A sorry, but humorously predictable outcome.

Here are some links which contain ex-Walterboro testimonials that are less than complimentary:

http://www.loriswebs.com/endtimeprophets/stair.html

http://www.watchman.org/cults/endtime.htm and finally - the mother of em all......

http://www.isitso.org/guide/stairht.htm ......which reports on 12/30/01:

"Since the time this profile of R G Stair was first posted, information has been sent to the Field Guide website regarding a number of extremely serious allegations against Stair. After examining the testimonies of several unrelated individuals who had been intimately involved with Stair's "Overcomer Communities," it would certainly appear that anyone considering becoming involved in any way with Stair's ministry ought to closely investigate these allegations. They include detailed descriptions-- not just rumors-- of incidents of severe mental, emotional, physical, spiritual and sexual abuse."

"A group of former supporters of Stair have banded together to provide information about these allegations in an attempt to rescue those still in bondage to this ministry and prevent new people from becoming entangled. Their stories deserve to be heard, and can be seen at The Net Team website at http://www.thenetteam.net/ " mu own personal experience is that if yo try to be open about anything electronic, then those nice people at security will try to be nice back but will then suggest you put it in your checked-baggage.

then you have the problem of wondering whether you will see it again!

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Poor gutless, anonymous, chickenshit COWARD. What's it like for you working out at the gym and the "guys" know that you squat to pee? Talk about a small size, I guess that's why you are posting all alone, in that roach-filled, filthy, disheveled crack and meyth lab you call your home. When you accidentally get some ugly, desperate he/she (that's your preference) to lay down for you, you show them what you've got, and they laugh you out of the cheap motel room. No wonder you hide behind anonimity, you perverted scumbag.

No, drug-addled fuckwit, you got divorced because Jonna and your mother caught you porking the neighbor's kid. You got cited for not having proof insurance on the wreck. The van you've been living out of, you gay twat. Then you stole a credit card had a faked driver's license and even tried to hack into the FBI's computer system. Poor Weeno, like always, he fucks up big time.

> Muhahahahahahahhahahahahahahhahahahahahahahahaha.

Translation: "Busted"

Poor Weeno, you can posture all you want, You know these records are yours, I know these records are yours. I'll post even the Cleveland County ones you desperately plea bargained to get dismissed. That's why it was dismissed, you already had 4 fucking court records in Oklahoma county courts. You begged with tears in your beady little rat eyes to get that 2 year sentence then followed by probation.

It's funny how you are so desperate to deny that those records are you. You can't even spell your own fucking name, drug-addict. I'd say the crypt articles which started the paper trail led directly to the OK court records of yours. Even Joanie Shitball knew you had been in prison.

>Funny that, Mr. Registered sex offender.

I am? The WV sex offender records have no such name on record. I wonder if Oklahoma's can say they don't have a Eugene Paskell Paris.

Towit:

Your search for "Wiseman" in "All counties" has returned 0 offender(s).

Guess you're goning to have to try harder, shit-for-brains.

Ho Hum. Just another hate-filled Saturday morning for little Woger, the boy who hates the world. You are a very sad little man indeed Roger. At war with society. In a few years, you will burn yourself out, and no one will ever remember you. The rage that burns inside you will eventually do you in, and no one will mourn your demise.

Glenn Baxter, K1MAN, is sending this notification. I don't know what he is trying to prove save for wasting his breath. I mean, who cares??
.....

Subject: Re: Broadcasting

AMERICAN AMATEUR RADIO ASSOCIATION (AARA)
INTERNATIONAL AMATEUR RADIO NETWORK (IARN)
K1MAN BULLETIN SERVICE
FULL INFORMATION AT www.K1MAN.com

"AARA is your alternative to ARRL. We sponsor IARN, which is the most experienced amateur radio emergency communications organization in the world."

This is Glenn's claim. He cannot verify it and Who Cares??

"K1MAN bulletins have been heard world wide since 1987. Like W1AW, K1MAN transmissions are perfectly legal under FCC rules. Like W1AW, good amateur practice requires publishing a transmitting schedule and then sticking to it. It is far more disruptive to do otherwise."

And maliciously and deliberately interfering with ongoing QSO's is not "disruptive"? Is not rude? Is not ILLEGAL? And Glenn has the anabashed nerve to mention "good amateur practice"?

"Hams can be very childish and territorial about the use of amateur radio spectrum. Our surveys show that about 1 ham in 10 is against both K1MAN and W1AW one way bulletins. We are sure there are also those who are against contests, nets, etc. This is OK! There is plenty of room for everyone in our Amateur Radio Service. If you have a problem with this, try another hobby; you are probably not cut out for big time Amateur Radio."

Yes, Glenn. You can be "very childish and territorial about the use of amateur radio spectrum." Your surveys are just that....YOURS! No need to use the plural "our", Glenn. MY survey shows that 6 of ten active Amateurs are against the K1MAN broadcasts/intentional interference and my survey is just as valid and likely more accurate than yours. The comment, "you are probably not cut out for big-time radio" is laughable. And what makes you, Glenn, think that you are "big-time radio"? Your silly ego aside, I have news for you. The only thing "big-time" about you is the constant pain-in-the-ass that you are.
Perhaps you should try another hobby. It is quite obvious that you are not cut out for Amateur Radio and hopefully Riley will make that point painfully clear to you, sooner rather than later.

"An experienced ham knows that if you are trying to talk to another station per a sked, you might have to QSY one or more times during any given hour. If you don't know this and practice this, you are not am experienced Radio Amateur."

You are not talking to another station, Glenn. You are maliciously interfering with good Amateur operators and you do so several times daily. It is YOU who should practice QSY'ing. One must therefore surmise that you are, in your own words, "not an experienced Radio Amateur."

"Actually, our amateur spectrum is UNDERUTILIZED. The commercial guys are drooling over our spectrum and would love to divide us and conquer us. They love to see us squabble and act like babies. There are even evil persons in the FCC (dressed like good guys) who are very subtly promoting and documenting amateur radio disruption under a long term private plan to assist commercial interests take as much amateur spectrum as possible. A primary function of AARA is to warn you about this frequency grab and to expose the corruption that exists within the FCC. Corruption is nothing new in American politics, and if you don't think that our amateur radio spectrum is worth billions upon billions of dollars, you are very naive."

Here we have Glenn's agenda in a nutshell. He's a conspiracy theorist. He thinks Riley is a government agent in the pockets of Big Business. Glenn....ever look up the definition of "delusional"?

"So, join the fun. Listen to K1MAN on 14.275, 7.224, 3.975, and 3.890 MHz. daily and also call in (207 495 2215). See www.K1MAN.com 73!

14.275 MHz. USB and 3.975 LSB at 1:00 AM to 2:30 AM; 3:30 AM to 5:00 AM; 6:30 AM to 8:00 AM; 4:00 PM to 5:30 PM; and also 8:00 PM to 9:30 PM. 7.224 MHz. LSB at 3:30 AM to 5:00 AM. High fidelity amplitude modulation on 3.890 MHz. at 6:30 PM to 8:00 PM.

(All times are in Eastern Local Time - In winter add 5 hours for UTC) Join the fun! Get your unedited viewpoints on the air! 73 de K1MAN"

What "fun"? The real fun will begin when Riley comes knocking on your door! Go, Riley! Go!

Who cares indeed. So why are you spreading joy and happiness across a half dozen groups?

Neither the topic nor the writer deserve this much, particularly a bozo who doesn't know his own name.

Ah...the old refrain "you are posting anonymously, you coward." Is that not what you imply, Dick?
Maybe you like spam. It may be the only email you get. As for me? I prefer to keep my real name and email address anonymous due to the lack of quality that some of these posters have and all of them are Hams.
So there you have it, Big Dick. How I operate is my option, not yours.

You listed this in a pervious post as being dismissed. Which is it Woger? Also several of your "cases" have different dates for the same case numbers. Man these "courts" sure make a lot of mistakes. One wonders how I was ever "convicted" ROFL!

Gee Woger, I dunno. Your making this all up, spelling my name several different ways (none of them right) you tell me, boy, you tell me. I haven't a clue. I'm sure however, that you'll come up with an explanation that sounds right in your diseased little mind :) Oh and BTW can you give us an explanation on why these (ROFL) "court records" seem to make the same spelling mistakes you habitually make? Please, give us a backpedal for this question.

You're not a very happy person are you Woger?

-Jesus

P.S. My sources inside the FBI have informed me that your neighbors don't really like you all that much.

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is
registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.

Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Roger,

You cannot be a member of BARF, if you have received warning letters from Riley! I thought you already knew this?
Sorry, I cannot accept your application for BARF membership.
However, if you have $20,000 I will rent you my QTH.

Truer words have never been spoken. If you present yourself under fraudulent pretense, the best you can hope for is (are) fraudulent responses so the whole effort of disguising your email identity is an exercise of a clown in a transparent changing booth.
There's little purpose in being a crocodile (all mouth and no ears) when registering posts on Usenet., If what you have to say is relevant there's no overcoming need to fear spam if you take even the novice approaches of NOSPAM in your address. Simply shouting shit with your ears plugged puts you into the category of yammering old cat-women pushing shopping carts in the middle of a one-way street Apart from the lack of adapting the same uzenet approach as the grown-ups, one can only consider you as a kid who snuck into Mom's bedroom to mess with the computer.
For that reason alone I'll not use my favorite bad words with you lest there be some law in your area about mouth-whipping stupid pre-teens..

Oh, my. Aren't we a hoot? Now humor me if you will. Just what the heck is the bottom line you were attempting to convey?
Name-calling aside, what is your point?
Using no-spam in an email address is so easily thwarted. Is that what you propose I do? My...how mypopic.
Should I use my call sign? Is that "macho"? Do so if you wish, but gird yourself for the dedicated stalkers that will look up your call sign and flood your home mailbox with magazine subscriptions, junk mail and other sorts of deviltry.

Your choice of words is interesting, though for the most part grammatically rife with errors. You might wish to seriously consider a remedial course in English Composition 101.

I took my Kenwood D7 portable (the one with the APRS TNC) with me on a business trip. I stuck it in my check thru suitcase. On the way home it got turned on by something in the suitcase. (It's just a push on/off switch.) Of course it happened to be on the APRS freq. When I picked up my suitcase, I could hear packets coming out of it! It was beaconing my last position all the way home from Las Vegas to Chicago! We obviously survived the trip, but I always take the battery off now before I pack it.

Yes, and no. Those of us who aren't ashamed of what we post have no problem identifying ourselves. The rest of us should go to newusers and read the netiquette FAQ.
If one does not understand the simple concepts stated there, one should probably not be armed with a computer.

That's bull. I've been appending my crudely de-spammed e-mail address and call sign to my USENET posts for over ten years, and the little spam that I receive is the result of my having a domain name (the address is different). It's funny how anonymous cowards come up with all sorts of reasons to justify their childish behaviors. Sorry, it just won't wash.

That you are simply an anonymous troll-type poster and nothing you have to say means squat because you don't have the balls to personify yourself.

OK, Mark. Call the shots the way you see them. If it makes you feel better to call names, go for it. Maybe that is what it takes to make you feel better about yourself....perhaps you feel a need to do this to bolster your self-image.
I, in the meantime, will continue to carry on as I have done for so many years now. Your input is inconsequential. Your name-calling is even less relevant.
I hope you feel better about yourself in the morning.

Somewhere along the line the original thread of this post was "lost".
W4AMP is probably pleased that the jist of the conversation was steered away from his infamous and malicious acts over the past few years.
Do not forget for a minute that AMP is two-faced and has a malicious streak.
He is not to be trusted in any way, shape, or form.
He will be your buddy one minute and the next he will be jamming you. He is an accomplished liar. He will accuse others of stalking while he stalks others with spam, anonymously sent magazine subscriptions, false bills of lading and more. He will present himself as a victim while all the while victimizing others.

Stick some tape across the contacts, or you're likely to find more than packets coming out of the suitcase.
I think it has a fuse, but I'm not sure. Blown fuse kinda cramps your style too.

I carry my D7 whenever I travel. It's been a constant companion since about a month after they came out.
When I go by air, I pull the battery, tape the contacts, and put it in checked luggage. I have a small "lunchbox" size hard case that goes inside the main suitcase, for protection. All my techy toys ride there. Chargers and such too.

My "troll" obviously bore results. You could not resist responding, could you?
And speaking of "balls", you of all people are hardly adept at describing same.

OK. I will tell my mommy to turn off my account with the express intent of not bothering you any further.
Also, given the impression that you are yourself rather juvenile and Less than 1% of the spam I get daily comes to this address. (or any of the variants) Most of it comes to my Yahoo address that I haven't sent anything from in months.

My call sign is listed with my home address. Everything else goes to a P.O. box. All of the 'personalized' junk mail (stuff to "Current Occupant" and "Resident doesn't count, since they obviously haven't looked anything up) ends up at the post office.

Yes, I call a spade a spade. And the little spam that I have

It is a shame that you refuse to learn from others.
I have learned much from these groups over the years.
Have you read the new users FAQ?

It is your choice to continue to ride your bicycle on the wrong side of the road, but others will think ill of you for it.
I would have e-mailed you politely and privately, but you didn't have the decency to provide even a de-spammed address. Even Joe Mama does that!

Anyone who has experiensed how to use the "Data-plug" in the rear and actually use software like "HamScope" ?
The user-guide seems to be somewhat erroneus, and i have no clue of how to get it done succesfully.
The pin 1 should be audio in Pin 2 GND
Pin 3 PTT
Pin 4 Data (Sound) out at 9600bps Pin 5 Data out at 1200 bps.
Pin 6 Squelch-control open at +5v closed at 0 v.

However, closing pin 3 to ground does not activate PTT...
Sound comes out of pin 6 !

Thanks for all help--

Markie...you made my point so eloquently! You "would have emailed me"? That was my point exactly. You would have spammed me....that is what unasked-for email is.
You stated, " I would have e-mailed you politely and privately"....
Markie....Markie....get a grip. You have NO business emailing me either politely OR privately.
Markie...do yourself a great big favor...bend over and take a good, long look at yourself.
See that big old brown eye staring you in your face?
That is Mark Walsh in the flesh.

Instead of answering me here (and worsening the signal to noise ratio), you could have e-mailed me. I am sorry to the others in this group that there are those who make a mess of the USENET. This is like using a linked repeater system (with many listeners) to talk to the guy just down the road.

So you (and I) make a mess of the newsgroup instead. :-(
By extention, you then have no business responding to my post.
Gosh, what happened to the days when all hams were good people and good communicators? Like most in this group,
I am proud of who I am and what I have done for amateur radio.
Let's try get this group back to amateur radio. Good night all...

The 847 has a port like this for FM data (packet) only. For digital modes like RTTY etc there is an HF data port. Maybe the 817 has something similar?

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources

Well, goody for you, Petunia! The rest of us have had diametrically opposed experiences. I've been hanging around Usenet since it started, and never felt the need to disguise either my email address or my identity until the thundering hordes showed up on the Internet during the middle 90's. Just recently, I made an announcement via a moderated announce newsgroup and the spam immediately began (since it was a disposable email address generated JUST for the announcement, I know how the address was obtained by the spammers).

Sorry, Petunia, your so-called "reasoning" doesn't wash either. The spamming is only part of it; the other part consists of stalkers.

Example: Two hams who have regularly posted to the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy in the past have harassed other posters by doing such things as calling their employers (even phoning Hawaii in one case), their neighbors, or their ISPs in an attempt at slander. One ham who still posts here under a pseudonym had to obtain a court order in an attempt to put a stop to the harassment. Another has had similar harassment by a non-ham, and is currently experiencing telephone calls and calls by "investigators" to his neighbors, again for the purpose of slander.

The standard response at this point is "take it to the police" or some such other nonsense, but the experienced harassee soon learns that there is actually very little relief to be obtained that way. I don't have enough patience here to tell you about the failure of a court order to protect at least one ham from stalking. As with all things, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and the best way to deal with the creeps who now hang out on Usenet is to never give them the opportunity to stalk you in the first place. The two people currently stalking hams IN THE REC.RADIO.AMATEUR HIERARCHY are both convicted felons.

Nice, eh?

Hahahahahaha! Continue to dream on, Petunia.

P.S. You need to learn the realities of true anonymous posting (which this is not). Any law enforcement agency can obtain my true identity by contacting my ISP with a subpoena. A truly anonymous post, such as those made through a mixmaster chain, cannot be traced.

[restorte of what the hypocrite coward Joanie waddled away from] the perverted convict Weeno wrote them, they're the only citations that need to be stated, you ignorant fuck. Fuck how could you have skated through William and Mary? I suppose you bought all your papers and theses, that is if you could spare the drug and alcohol money.

Maybe you can need to go back to exposing yourself to little children again, you sick perverted fuck. You sure don't know anything about citing references.

But that's to be expected from "grammer" boy Joanie.

Joanie shows off his "grammar" skills and hypocrisy with the following slobber:
"It's usually a good idea to check your own post for fuck-ups when grammer or spell laming, Woger, you fucking idiot." in <9rrsbb$53e$4@dosa.alt.net>

Joanie shows off that 2nd grade education with the following IKYABWAI:
"You're "Guide to Gay Lifestyle" handbook doesn't count." in <9r3sr9rkib@dosa.alt.net>

Joanie shows off his "William and Mary" [William and Mary School for the Mentally Handicapped, that is] education when he drooled:
"And what's you excuse?" in <9u2v8g$vp7$6@pita.alt.net>

Joanie the Pulitzer prize winner slobbered incoherently:
"I cant' believe I'm agreeing with you, Woger."
in <9unp1urm0@dosa.alt.net>.

Joanie the ill-educated, perverted pedophile slobbered:
"Lets ask 8L0J08, maybe he'll know." in <a0fcfg$n3e$1@pita.alt.net>

"Joanie, did you bite your momma's cock a little too hard the last time... " Roger Wiseman demonstrates to Joanie his denial of the anatomy of Joanie's hermaphrodite mother, and validates news:alt.pedophile.john-kimball in Message ID: <UQFNSY3A37209.9265740741@frog.gilgamesh.org>

[End restore]

The wasted idiot responds with:

><Boot>

"Snip all those painful words out, coward." says hypocrite Joanie in <9rrsbb$53e$4@dosa.alt.net

> You're wrong again, [Joanie's incoherent babbling]

You'd better get your grossly OBESE SOW to read you the dictionary entry for plagiarism, then, you ill-educated fuckwit. The Original author is the one you cite, not some scumbag like you who tries to claim it as their work.

And BTW, thanks for steering me to where your freind Weeno's court documents could be found, he probably appreciates you doing that to him since you already knew about them and all.

PKB, Weeno. Stolen any credit cards lately, convict?

Weeno's heard that a lot, especially from the Oklahoma City police who know him quite well, and have pegged him as a habitual criminal. Looks like his ex-wife tried to run him down at his work location parking lot:

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time. Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV. Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email
address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Yeah, just when Gene Paris, Sr. uses your crack-whore mommy's dildo-strap-on on your wideass in their basement, where you've been staying. Do you have to continue your burglary practices just to get drug money, Weeno? You'll be a featured felon (yet again) on "Cops" just like you were before.
And Chris Hudson probably wonders why you fail to report in, CONVICT.

Who? Poor Weeno, tries to deny and backpedal his way out of his well-documented criminal history. No wonder you try to change your name by misspelling it. It's an old trick by you forgers, huh, Weeno the CONVICT? And given your past criminal conviction for such activities, your credibility is nada.
Joanie was eluding to your criminal records before, Weeno the AIDS-ridden whore. Or did your drug-addled short-term memory fail you yet again?

HAM RADIO TESTING REACHES WHITE MOUNTAIN ALASKA

Ham radio examinations have finally come to one of the remotest areas of the nation. This, after a team of examiners from the W5YI VEC perform a fly-in examination session in White Mountain Alaska. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Norm Seeley, KI7UP, has the details:

--

White Mountain is a remote fishing village in the far North-West of Alaska. It’s major claim to fame is that its the next to the last checkpoint for the famed Iditarod dog sled race. And it wanted someone to come in and give ham radio exams.

The closest big city is Nome. White Mountain is only about sixty miles from Nome but its over some rather treacherous terrain. There are no roads in or out and all supplies to White Mountain have to be delivered by plane or boat.

But White Mountain does ham a ham radio operator for its mayor. He is reindeer farmer Tom Gray KL0CQ. And one of its school board members is Eric Morris KL7HT. Both will tell you that a temperature of minus 40 degrees Fahrenheit and a wind-chill factor of minus 100 degrees is not uncommon in winter. These were the conditions faced by a four member W5YI VEC test team when it chartered a plane and flew in on December 11th to administer exams to four adults and fourteen youngsters who were determined to make ham radio a part of their life.

The trip which cost $800 for the flight alone was sponsored by the Seward Peninsula Amateur Radio Club. Braving the weather were examiners Ramon Gandia AL7X, Michael Nurse KL7UJ, Scott Webber AL7RJ and Thomas Busch NL7H. Al four are from Nome. Most of those to be tested came from the Bearing Strait School District’s only inland school. They had all been studying for their Amateur license as part of a search and rescue course. Neither the applicant or the VE team were disappointed. All eighteen passed the Technician class exam.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Norm Seeley, KI7UP.

Those involved in ham radio testing are keenly aware of the problems faced by remote areas of Alaska. At last July’s VEC Conference in Gettysburg Pennsylvania Jim Wiley KL7CC told the group that many applicants in Alaska are denied n Amateur Radio license exam due to the inaccessibility of their locations or the high cost of travel in that state. HAM RADIO AND THE LAW: FCC SAYS NO ON PRB-1 EXPANSION REQUEST

Ham radio has lost yet another battle against deed restrictions, but the war is not over yet. At least that’s what the ARRL appears to be saying in a bulletin that describes the latest skirmish with the FCC over this politically volatile issue.

In the latest round, the FCC has affirmed a November 2000 staff-level decision that declined to include privately imposed deed covenants, conditions and restrictions under the limited federal preemption known as PRB-1. That’s the federal government policy requires municipalities to ''reasonably accommodate'' amateur communication in antenna-related zoning and regulation.

The ARRL last year appealed to have the full FCC review the earlier denial. The Commission turned down the League's Application for Review December 18 in a Memorandum Opinion and Order released December 26. As a result, it now looks as if the ARRL will bypass any further dealings on this issue with the FCC and will look for congressional relief instead.

The FCC itself even hinted that Congressional action by the ham community might be a next logical step. Its memorandum, opinion and order of dismissal did note that if Congress were to see fit to enact a statutory directive mandating the expansion of the FCC’s reasonable accommodation policy that the Commission would expeditiously act to fulfill its obligation there under. Translated: If Congress tells the FCC to include deed restrictions under the provisions of PRB-1, it will be more than happy to do so. (ARRL)

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: PROJECT JJ - HE EAGLE HAS LANDED

AMSAT-NA's newest satellite project, known as Project JJ for the past year, now has a new and official name. This, as AMSAT North America President Robin Haighton, VE3FRH, announces that effective January 1, 2002, the satellite will officially be known as 'Eagle'.

The name Eagle was submitted by Bill Allen, W7US, of Tucson, Arizona. It was selected from a list of forty-five names submitted by twenty-nine satellite operators.

For his winning suggestion, W7US will receive a free dinner at the annual AMSAT dinner held during the Dayton Hamvention. We will have more ham radio space related news later on in this weeks Amateur Radio Newsline report. (AMSAT-NA, ANS)

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS: NORTHERN CAL TOWN CHOOSES HAM RADIO

Ham radio started the year with some very positive public exposure in the Los Angeles Times. The January 1st edition featured an in depth article about a Northern California town that will tap into older technology to prepare for future emergencies.

Worried that a disaster will knock out e-mail and cell phones, Los Altos Hills has decided to turn to its local ham radio community and make it the primary back-up to normal disaster preparedness communications. And as you might expect, the hams are more than ready to oblige

AMERICA AT WAR: POPCOMM COLUMNISTS SAYS “DONT TURN THE OTHER CHEEK”

Popular Communications writer Eric Force has some strong words that are obviously aimed at the pacifists who oppose the United States military retaliation against Osuma bin Laden and his al-Quida terrorist network. As a response to those he calls the “do-gooders of the world” who promote turning the other cheek, Force says to look, really look at the attack that brought down New York City’s World Trade Center twin towers. He then says that it could have struck a lot closer to them.

Force says and we quote: “Consider that it could have been you, your mom, dad, brother, sister other relative or a close friend in those planes and buildings who were terrorized, murdered and buried in the rubble.” He adds that just thinking about the incomprehensible terror, suffering and losses incurred by innocent human beings a the cowardly hands of international thugs continues to tear at his heart.

Force has dedicated his latest I-Waves column to the sights and sounds of September 11th that are available on the Internet and to the victims of the tragedy. Its a very compelling article. You can find it starting on page 66 of the January edition of Popular Communications Magazine that’s on newsstands right now. (PopComm)

AMERICA AT WAR: FEDS TO AID NYC TV STATION REBUILD

New York television stations will be getting federal help rebuilding transmitters that were destroyed in the September 11th terrorist attack on the World Trade Center. A total of ten New York area stations will receive eight point two million to offset the thirty million to forty million dollar price tag for purchasing and constructing a new transmission facility.

According to the Broadcasting and Cable newsletter, Senator Charles Schumer managed to secure the funding as addition to emergency aid appropriation for victims of the attacks. As previously reported, there is some speculation that the replacement transmitting facility could be a 1500 to 2000 foot high stand-alone tower constructed near the former site of the Twin Towers. ENFORCEMENT: NAL CANCELED

The FCC has canceled a proposed ten thousand dollar fine that it had issued to Jeffrey Alan Pettrey, This, for his apparent violation of Section 301 of the Communications Act involving operation of an unlicensed radio transmitter.

Back on July 30, 2001, the District Director of the Commission's Columbia, Maryland Field Office issued a Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture in the amount of $10,000 to Pettrey for the infraction. Pettrey filed a response to the N-A-L on August 7, 2001 accompanied by documentation regarding his inability to pay the proposed fine. After reviewing Pettrey's response, the FCC conclude that cancellation of the proposed $10,000 forfeiture is warranted based on Pettrey’s inability to pay. (FCC)

ENFORCEMENT: FCC CANCELS CONVICTED HAMS LICENSE

The FCC has canceled the Amateur license of Kenneth P. Kelly, WT2FBI, of Greensboro North Carolina after Kelly failed to show up for a re-examination. But at the time of the FCC retest order Kelly was otherwise occupied. He was fighting criminal charges in relation to a jamming case in Ohio. We have this report:

On November 30, 2001, Kenneth Kelly, the ex-WT2FBI was sentenced to 5 years probation by the Judge H. J. Bressler in a Butler County Ohio court. He had previously been indicted on a 4 th degree felony charge of disrupting public service by his jamming and talking on the Middletown Ohio police radio system.

At his hearing, Kelly agreed to a plea bargain. He admitted his guilt to a reduced charge attempted disrupting public services. At the time the FCC pulled his ham radio ticket Kelly was being held in the Butler County Ohio Jail pending sentencing.

By way of background, a person later proven to be Kelly was first noticed on the Middletown police radio channel the third week of July 2001. Initially the police dispatch radio system was not recording him but that was soon remedied by city radio technicians. After several days of taping, it was observed that the voice on the police radio was similar to one heard on the local 2 meter Amateur frequencies.

Several members of the Dial Radio Club then assisted police by monitoring and taping Kelly on the 2 meter band. Tapes from 2 meters and from the police were then voice printed the aid of computers to check similarities. Dial club members also tried to direction find and locate the signal both on 2 meters and on the police channel.

Through some luck, detectives working with a metro housing police officer and discovered that Kelly was now living in their jurisdiction. After they interviewed him, they felt that he was the person interfering. As the investigation progressed, he admitted to detectives that he may have accidentally transmitted on their frequency by accident. He claimed that his signal may have been mixing with an FM broadcast station and another ham repeater.

But Police did not believe it was accidental, because he was taped trying to talk directly to the police dispatcher and the cars. Later Kelly did admit his guilt and entered into the plea bargain. Now sentence has been passed by both the local court and the FCC.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Burt Hicks, WB6MQV, reporting.

When he was finally caught Kelly had a Yaesu VX-5 hand held in his possession that had been modified to transmit out of band. The assistance of the Dial Radio Club members is credited with helping to solve this case.

Note: Information and documents from the case can be obtained from the Butler County Ohio Clerk's office or online at: http://www.butlercountyclerk.org/ Click on Butler County Court Records Search. Then enter Kenneth Kelly. (FCC, Dial ARC, others)

ENFORCEMENT: MITNICK TO FIGHT TO KEEP HIS HAM LICENSE

Another ham who appears to be getting ready to do battle with the FCC is former computer hacker turned talk show host Kevin David Mitnick, N6NHG. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF has the latest:

As reported last week, the FCC is challenging Kevin David Mitnick's request to renew his ham radio license. The agency claims that his criminal background raises a substantial and material question of fact as to whether Mitnick possesses the requisite character qualifications to be and remain a commission licensee.

Now, N6NHG has told the U-K Newspaper the Register: "It's just another example of them trying to harass me. Now I've got to spend money to keep a ham license."

Mitnick insists that he has totally abandoned his former ways. The Register article notes that that he was recently called to testify before Congress on federal computer security matters. Also that he spent two days briefing the U-S Commission on National Security on these issues. Mitnick tells the Register that he cannot understand why the government is now questioning his character.

Mitnick is currently the host of the radio program called The Dark Side of the Internet. It airs in the Los Angeles area from 5 to 7 a.m. Sunday mornings over radio station KFI 640 AM. And in a recent appearance on Coast to Coast A-M hosted by Art Bell, W6OBB, Mitnick said that he is hoping for a career in computer security once his term of supervised release from prison has been completed.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF.

The complete Register story and interview with Mitnick is on the web at a rather long and complex U-R-L. You will find it at http://www.theregister.co.uk/content/55/23494.html (Adapted from the Register)

INTERNET SECURITY: CIA GOES OUT OF ENCRYPTION COMPANY FUNDING

And speaking of Internet security, word that a Central Intelligence Agency funded company that allowed Web surfers to browse anonymously has closed. According to news reports, Emeryville California based SafeWeb enabled Internet users to gain access to the World Wide Web and browse sites through its encrypted service. This made their on-line habits and history untraceable. In the 2000 - 2001 fiscal year, SafeWeb received one million dollars in funding from the U-S Central Intelligence Agency's venture capital arm. HAM RADIO BUSINESS: AMATEUR RADIO TRADER CEASES PUBLICATION

Ham radio Internet auction sites may be responsible for a twice a month ham radio equipment sales magazine going away. This, after Amateur Radio Trader magazine announces that it has ceased publication.

According to Editor Barbara Patterson, KF4MMV, the Amateur Radio Trader was no longer a viable product. She says that the firm will be redirecting its resources into other areas.

Meantime, the company has also pulled its amateuradiotrader.com website off line. But unlike other publications which have gone under, in this case subscribers are being reimbursed for any outstanding issues. In addition to handling buy and sell ads, Amateur Radio Trader also donated page space to advertising the annual Newsline Young Ham of the Year award. (ARNewsline™)

HAM RADIO HERITAGE: MAKING WCC A PART OF THE FUTURE

A ham is campaigning to preserve part of radios past and have it become a part of the future. This as Lewis Masson, K1LJ-S, says that the town of Chatham Massachusetts should convert the site of radio station WCC into an Amateur Radio station along with a training curriculum to teach the kids in the area about communications technology.

WCC is one of the original Marconi Marine Radio Stations. Masson is an ex-marine telex operator at WCC. The site was recently turned over to the town of Chatham and Masson believes it is important to preserve the operations building as an operating amateur radio station and keep the hotel building as a museum to preserve and display memorabilia.

Masson says over the Internet that he has formed a committee to work on this project and that they are looking for nationwide support for this campaign. If preserving the past as an investment in the future is of interest to you, please contact K1LJS by e-mail to lemasson@juno.com. (Internet)

SPECIAL EVENTS: HAM RADIO UNIVERSITY 2002

A reminder the third annual Ham Radio University event takes place on January 20, 2002. Location is the Babylon Long Island New York Town Hall Annex with the doors opening at 9 a-m Eastern time.

Ham Radio University is a day of education about Amateur Radio. This there will be twenty, one-hour presentations with special forums geared to the non-ham as well as the experienced Amateur Radio operator. The focus will be "hands on" with many demonstrations. Besides the forums, there will be tables set up with information about the different groups, ham radio classes, exam session schedules, public service and other activities.

HAM RADIO SCIENCE: NEW 6 METER PROPAGATION BEACON IN WASHINGTON STATE

Rich Ewing, KO7N reports over the VHF Reflector that Bruce Shurtz, W7BAS, has installed a propagation beacon in gridsquare CN87TG near Kennmore Washington. It operates on 50.069 MHz putting out 10 watts to a 5 element yagi pointing 90 degrees. The beacon is operational 24 hours a day, seven days a week. QSN reports go to W7BAS, at his callbook address. HAM RADIO IN SPACE: VERY FEW LAUNCHES

Peter Guezlow, DB2OS, reported that 2001 has turned out to be the slowest year for space launches in nearly 40 years. Ham radio or otherwise. According to DB2OS, only 58 flights reached orbit, and there was one complete failure.

Guezlow says that historians note that we must look back to 1963 to find a year that produced fewer launches. He says that in 2000 there were 82 launches to orbit plus three failures. By contrast the most productive year was 1984 when 129 launches delivered payloads into orbit.

But there is at least one bright note. Russia successfully placed five satellites into orbit recently after launching them aboard a Zenit rocket. The cargo rocket, carrying three Russian, one Moroccan and one Pakistani satellite, took off from the Baikonur space center in Kazakhstan. (AMSAT, ANS)

CONTESTS: HUNTING LIONS ON THE AIR

The 31st annual Hunting Lions in the Air contest will take place on the weekend January 12th to the 13th. The contest period will be 48 hours and will run from midnight UTC Friday night to midnight UTC Sunday night, and all hams are welcome to participate.

According to its sponsors, the objective of this operating event is to create and foster a spirit of international understanding and cooperation among radio amateurs and members of the Lions Clubs through the use of world-wide radio communication. The contest also commemorates the birthday of Melvin Jones, the founder of the Association of Lions Clubs who was born at Ft. Thomas, Arizona on January 13, 1879. (Q-News)

DX

In DX, word that the recently postponed Ducie Island Dxpedition is on again for March. Ducie Island became a DXCC entity last November and it immediately jumped to the top of the most wanted contact list. But rough seas scuttle the first attempt to put it on the air. (RSGB)

Meantime 6 meters continues to be the V-H-F D-X band of choice. On Monday December 31st, Kevin Bishop WB8XX, says that he started hearing O-H-1-X-T at 1300 U-T-C on a backscatter path. From then on until 1620 U-T-C he worked 8 new countries and over thirty new grids in Europe and Asia. (VHF Reflector)

STRANGE TECHNOLOGY: ARE CELLPHONES KILLING GHOSTS?

Now, from radio communications to the effect of radio communications on supernatural communications. This, as a British expert who has spent years researching the occult says that cellular and other mobile phones are killing off ghosts. Don Wilbanks KC5MFA has the details:

No, we are not kidding you. In fact, Tony Cornell, of the Society for Psychical Research, has told the London Sunday Express that reports of ghost sightings started to decline when mobile phones were introduced 15 years ago.

According to Cornell, ghost sightings had remained consistent for centuries. In fact, until three years ago the society received one or two new ghost sighting reports every week. But with the introduction of mobile phones 15 years ago, ghost sightings began to decline to the point where they are not receiving any.

And why are there no longer any ghosts being observed? Apparently paranormal events, which many scientists attribute to unusual electrical activity, my be drowned out by the electronic noise produced by cellular telephones and text messaging pager transmitters. And according to the newspaper, the lack of ghost sightings could adversely impact on the nations economy. It says that haunted tourist attractions in Britain could be under threat if the number of cellphones continues to grow from the present figure of about 39 million now in use in the U-K.

Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA.

And all of this begs that one question be asked. If ghosts are the spirits of the dead, how can anything actually kill them? (Science Today)

20,000-plus newsgroups on usenet, some have flame wars and trolls that would make this newsgroup look like a Teletubby show. Yet, this is the only group in which a few people insist that you post a piece of information about yourself that can be searched to reveal your name, address, and, using that information, possibly credit card, Social Security, and telephone numbers. Can you say identity theft? I thought you could.

Then call my supposed parole officer, boy. Do it. Call Chris Hudson or write the parole board, backpedal boy. Don't have the balls Woger? Come on, you can do it. If you are so sure of your information do it. I dare you. I double dare you (no one double dares Woger and gets away with it!) If you are telling the truth then surly I'll be going to prison shortly right? Each day I retain my freedom and post in this newsgroup I just show you to be a lying psychotic fuck. Put up or shut up Woger.

I'm looking for a repeater for FRS-band radios. Is one available? If not, would it be possible to construct one? I'm not adverse to electronic work, by the way. ;) Thanks for any information!

There are many(several) gmrs repeaters around the country. Do you want to put up a simplex repeater (records then repeats the signal normally on the same frequency) or a duplex repeater (simultaneous recieve and transmit on a different frequency)?

Each type of repeater is possible using gmrs radios (same frequencies as frs), it just won't be cheap to put up a tower, antenna, radios, repeater controller etc.

The few gmrs repeaters I have heard about were subscription only. You had to pay to use them. Not something for the casual frs user.

Anyone who can put up a 440 repeater could do the same for gmrs/frs, it would use similar antennas and feed line.
thanks, John.

I used the information on K6XX's website, search for BBox.

You may be looking at the pins the wrong way around, for PSK31 I just wired DATA OUT to SOUND in DATA IN to SOUND OUT and PTT on the 817 to the collector of a 2n3904, whose base came from DTR, pin 4 of a 9 pin D-type connected to a COMport. The ground of the transistor, PIN 5 of the 9 pin and shields of the two 3.5 MM jacks going to the sound card goto to ground on the FT817.

Unfortunately I would have to disassemble my plugs to figure out which way around the pins are numbered.

It does work nicely on digipan...

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.
Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.
Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV.
What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources

director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Best read the FCC rules on FRS - see URL:
http://wireless.fcc.gov/prs/famrad.html

I think an FRS Repeater would be illegal.

However see GMRS

I fly regularly. I always carry a handheld with me in my laptop case. I also carry a cell phone. I have been asked to turn on my computer, open my cell phone, but never been questioned about my ham radio.

What is the problem, you carry your ham license with you. You have ID stating it is legal for you to use the radio.

Hi Andrew,

FRS is a special class of service where only very low power direct communication is possible as designed. The typical cheap'o frs radio will not do repeater frequency splits.

It is possible and quite common to put a voice recorder/playback unit on a simplex (non repeater) frs radio. It will record what every it hears, then play it right back after the transmission is over. That type of circuit and its operation is often refered to as repeater. In true repeater lingo, it's only a voice record playback unit. More of a toy than anything else.

Right next to the "splinter channel" frs frequencies are the original UHF GMRS and business band frequencies where both simplex and duplex (repeater) operation is legal. If you wanted to use a UHF band Repeater, you would put up your own or rent time on one. That's kind of what I do out here in Northern California (Sacramento, Northern SF Bay Area). Its very cheap to rent use of a GMRS Repeater.
By design, you are not really supposed to do business on GMRS, but again... you can use a business license on a proper frequency right next to it to get your work done.

On the Mountain Tops I deal with, we have combinations of business and gmrs repeaters. Most of the newer common radios do both. The thought is to talk to your business on the proper channel, then change to your home gmrs "family" channel and call home/other people for non business needs.

Radios are blowing out of the stores that do all kinds of services. You could by a good UHF radio and use it for all the services. Power Output on the frs band would have to be reduced to the very low limit, but most of the newer radios can program the proper changes right in.

FRS is for close in work and play (real world is about 1 mile range on level ground).

Business and GMRS repeaters can extend your range for an easy 120 mile (or more) diameter circle (of the repeater location) in good locations.

Hope that helps...

cheers

FRS doesn't allow repeaters.

The full-blown GMRS does.

I just got my general ticket and a Kenwood TS-430s. I'm currently running it ungrounded via my antenna tuner (MFJ) to a horizontal dipole. When I transmit into the dummy load on CW with the CAR control turned all the way up (full power) it reads about 50watts forward on the SWR meter. This seems low to me since the dummy load can supposedly handle up to 300watts and the Kenwood TS-430s is supposed to be able to put out over 100watts on CW.

If I run it into the antenna itself I get about 27watts forward with an SWR of 1.3 on CW. Does this seem really low for a 100+watt unit? Could this simply be because I haven't RF grounded my kenwood and antenna tuner? It was my impression that with a horizontal dipole RF grounding wasn't as necessary.

Thanks,
Todd

Fellow hams:

Okay! Now that I got your attention, I bought for $40 a bunch of PC power supplies, and I am curious about how I can combine them into one supply!

They have a 25amp 5V output on each one, and an 8amp 12V output on each one.

I am curious to know what or how I can:

(a) combine the 5V outputs from 3 supplies to yield me a combined 25amp 15V source (presuming three are powered up at once)?

(b) take 3 8amp 12V outputs and merge them into a single 24amp 12V output

I have PC supplies out the a$$, and wish to combine them to build a massive 200amp supply, any ideas how to do this? I long ago forgot my electronics theory with regard to power supplies, and I think you need diodes or something to keep the electricity from flowing from one supply to the other.

Actually, the GMRS frequencies that permit repeater operations are different from FRS frequencies. Actual repeaters (simultaneous re-transmission of the input on a different output frequency) are not allowed on FRS. Store and forward may be (that is a separate debate in itself).

GMRS and FRS share 7 frequencies. No repeater operations are allowed on those 7 frequencies.

As to cost, if you go buy new equipment and pay someone to do the work (like tower climbing and antenna installation), you can probably put up a repeater for somewhere between $5,000 and $10,000. Then you have recurring site rent, insurance, etc. If you are on a regular commercial site, expect to pay anywhere from $500 to $1000 a month rent.

Just about what the show is worth. Tells you something about his fictional audience of thousands, doesn't it. Didn't Hal promise to go away a couple of months ago, when his bumper stickers didn't sell? Talk about a moron who can't read the handwriting on the wall! The listeners who have money are laughing at him and aren't about to give him anything, the listeners who would like to donate are losers with no money to give. It must suck to be Hal!

Olsen was a junk store. Lafayette put themselves out of business

Allied is still in business, but mail order only. AND owned by RS.

Sorry for any confusion; this is basically what I have in mind:

I live on top of a hill which overlooks most of the town. I can get a good signal to and from someone down in the town, but actually being in the city greatly reduces the range (as one might expect). What I'd like to do is set up something at my house that acts like a satalite of sorts; any communications on one specific frequency (channel 12 or something like that on the FRS) would get rebroadcast. This would allow other people to take advantage of this if they so desired (by using the broadcast channel). I wouldn't want any kind of power increase; this is just to solve some LOS issues. :)

Again, I'm not trying to increase the range, I'm looking to create a reflector of sorts. (The same end result as having someone stay at my house and relay messages from one person in the city to the other). ;) Any ideas?

I've always wanted to dabble in Ham radio, but haven't gotten around to it. It looks as if I'll have some time on my hands soon though, and I've heard that the license requirements have eased a bit, so I'd like to look into it.

Where do I start? I guess I'd enjoy having a mobile Ham in my Jeep for those times when I move outta cellphone range. But I have no clue what type of equipment I should be pricing.

Any useful info would be greatly appreciated. Thanks.

Sigh. I was making a play on words, although either spelling is correct.

The Arians are a tribe from Western Afghanistan whose roots go back to antiquity. The word "Aryan" was derived from Arian writings (that's how they seemed to spell the word in their official texts), and the word entered the English language as "Aryan." It is ironic that the word really refers to non-whites, as can be seen, for example, at http://www.dictionary.com/cgi-bin/dict.pl?term=Aryan which says in part:

"Word History: It is one of the ironies of history that Aryan, a word nowadays referring to the blond-haired, blue-eyed physical ideal of Nazi Germany, originally referred to a people who looked vastly different.
Its history starts with the ancient Indo-Iranians, Indo-European peoples who inhabited parts of what are now Iran, Afghanistan, and India."

That is, when Lloyd and his kind call themselves "Aryans", they are really saying that their ancestors came from the Middle East.

And so, Lloyd is really proclaiming that he only wishes to associate with fellow towel-heads.

Brian,

The links listed by Dick N0BK are good info and here is a further tip....on the ARRL web site, up near the top of the page on the left side there is a link to, "clubs". Click the "clubs" link and there you will find a box where you enter your zip code and it will list Ham clubs near you. Most all clubs will welcome "newbies" and lots even run Ham classes for people seeking to be licensed.

First its not legal to set up a repeater on FRS. From a technical standpoint It will be rather difficult to do using standard FRS equipment. One problem is that the repeater will be receiving and transmitting simultaniously in the same band. The closer the two frequencies the more difficult it will be to keep the transmitter from desensing the receiver. Amateur repeaters generally use a 600 Khz separation and then need special tuned cavities to make it work (although they are usually running a lot more transmit power than FRS). Another issue is that your user's FRS radios must be capable of transmitting on one frequency and receiving on the other. I've not seen an FRS radio with this capability.

Another option is a "simplex repeater". You transmit a message, the repeater records it. When you unkey, the repeater echos your message on the same frequency. It's slow, but could use standard FRS radios.

You are quite correct about needing to isolate the supplies outputs from one another. This is especially important with switchers. Another problem or two that you are likely to have, depending on the design of any particular supply, is that a) some supplies don't even put out a voltage unless there is a load applied when they first power up and b) most computer power supplies put out 12V plus or minus 1%.. and are not adjustable, so you are already under voltage for your 13.8V rigs.. and then you put in the isolation diodes and drop it to ~11.4V. Seriesing the 5V supplies for 15V would be trickier still because of the differing load regulations for the different supplies..

Hmm, most people assume FS means For Sale....

Well, now for the answer you're not wanting to hear, it'll be nearly impossible to combine them into a massive output supply. The biggest problem you run into is how to get the voltage regulation to synchronize between them all (none will be at the same voltage, so some will carry more of the load than others, then those will over-current and shutdown or fry, allowing the next ones to do the same shortly thereafter). This is a big problem for high reliability systems with multiple supplies, they use all sorts of fancy current sharing schemes.

First off, you need to isolate all the outputs from each other with diodes so the lower voltage ones don't suck current from the higher ones trying to get the voltage down to what they think it should be (the higher ones will boost their output to compensate for the "load"). But, you still have the problem with the higher voltage ones taking tall the load. Without serious modifications to the voltage regulation circuits, it just won't work...

Andrew , I very much doubt your 'repeater' would be legal. I do know that FRS radios have a fixed antenna and are type approved.
This means home-brewing anything for use on FRS frequencies (around 451 MHz ?) is highly likely illegal.
Here in the UK we have a similar service (Personal Mobile Radio)PMR 446 e.g.
8 channels 12.5kHz spaced commencing at 446.0025 MHz .Same recipe : type approved ,fixed rubber duck antenna ,no home brew mods permitted.
(the 70cms amateur band in ITU region 1 is only from 430 - 440 MHz).

I have the NOAA frequencies programmed into my ht and leave it set to NOAA radio. Always asked to turn the ht on and that way it works and should they touch the PTT it will not transmit. Then turn off and they let me pass.
Never asked to show my fcc ticket.

Well, then.... If your intended, 'extended' operation is in one general direction: Try placing the FRS which you use at home in some sort of a corner or parabolic reflector -- pointed, of course, at the town. Using shielded cables run mic input and audio output lines (and a suitable pwr line) from the now fixed-placed FRS radio (mounted in the reflector) into the house. Mount it out-of-doors with no line-of-sight obstructions.

It's an 'experiment' I've often thought to try.

I am looking to create a line of Tee shirts with various different discontinued ham radio manufacturer logos on them (i.e. one shirt is Hammerlund logo, another is Halicrafters, HeathKit, National, etc...). I am looking for contact information for the current owner of the logo rights so I can do this on an up and up basis. So far I have emailed various sources with little response.

If you have any information that could lead to contact with these entities it would be greatly appreciated. Also any radio brands you would like to see on a shirt please let me know as I can look into those also.

Any information that leads to a successful contact (i.e. offical yes to shirt) will be rewarded with a copy of that shirt once they go into production.

Also quality pictures (big and hi-res, the bigger the better) of old logos would be greatly appreciated. Scans from manuals or from the radio would work great.

Please help me rememebr these old soldiers by keeping the names fresh in our memories.

Thanks

Please identify direct emails to edgrimly@hotmail.com and subject= radio tee shirt

We understood you the first time. It's not permitted in FRS.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA, you stupid FUCK.
My logbook says a different story, dickhead. I just haven't been on those trouble frequencies.
But I see that you've still been jamming repeaters with music.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I posted messages in several newsgroups last month in reference to a Jordan Arndt, VE2SWL, of Calgary, AB, Canada, concerning his failure to ship items which I had paid for. In spite of my filing mail and wire fraud charges against Mr. Arndt, I told him that I would place an information bulletin in the newsgroups retracting the statements I made if I ever received my merchandise.

Mr. Arndt has been kind enough to allow me to pay for shipping a second time via Federal Express, and he allowed FedEx to come by his home at my expense to retrieve my merchandise and bring it to me. It arrived about a week ago, and was exactly what I had purchased.

I had originally paid for the items around October 15th, and it just took my paying shipping a second time, many threatening letters, and two and a half months for my goods to arrive. But Mr. Arndt DID finally come through on my items, so I can't fault him on the items. The items I ordered WERE in the box, and they WERE in good condition.

So, instead of stealing my money for goods, it appears that he actually only stole my money for shipping. I apologize to Mr. Arndt for accusing him of stealing something he didn't steal.

Mr. Arndt was nice enough to explain that he had been undergoing financial difficulties and that he needed to redirect all the money I sent him for goods and shipping to pay his rent, buy food, etc. and as a result, no longer had the funds I sent him to pay for shipment of my items.

Mr. Arndt, if you are reading this, I apologize for accusing you of stealing -ALL- of my money. I now know you only intended to steal -PART- of it. Please excuse me for placing false information prior bulletin concerning your theft. I take back every last word.

Thank you all for taking the time to read this,

Andrew
Radio Shack made a simplex repeater that would just plug into the mic and phone jacks of most handheld radios. This repeater would listen and record then it would retransmit what it recorded on the same frequency.
They no longer sell this but there are still lots of them around for about $75.

FRS power limitations might make this impractical, but if I understand correctly what you're trying to do is to have signals from the town repeated back to the town, perhaps you could experiment with a passive repeater.

Passive repeaters can be anything from a simple dipole cut to frequency, two beams back to back, or a sheet of metal that will reflect the signal like a mirror. The latter have been widely used, and still are, to bend signals over and around mountains. Different configurations of passive repeaters are used to get cellphone signals out of buildings that would otherwise attenuate the signals severely.

I don't know what your neighbors would say to a big sheet of metal on your roof, but it might be fun to play with.

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time. Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV. Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Roger, how can anyone be so dense? It was explained to you in detail months ago that the bit about completing a college degree in 7 years was expressed as a PARODY. Repeat Woger, slowly, P-A-R-O-D-Y. Now, do you f i n a l l y get it fuckwit??????
Parody Roger, a Parody, keep repeating it, you fuckwit!!!!!!
Parody, Parody, Parody, satire, lampoon......I am beginning to think you really are a pointy-headed gnome fuckwith Roger. That "degree" you claim to hold must have been from a diploma mill.
In fact, Florida is famous for diploma mills, because the state laws allow them. I think we've hit upon something here Woger. Your "degree" came from a diploma mill. What did it cost you?
$50 or hundred bucks? Parody, Parody, Parody, NOW DO YOU FINALLY GET IT WOGER???? FUCKWIT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Roger, Where is "Athen, AL"? I believe you are trying to say Athens, Alabama. Also, the abbreviation of Alabama to "AL" is only acceptable when addressing mail. Errrrr, what discipline is that "degree" you claim to have? Me thinks your "degree" is a

Yo Web...

I'm after Dave Munroe (or whatever he calls himself these days).... In Keene, Ontario, Canada.
Pay double ??? For what you agreed to??? Is Canada the breeding ground for the new internet rip-off artists?? Perhaps, but I wont stand for it. The individual I dealt with, dishman@northshells.net, swl@northshells.net, speedy@northshells.net have one thing in common.... northshells.net... and they have been put on notice. I've taken my case to the FBI and US Postal Service and have hired an investigator in Ontario to nail this guy. I've had many honorable dealings on the net but as of late our dear, loving, neighbors, up north, are more than willing to rip us off. Re-directing of monies ????? Good Lord !!! Is this the new welfare ???? Internet fraud to pay the bills ??? Lock and Load !!!! Let's shut these suckers down !!!!!!! Call the FBI...They are on the net.... Contact the Postal Service !!!! Argh !! Yer breakin my friggin nuts here.... Pay double... It would be cheaper if a bunch of us "Canuc trustin but got ripped off types" would take a bus up north with some Louisvilles and do some serious research . (If you know what I mean.) These "A" holes believe the US-Canada boarder affords them some protection.
Yo !!! Canada !!! I'm declarin' war !!! Thieving rodents !!! Yer goin down !!!!
NUKE CANADA !!! The new welfare state !!!!

I am looking for opinions on what would be the best microphone for this HF rig. I was thinking of getting a electrovoice RE-20 has anyone used this professional broadcast microphone on a HF rig. How would or how did it perform. Please let me know which microphone you think is best for this application.

Why would you want to use a broadcast microphone on a ham radio rig?

Go see a demonstration by Bob Heil, K9EID, to understand that question. Then buy a Heil mike.

Showtime, Try a Heil HC-5. Turn on the compression but run it at a very low level, (a sharp whistle should only produce one 'dot' on the scale). Mic gain set about 9 o'clock. It doesn't get any better than that. DON'T use a 'studio' mic. DON'T use wide (or no) filtering. DON'T believe all the 'bull' about 'broadcast quality'...

Well, a long time ago when radio was just getting to the common folks, there was a fellow named Charlie Watkins, who thought he would try and build himself a transmitter by guessing, instead of actually studying basic radio design theory first.

Well, C.W. got himself a bunch of tubes and a great big transformer, as well as a bunch of big capacitors and just tied everything together with pieces of bailing wire. He used a couple of pieces of bailing wire for the AC power connection and since he didn't have the correct plug for the receptacle, he just held the wires in his hands and plugged the mess in.

There was a hell of a flash, and smoke filled the room. C.W.'s wife came running into the room and saw Charlie still holding onto the bare wires, his arms waving around like a madman. She took a broom and knocked Charlie away from the wires, and he fell to the floor, his arms still waving about.

After several days of bed rest, ol' C.W. was still waving his hands about like a crazy man- and as far as I know, he is still to this day doing a Continuous Wave... :>)

Yep Continuos Wave is the answer.

But why..
Its not continuos. Keeps stopping everytime we lift the morse key !!!.

Always puzzled me ??

While I was writing this a friend suggested that maybe it was originally used to differentiate between morse sent from the old Spark transmitters, which generated a series of decaying waves. and the later transmissions generated from a continuos frequency source.

Sound good but I'm not convinced. Any Old timers / historians out there??

It used to bother me too until an English professor cleared it up for me. He said I was confusing continuous with 'constant'. There's a subtle difference between constant pressure and continuous pressure.

Spark transmitters did transmit 'damped waves' and the term 'continuous wave' was invented to distinguish the newer tube types from the older stuff. Won't be the first or last time that terminology lived on after the fact or for that matter terms live on after they are found to be basic goobers.

Some people still believe that AM is changing the amplitude of a 'carrier' and FM is changing its frequency. The terms live on long after the theory caught up with reality.

Greeings:

I'm doing some work for a local storage company which uses a 900 Mhz DSS inventory control system. I need to order a couple dozen rubber duck antennas, but have come to a road block. I can't identify the connector on them.

The connector "looks" like a mini-uhf but is slightly larger having an outside diameter of almost exactly 1/2" (measured across the threads of the chassis connector). The threads are 28TPI using right hand thread.

This antenna also has a "swivel" near the base, allowing it to lock at 90 degrees.

Here are a couple pictures:

http://www.sentex.net/tedds_place/DSCF0011.JPG

and

http://www.sentex.net/tedds_place/DSCF0012.JPG

I've tried a TNC connector as well, but the TNC is too small.

Anyone know what this thing is and maybe a source for rubber duck antennas? I've looked at the Larsen site, but have come up empty.

Sander -- CW stands for Continuous Wave. However it is better described as Interrupted Continuous Wave as a Continuous Wave would literrally mean a constant carrier with no modulation.

By turning the transmitter on and off at morse code rates it is sending intelligence. It is simply turning the transmitter on and off for short and long periods corresponding to the morse characters. (called "Dit's" and "Dah's", NEVER "Dot's and "Dashes").

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time.

Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is
registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV.

Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

When someone plugged a carbon mike stolen from a phone booth into the key jack of his MOPA and bellowed AUDDDDIO he was probably justified in believing that he was modulating amplitude and in an indirect sense he was. What he was really doing is mixing audio with the 'carrier' to produce sideband products that were transmitted with this carrier so that a diode mixer could recover the audio in the receiver. The carrier amplitude is constant.

FM as well generates audio sidebands but takes the power from the carrier so that the total amplitude is constant and can therefore be run thru a limiter to limit noise. The vector summation of the sidebands appears to deviate the frequency but this is not in fact what is happening. See Bessel Functions in the university library. This is a little harder to believe given that one can intervene in a PLL with audio and apply it to the freq control voltage but FM as well is a mixing process.

SSB is your problem. As the profs say, the proof is left to the student.

That sounds like it would work great! Is there a minimum effective size for the sheet of metal, or a particular material that reflects best? I have no idea what the first two passive repeaters that you mentioned are, so I'm skipping those until I can find out more about them. ;) Would you happen to know of a reliable website where I could read up on passive repeaters?

Thanks, by the way, for figuring out an option that doesn't result in you yelling at me about the legalities of repeating. ;)

The fact that you can do a Fourier transform on a waveform and "decompose" it into into a set of sine waves, doesn't mean that the the waveform is "really" a set of sine waves -- it merely means that a summation of sine waves is another way to express it mathematically.

An amplitue modulated wave is quite obviously amplitude modulated! Just look at it on any scope. That is the time-domain representation.

If you want to run that AM wave through a Fourier transform, you'll get what are called sidebands and a carrier, because the transform is designed to produce sinusoidal components. That doesn't make the results any more real than what is seen on an oscilloscope.

As a matter of fact, there are other orthogonal, periodic basis sets into which an AM signal can be resolved. For example, it can be expressed as a sum of sawtooth waves. Would that lead anyone to claim that an AM signal is really a bunch of sawtooth waves?

The answer is that you use whatever representation suits the situation, but you keep in mind that any representation -- including the things you see on your oscilloscope -- is equally valid. In the case of SSB, you might want to use the analytic signal representation, but that's just another way to deal with it, and it's not any more "real" than any other representation.

Good points all. The problem with believing that AM really does change amplitude is that you don't know when to quit. And of course it is a lot easier to make sense of SSB without the baggage.

FM is much the same case, it is a lot easier on your neighbors if the idea of sidebands rather than deviation comes to mind.

It was a toss-off line in another post and I almost regret it now.

Oh it's not hard at all Roger, figuring out who forwarded that email to you, but to do so would compromise my sources of information. I will tell you this much so you know that I know who forwarded you that email. The rat is located in Georgia, need I say more? Of course we expect you to respond to this posting with your usual lies, denials, and filth, but that doesn't change the fact that my email correspondents informed me as to who and where the leak was.

Google is of no concern. More important is that the MS servers carry the Wiseman group but NOT the geno.paris group. LOL

The above is a socalled 'parrot repeater' probably equipped with Information Storage Devices Inc (ISD) direct analogue storage technology chips . The older models being the ISD 1000 series ,with ISD 1020A capable of storing up to 20 seconds of audio.
These ICs can be cascaded. In the USA they are/were also available in greeting cards complete with microphone and miniature speaker ,such that the sender could include a voice message.
Some time ago there was an article in QST on these devices.

And, if properly modified, the MC-50/60 does pretty

I really don't know how the size or type of metal would affect the efficiency, but I would guess that that any metal would work; and the bigger, flatter and more rigid the better. Choice probably would be more dependent on how you have to mount it.

I don't know of a web page but search on "passive repeaters reflector" (no quotes) on Google, and you'll get more information on the subject than you'll ever want to know. Maybe some good ideas re construction.

Good luck.

Many of you may recall that Roger Wiseman used to use the email address crow@ovnet.com. Doing a thorough search of his past postings indicates that he has used that email address for quite some time. Doing a domain search on ovnet.com indicates that ovnet.com is registered to American Heuristics Corporation in Triadelphia, WV. Triadelphia, WV happens to be a nearby town close to Wheeling, WV. What concerned parties may do is to give the good folks a call at American Heuristics Corporation a phone call and ask if Wiseman is an employee. Also, you may want to talk to him directly if he happens to be still employed there. That or perhaps talk to the human resources director regarding inappropriate usage of computing resources. The contact information is below. Also, it is probable that KC8JBO/Roger Wiseman is currently using internet access via ovis.net or mountain.net. In the past Wiseman has used ovis.net however his alleged work postings come via access from mountain.net.

Several months ago I ran across a searchable data base where you could input a zip code and maybe lat/long and it would give you every licensed amateur radio operator within a specified radius. Anyone know where that might have been?

Clinton never cared how many breasts a female had. All he wanted was one

Roger applied for an internship at the White House, but his military record

Georgie Girl Arselicks the repeater jammer

> [Georgie Girl's slobbering drunken slur]

Speaking of brains, you didn't seem to have many yourself, Arseliucks, because you were caught jamming TWICE by the FCC and got fired for it. Not to mention your shooting paintballs into an occupied dwelling.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows".
Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610.
This
enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation.
According to part 97, and we quote,
" ?97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee
failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

Georgie Girl W2ZB

(The Seekers)

Hey there, Georgie girl,
Waddling down the street so fancy free,
Nobody you meet could ever see
The pervertedness there -- inside you.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
Why can't you let all the boys just pass you by?
Could it be you just don't try,
Or is it the women's clothes you wear?

You're always window shopping, but never stopping to buy;
So shed those boa feathers and fly -- a little bit.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
There's another Georgie deep inside.
Bring out all the manlove you hide,
And oh, what a change there'd be.
The world would see
A new Georgie girl.

(Instrumental bridge)

Hey there, Georgie girl,
Dreamin' of the someone you could be,
Life is a reality;
You can't always run away.

Don't be so scared of changing and rearranging yourself;
It's time for putting slurping cum on the shelf -- a little bit.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
There's another Georgie deep inside.
Bring out all the teenboy love you hide,
And oh, what a change there'd be.
The world would see
A new Georgie girl.

Ad lib and fade:
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Wake up, Georgie girl.
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Go away, Georgie girl.
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Try and keep that job, Georgie girl.

Speaking of brains, you didn't seem to have many yourself, Arseliucks,
because you
were caught jamming TWICE by the FCC and got fired for it. Not to mention your shooting paintballs into an occupied dwelling.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows".
Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610.
This
enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation.
According to part 97, and we quote,
" ?97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee
failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

Yes, it was intended that ARRL Space Bulletins would be crossposted here (and to rec.radio.info). The ARRL did this for a while, but then their newsfeed broke down. After it was restored, the responsible individuals at the League decided (rightly or wrongly) that newsgroups weren't a critical venue for distributing bulletins (apparently no one complained that they were absent) and discontinued the relay. AMSAT Bulletins never did develop such a convention for posting to newsgroups, despite requests that they do so. So currently, we lack an individual, or group of individuals, to take this over.

There was a scheme, developed in the early 90's, to accommodate such bulletins, and to encapsulate the packet radio bulletin ID (or "BID") into the Usenet Message ID so that multiple individuals could inject bulletins into the news stream without resulting in duplicates. This also seems to have been abandoned. Below is two messages from me on the subject. The first describes the established conventions for bulletin crossposting on Usenet. The other describes rec.radio.info crossposting via self-moderation, and the BID encapsulation scheme. These are not hard-and-fast "rules," but rather "best practices" developed from consensus from the ARRL, newsgroup votes (such as for rec.radio.info), and the input of interested volunteers such as myself.

Note that all of the addresses mentioned below are obsolete, and Mark Salyzyn, VE6MGS, is no longer moderator of rec.radio.info. Any interested party wishing to relay bulletins according to this "best practices" scheme should contact me.

Hi Rod (et al), The rec.radio.info newsgroup is intended as a cross-posting target. It uses what is known as a Usenet simultaneous cross-post by accepting articles that specify all of its intended newsgroups at once, e.g.:

Newsgroups: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.info

Then, to divert the followup discussions to an unmoderated discussion newsgroup as follows:

Followup-To: rec.radio.amateur.misc

The advantage of this approach is that only one article is propagated, only one article takes up space on a file system, and modern newsreaders will grok the Xref: header and only show you the article in the first newsgroup you read that it's posted to. By using this technique, clearly adding additional newsgroups (up to a reasonable limit) is almost zero-cost, and can be encouraged to maximize coverage.

For ARRL bulletins that don't have a specific speciality group, the cross-post and followup newsgroup is rec.radio.amateur.misc. Now that we have rec.radio.amateur.dx, this should probably be that newsgroup for the DX bulletins (already the Space bulletins are cross-posted to rec.radio.amateur.space, for example).

I've forwarded a copy of this message to the W1AW Operator
(w1aw@arrl.org) and the rec.radio.info Moderator (rec-radio-info@stat.com).

As the maintainer of the "Elmers list" for this newsgroup (among others), I too would be interested in this information. I know several people who have AMSAT E-mail addresses, one or two being on the Elmers list (such as Bob Carpenter, W3OTC), but don't have any official customer service contacts for membership information, files, or mailing lists.

If you wish to submit information about AMSAT, or find out more about the Elmers list and how to obtain a current copy of it, please finger pschleck@unomaha.edu or send E-mail to elmers-request@unomaha.edu.

On a related subject, something that the moderator of rec.radio.info (Mark Salyzyn, VE6MGS) and I are very interested in is who is relaying the AMSAT-related bulletins like the Orbital Elements and Space News to the Info-Hams@ucsd.edu gateway. What is currently happening is that their respective maintainers are submitting them to Mark who cross-posts them to rec.radio.amateur.space and rec.radio.info (which causes them to be relayed to the Ham-Space and Radio-Info mailing lists), then they appear on Info-Hams (rec.radio.amateur.misc). E-mail to the maintainers reveals that they are not the ones doing the duplicate posting, a person or persons unknown within AMSAT is.

It's certainly not our place to dictate how bulletins should be posted, or even who should post them, but if they are going to posted to several newsgroups, a simultaneous cross-post is most desirable (propagating a single article within news that will appear in most modern newsreaders only once, although it will be duplicated on the mailing lists). Also, if there will be multiple submitters to news of bulletins with packet-radio BID's, they should use the Message-ID encapsulation convention like the following:

SB BID$NNN @ DISTRIBUTION becomes:

Message-ID: <bid$nnn.1994@ampr.org>

In this way any one news site will have only one copy of the bulletin, regardless of how many submitters post it.

Mark is perfectly willing to help anyone manage the complexity in properly formatting their bulletins. This could be as simple as mailing it to a different E-mail address (rec-radio-info@ve6mgs.ampr.ab.ca instead of Info-Hams@ucsd.edu).

While rec.radio.amateur.space (and Ham-Space) is really the most appropriate target for these bulletins (based on their charters agreed to by a vote of the readership at the last newsgroup reorganization), in the interest of cooperation, we would be amenable to simultaneously cross-posting the AMSAT-related bulletins to rec.radio.info, r.r.a.space, and r.r.a.misc (as it's still only one article being propagated) if there is still a strong desire to relay these bulletins to their "traditional" mailing list (we realize that some of the conventions and procedures for relaying radio bulletins predate the rec.radio.info newsgroup and not everyone is going to adopt our recommended techniques overnight, if at all).

Mark and I would very much like to hear from individuals within AMSAT who are interested in using the net to publicize their organization and distribute their bulletins in the most invisible and bandwidth-efficient ways possible. An excellent forum for discussing some of these issues with Mark, myself, and about a dozen other experienced radio information maintainers on the Internet is the rec.radio.amateur Working Group mailing list (rra-wg). To subscribe, send E-mail to rra-wg-request@amdahl.com.

What I needed is available at http://www.arrl.org/fcc/fcclook.php3 .
I didn't realize you could just enter the zip code on that page.
Thanks everyone for your help. And thanks to ARRL for pointing this one out to me.

Schoenbohm Effort to Obtain New Amateur License Prompts FCC Hearing Order

NEWINGTON, CT, Jan 11, 2002

Former Amateur Radio licensee Herb Schoenbohm, ex-KV4FZ, apparently is eager to return to his favorite pastime. The FCC this week suggested that Schoenbohm, who lives in Kingshill, Virgin Islands, won't get his wish easily. Last April, only a few months after losing his battle to renew his ham ticket and his operating authority had expired, Schoenbohm applied for a new Amateur Radio license and passed the General exam. The FCC now has designated that pending application for hearing, to determine, in part, if Schoenbohm is rehabilitated and deserves to be a Commission licensee.

The FCC didn't mince words in its Hearing Designation Order, released January 6 in WT Docket No 01-352. Schoenbohm's "previous criminal behavior, misrepresentation and lack of candor warranted denial of his renewal application," the Order said. "Mr. Schoenbohm is a convicted felon and was found to have misrepresented facts and lacked candor in his testimony in that hearing."

The FCC said, however, that what's past is past, and it does not intend to rehash Schoenbohm's earlier case in the current proceeding. Now, the Commission says, it must determine whether Schoenbohm "has been sufficiently rehabilitated" since his earlier "disqualifying behavior." The Commission said it needs to know if Schoenbohm "could be relied upon to observe our rules and policies and deal with the Commission in an honest and forthright manner."

The FCC said that since it has "no facts now before us that would support a finding of rehabilitation," it cannot make a ready determination that granting Schoenbohm's application "would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity." So, it's designating his application for hearing.

"Absent a demonstration by Mr. Schoenbohm that he now possesses the requisite character qualifications to be a Commission licensee, his pending applications may not be granted," the FCC added. Schoenbohm vowed last year to return to Amateur Radio.

Meanwhile, the FCC is continuing to investigate whether a South Carolina amateur broke any rules when he let Schoenbohm operate during a recent contest. Stephen S. Reichlyn, AA4V, rented and operated from Schoenbohm's station during the CQ World Wide SSB Contest last October.

After the FCC was alerted to the operation, Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth wrote Reichlyn requesting clarification of Schoenbohm's role. FCC rules consider an unlicensed individual who communicates via Amateur Radio to be a third party and require that a licensed control operator be present at the control point, "continuously monitoring and supervising the third party's participation." Such a third party also may not exchange messages with stations in countries with which the US does not have a third-party traffic agreement. That list includes the UK and most of Europe.

The FCC also may consider how its refusal to renew Schoenbohm's license affects his legal status as a third party. An individual whose license was revoked or suspended or surrendered for cancellation following revocation, suspension or fine--or who is under a cease-and-desist order relating to amateur operation--may not serve as a third party at an Amateur Radio station.

Reichlyn confirmed that he had asked Schoenbohm to fill in briefly as an operator on two occasions. He said he fully supervised Schoenbohm's operation, but conceded in his response to the FCC that he may have exercised poor judgment in asking Schoenbohm to operate.

The FCC said this week Schoenbohm would bear the burden of proof in the new license application proceeding before an administrative law judge to determine whether he now possesses the requisite character qualifications to be a Commission licensee and whether his pending application should be granted.

------------------ CUT -------------

(Let me give you an "inside peek". The FCC knows that if KV4FZ were ever to get back on the air, it would ignite an RF firestorm on 20 meters that would make the "old days" of the infamous 14.313 War look like a church cake and tea party. Better hope that Herb never get's his US Callsign back - that will make the top half of 20 meters look ten times worse than the most vile CB channel you can imagine in very short order. Rest asssured, they do know this too.....)

Always used D-104's with my TS450S till I monitored myself through my W2IHY noise gate / EQ box. Although I could easily tailor the D-104 audio with it I have switched to the Astatic Silver Sidebander which EQ's much better and can deliver a wider range of audio profiles than the D-104's.

Now I can transform the transmitted audio from ear-piercing pile-up busting high frequency content all the way through 'normal' and on to the warm, friendly, sexy so-called hi-fi audio many folks like to hear.

Did you know that such a newsgroup exists? It was established all the way back in 1993, and is called rec.radio.info. The original welcome message is included below. The idea was to provide a cross-posting target for FAQ's and bulletins. With minimal configuration of your newsreader's kill/select file capabilities, you could have any of the following read options:

- Reading discussion and bulletins mixed together (the default option; sometimes valuable because bulletins often resulted in followup discussion; this is actually preferred by most readers)

- Reading just the bulletins in rec.radio.info (by only reading that newsgroup)

- Reading just the discussion articles (as you could filter out the articles cross-posted to rec.radio.info in the discussion newsgroups using some simple kill-file rules)

The exact configurations for several popular newsreaders (such as nn and rn) are given in the Welcome message, included below.

A bulletin maintainer can still use rec.radio.info today, if they are familiar with the keys to newsgroup moderation, as it is an active newsgroup with bulletins still being posted to it. Any interested party can contact me for more information.

 Welcome to rec.radio.info! ***

Welcome to rec.radio.info, a group that aims to provide a noise-free source of information and news for the entire rec.radio hierarchy.

Two introductory articles about rec.radio.info are posted to the group and to news.answers every two weeks. You are now reading the first article, which explains what rec.radio.info is, and answers some Frequently Asked Questions. The second article is titled "Submission Guidelines", and you only need to read it if you want to submit an article to rec.radio.info.

You can skip to the next section of this article by searching for the next
" -- " string. The sections available are:
- What is the purpose of rec.radio.info?
- Why are messages almost always cross posted to rec.radio.info?
- What is a 'follow-up', and what does 'moderated' mean?
- OK, so now I know what 'moderated' means. Tell me more.
- What type of material is considered inappropriate?
- I do not have access to news, how can I get the information posted to rec.radio.info?

- Will the material appearing in rec.radio.info be archived somewhere?
- I have a regular posting with timely information, is there a way to speed up it's delivery, or automate for more convenience?

-- What is the purpose of rec.radio.info?

The purpose or charter of rec.radio.info is to provide the Usenet community with a resource for information, news, and facts about any and all things radio.

All the other rec.radio groups are intended for discussions and general chit chat about radio. Rec.radio.info will contain informational, factual articles only. Follow-ups are redirected to an appropriate other group, and further discussion (if any) will not take place in rec.radio.info.

In order to ensure that rec.radio.info contains only appropriate articles, it was decided to create the group as a moderated newsgroup.

-- Why are messages almost always cross posted to rec.radio.info?

It provides a "tag" for each article to be assembled into a filtered presentation in rec.radio.info (even with cross-posting, only one message, with a unique Message-ID, is propogated across the net). This tag also facilitates a pre-existing method of dropping or cancelling the articles locally within the discussion groups if you don't want to see them. This accommodates individuals who want to separate the bulletins from the discussions, discussions from the bulletins, as well as those who are adamant about not reading another newsgroup and wanted to see everything all in one basket.

With the total size of Usenet (in number of newsgroups and total traffic) doubling every year or so, this is no insignificant contribution to reducing information noise and chaos. Making the discussion groups a catch-all, and making extra newsgroups filters on that catch-all, is also the most realistic way to implement such a scheme (It's not intuitively obvious what the charter, contents, and general appropriate topics for each and every newsgroup are. Seeing FAQ's and charter/intro postings in the home newsgroup is beneficial for new readers).

By cross-posting one only is adding a few tens of bytes to each bulletin (to specify the extra group on the Newsgroups line), but are adding the capability for very powerful filtering features available on most news servers, listservers and readers. Your local news guru could probably explain these features in more detail.

In rn, for example, according to Leanne Phillips in her rn kill-file FAQ, add a line of the form:

/Newsgroups:.*[,]rec\.radio\.info/h:j

either in ~/News/KILL (if you don't want to see rec.radio.info articles anywhere) or ~/News/rec/radio/amateur/misc/KILL (if you don't want to see them just in rec.radio.amateur.misc). The latter method means your kill file will only be consulted during rec.radio.amateur.misc (and hence runs more efficiently), and will probably work for most people.

In nn, according to Bill Wohler in his nn FAQ, add a line of the form:

rec.radio.info:!s/:^

in ~/.nn/kill (if you don't want to see rec.radio.info articles anywhere), or put the following lines:

sequence
rec.radio.info
rec.radio.

at the end of ~/.nn/init in order to see all the rec.radio.info bulletins first, then read the remaining rec.radio.* without the bulletins.

-- What is a 'follow-up', and what does 'moderated' mean?

If you are new to Usenet and are not familiar with the terminology, you might want to read the general introductory articles found in the newsgroup news.announce.newusers. Doing so will make your life on the net much easier, and will probably save you from making silly beginner's mistakes.

If you think that at this moment you are reading an echo, a conference, or a bulletin board, I'd also strongly suggest a trip over to news.announce.newusers.

For the rest of this article, I will assume you have a basic knowledge of Usenet terminology and mechanics.

A moderated group means that any article that needs to be posted to the group has to be accepted by the moderator of the group. Since we need to ensure that followups to an article (discussion) do not show up in the rec.radio.info newsgroup, the `Followup-To:' header line contains a newsgroup that is appropriate for disussions about the specific article.

-- OK, so now I know what 'moderated' means. Tell me more.

Rec.radio.info is a moderated newsgroup, which means that all articles submitted to the group will have to be approved by the moderator first.

The current moderator of the group is Mark Salyzyn. Submissions to rec.radio.info can be posted, or e-mailed to:

rec-radio-info@ve6mgs.ampr.ab.ca

Comments, criticisms, suggestions or questions about the group can be e-mailed to:

rec-radio-request@ve6mgs.ampr.ab.ca

But before you do so, please be sure to check out the "Submission Guidelines" article.

The influence of the moderator should be minimal and of an administrative nature, consisting chiefly of weeding out obviously inappropriate articles, while making sure correct headers etc. are used for the appropriate ones.

-- What type of material is considered inappropriate?

There are three broad categories of articles which will be rejected by the moderator:

1) Requests for information: rec.radio.info is strictly a one-way street. I receive information in my mailbox; I then post it to rec.radio.info. Requests for specific information belong in the normal discussion newsgroups. If your request gets answered, you might consider passing the answer on to rec.radio.info, though. Especially if you can edit it into a informational, rather than a discussion, format.

2) Obvious discussion articles, or articles that appear unsubstantiated.

3) Commercial stuff: a relatively unbiased test of a radio product would be accepted, but any hint of for-profit might be reason for rejection. For three reasons: This is not the purpose of the list, for-profit is a controversial topic, and this list may be passed onto Amateur Packet Radio (where for-profit is prohibited except under certain provisos).

rec.radio.swap may be more deserving of the posting in any matter.

Similarly, copyrighted material generally cannot be used. If it's TRULY worthwhile to the net, I would recommend obtaining permission from the copyright holder. Please note the source, and if permission was given. I reserve the right to make the final decision concerning appropriateness in all situations. In most cases, a brief summary of, or pointer to, the copyrighted information may be all I can allow.

-- I do not have access to news, how can I get the information posted to rec.radio.info?

brian@UCSD.EDU (Brian Kantor) has kindly supplied a mail list server for rec.radio.info. Non of the articles will be digested, due to their size, so you will receive individual mailings for every article posted to the group.

Mail sent to radio-info@ucsd.edu will be forwarded to the moderator and thus is an alias to rec-radio-info@ve6mgs.ampr.ab.ca

To subscribe and unsubscribe via the listserver; the format for that is sub address radio-info unsub address radio-info

where 'address' is your full mailing address. Send this request to listserv@ucsd.edu

Note that the server will automatically delete any address that bounces mail. If you leave the address portion blank, it will try to deduce your address from the mail headers. This may not work if you are on bitnet, milnet or some other non-Unix host, so it is recommended to put your return address in any case. For example:

sub mymailbox@myhost.mydomain.mil radio-info or

sub MEMEME01@DMBHST.bitnet radio-info or something like that.

-- Will the material appearing in rec.radio.info be archived somewhere?

Yes. Still firming up details at the moment but here is a preliminary list:

- unbc.edu as maintained by Lyndon Nerenberg <lyndon@unbc.edu>
- nic.funet.fi maintained by Risto Kotalampi <rko@cs.tut.fi> saved to /pub/dx/text/rec.radio.info currently stored as numbered files.

Effectively this means that anything you post to rec.radio.info will be permanently stored, so your work will not be lost.

Yes, there is! It may take a bit of chatter with the moderator, but we are willing to take responsible people and provide them the means of posting the articles directly from their site. We will try everything we can as we fully realize that DX (distant signal) and astronomical data can be somewhat transitory. We are also willing to allow regular posters of information the same courtesy, even if the information is not as time critical.

We refer to this as self-moderation, which is partly based on the model for news.answer. This requires co-operation and good will to be beneficial to the community in the rec.radio hierarchy.

I suggest reading the posting guidelines for more information. I am open to suggestions.

I thank the following individuals for their input into this article:

 rec.radio.info - Submission Guidelines and Etiquette ***

Two introductory articles about rec.radio.info are posted to this group and to news.answers every two weeks. You are now reading the second article, which explains how to submit something to rec.radio.info, and which answers some Frequently Asked Questions about the submission process. The first article is titled "Welcome to rec.radio.info", and it might be a good idea to check it out as well.

-- How do I submit something to rec.radio.info?

Two possibilities. You can use your newsreading software to just post the article to rec.radio.info, as you would do with any other newsgroup. The difference is that the software recognizes the special status of rec.radio.info as a moderated group, and will e-mail your article to me, the moderator, instead of posting it to the group.

Alternatively, you can mail your article directly to me at the following address:

rec-radio-info@ve6mgs.ampr.ab.ca

Mailing me directly is probably (a wee bit) faster, but using the transparency offered by the newsreading software is probably more convenient.

If you have any questions, or wish to deal with some administrivia with the moderator, I suggest mailing to the following address:

rec-radio-request@ve6mgs.ampr.ab.ca

-- How soon will I see my article appear?

It depends on how busy I am. Your article reaches me as mail, I have to read it first, possibly edit it, give it the stamp of approval, and finally send it on to the group.

I try to check and process the rec-radio-info mailbox at least three times a day. Since my site is UUCP connected (and in Canada, sometimes viewed as a foreign country from the US :-), the turnaround time may be somewhat lengthy. If you post a periodic article, and have shown to be trustworthy, we may allow you to post directly if the article is of a timely nature. See the section below on direct posting.

-- Should my article be in a specific format?

No. If it is not totally illegible, I will accept it, and if it does not have a correct subject-line I will correct it -- that's what a moderator is for.

However.

You could do me a big favor by making sure your article conforms to these simple requirements:

1) The article must present information, not discussion or requests, I will reject the article or require you to change the wording if it is worth it.
2) A good, descriptive Subject line.
3) Always mention what source you got the information from.
4) Don't forget to include a Followup-To header, at least if you don't want further discussion to automatically be forwarded to you, the poster, which is the default if the article is only posted to rec.radio.info.
5) Please try to keep commercial advertising out of the signature. One of the goals is to allow many of these messages to traverse through to Amateur Packet Radio, and even a mention of a company name can get some of the Arm-Chair lawyers up in arms :-}

As I said: if your article is appropriate I will post it even if you don't follow these guidelines, but then don't blame me for not processing it immediately. 'Perfect' articles I can send on with a couple of keystrokes. Stuff that needs minor editing is going to have to wait until I have time to do so.

Please do not waste both mine and your time by posting requests, as this is an information only news group.

-- What about cross-posting?

If you send something to rec.radio.info, just name any group you'd like to cross-post to in the Newsgroups field. Then, when I approve the article for rec.radio.info it will get automatically cross-posted to any other groups mentioned. This will also override the default Followup-To: poster, replacing it with the groups you cross posted to.

I would prefer if the group be cross-posted to the various discussion groups in the rec.radio.* heirarchy that are appropriate:

rec.radio.amateur.misc Amateur (ham) radio and related matters rec.radio.amateur.packet Amateur Packet Radio discussions rec.radio.amateur.policy Amateur Radio practices, rules, etc.
rec.radio.noncomm Non commercial radio discussions rec.radio.shortwave International broadcasting on the 'HF' bands rec.radio.cb Citizens Band (27 MHz) discussion rec.radio.scanner Scanner discussions (unsupported group) or in the moderated group:
rec.radio.broadcasting Discussion of domestic radio broadcasting

I will leave it up to the poster to decide which group(s) are appropriate, but reserve the right to add groups if I feel it has broader interest.

Note: rec.radio.broadcasting is also a moderated group. It may be necessary to 'manually' post your articles to it's moderator. If you wish the article to cross-post to rec.radio.info and rec.radio.broadcasting, place the e-mail address of - rrb@airwaves.chi.il.us - in the Cc: (carbon copy) field when you mail, and state, in the article, where you want the Followup-To: to be set. Since William Pfeiffer, the rec.radio.broadcasting moderator, is part of the moderation team for rec.radio.info, I will typically abide by his decision whether the article is appropriate for rec.radio.info.

If you post to another moderated group it may be better to make special arrangements with both moderators before posting by contacting us at our administrivia addresses.

In addition, cross-posts do not take up extra space; modern newsreaders can be configured to show you cross-posted articles only once anyway; not everybody reads rec.radio.info; and rec.radio.info was never meant to reduce the volume of the regular discussion newsgroups. But keep in mind that some of the mail gateways may filter out the informational postings (at request of the subscribers) to keep the load down.

You decide.

-- I have a regular posting with timely information, can I make arrangements to help speed up delivery by posting directly from my site?

Yes, there is! It may take a bit of chatter with the moderator, but we are willing to take responsible people and provide them the means of posting the articles directly from their site. We will try everything we can as we fully realize that DX (distant signal) and astronomical data can be somewhat transitory. We are also willing to allow regular posters of information the same courtesy, even if the information is not as timely.

If you are currently maintaining (or plan to maintain) a radio-related periodic information posting, you may wish to consider cross-posting it to news.answers. Postings that are approved by the news.answers moderator for this treatment are automatically pre-approved for cross-posting to rec.radio.info (as the news.answers requirements are far more rigorous than the requirements this newsgroup ever plans to use). For more information about this option, consult the appropriate information articles and posting guidelines in news.answers.

Realize also, that even if your post is not approved for news.answers, it can still be approved for rec.radio.info. The intention is not so much to get every last bit of radio-related information on news.answers, but rather to provide an alternative avenue of approval (as well as grandfather existing maintainers of radio-related information and spare them additional bureaucratic hurdles). Again, cross-posting to either rec.radio.info or news.answers, both, or neither, is at the discretion of the poster (subject to the approval of the moderators). You decide what is most appropriate for your article.

Please remember that as an information maintainer, you are not alone. There are many others on the net who maintain and post periodic information postings, using various intermediate-to-advanced features of Usenet (usually via automated tools). Various degrees of technical support and general hand-holding are available from many Usenet veterans. Send me some E-mail describing your needs, and I'll try to help, or at least refer you to the right knowledgeable individual(s).

-- And Follow-ups?

If the only newsgroup you have specified is rec.radio.info, then the Followup-To: field will always be set to poster. If you do not want this, you must supply a Followup-To line of your own, and I will honor that one.

If you specify newsgroups to cross-post to, then the Followup-To field will be set to include all the cross-posted groups, excepting rec.radio.info itself. Again, if you do not wish this behavior, supply your own Followup-To line.

We maintain other standards on the various RFC-1036 (news transport) header lines. For example, if the article is appropriate for passing into the Packet Radio Information Network, we encapsulate the Packet Bulletin Identifier (BID) in the Message-ID: news header line indicating the machine of origin as the ampr.org domain:

Message-ID: <$opa.55.1994@ampr.org>

where the Packet Radio BID, in this example, is `$OPA.55', and it was posted in the year 1994, because some of the Bid numbers are cycled yearly. Hopefully, this can be used as a key to re-introduce the articles for the Packet Radio network. Also, if the article is a repost of an already existing information article in the rec.radio heirarchy, we ensure that the References: header line is linked to that previously posted article. This also helps to tag articles, and may be used for additional filtering if needed.

Since the articles are archived, please use the Summary and Keywords header lines to help one search for your article.

-- Why have I received no reply from you?

I never reject anything in silence, and I make a point of it to answer all my mail. However, e-mail, like a brain cell, can and does get lost, every now and again. In addition, I find that I stop acknowledging the more prolific posters.

So, if you send me something, and you don't see it appear it rec.radio.info, and you still have not heard from me in reply after say, five days, you can be pretty sure that either your mail never reached me, or that my answer has never reached you. In that case, please try again (I will filter out duplicates).

Milquetoast...as in wimp. Momma's boy. Wuss. Wimp. Pussy. Cunt. Faggot.
Wogie is off to bed for the evening. He will arise at 0700 or so and whip up a batch of semen gravy and post furiously while he slurps down his Daily Dose of starch.

Come on, guys. Picking on Roger is like shooting fish in a barrel. Roger is not overly intelligent and it is hardly a secret that he lives at home with his mommy.
Rogie was married once, or so he claims. The marriage must have gone awry if indeed it even happened. Rogie now admits to living at home with his aged mother under the guise of taking care of her.
Of course Wogie only posts to the newsgroups during set times of the day....spare Big Marie the shame of seeing what her son spews.
Go for it, Roger. Spew your all too typical filth.
It is such a shame that a fifty year old man can do what you do without ever growing up.

NOW that Taleban rule is over in Mullah Omarï¿½s former southern stronghold, it is not only televisions, kites and razors which have begun to emerge.

Visible again, too, are men with their ashna, or beloveds: young boys they have groomed for sex.

Kandaharï¿½s Pashtuns have been notorious for their homosexuality for centuries, particularly their fondness for naive young boys. Before the Taleban arrived in 1994, the streets were filled with teenagers and their sugar daddies, flaunting their relationship.

It is called the homosexual capital of south Asia. Such is the Pashtun obsession with sodomy ï¿½ locals tell you that birds fly over the city using only one wing, the other covering their posterior ï¿½ that the rape of young boys by warlords was one of the key factors in Mullah Omar mobilising the Taleban.

This is nonsense. I fly with several radios and GPS units all the time.

I have never had to "explain" anything. In fact I have never been asked to turn one on. Since Sept. 11 I have flown at least 30 times both in the US and Europe same story every where no problems with the radios. What I do pack in my luggage are long sharp antennas.
I have had no problem with rubber ducks not even a question.

Packed in the suit case and it is vulnerable to theft and the airline is not responsible for electronics in luggage--read the ticket.

Take it on board leave it off and in your bag and don't worry have a nice trip.

Ship your rigs via FedEX. Ship all valuable items via FedEX. You can purchase insurance and they are very unlikely to loose it. This allows you to ship all you want. Read your ticket information. The airline won't do much for you on your return flight, if they loose your stuff. They figure that you are at home and should have more stuff there. Ship them to your motel room or the place you are staying. Carry on bags should include a change of cloths, cash and documents needed when you arrive. never put all of your clothing in your checked baggage. To much hassle when the airline looses them. One last thing always have contact information in your bags. The tags on the outside can get lost in handling.

You duplicated the theory behind the Heil Dual mic without spending all that money.

I agree, the D104 standard mic is crappy for most of todays rigs, unless you want nothing more than ear splitting pile up busting high pitched audio.

Sorry to see that you got some boorish flames, along with some constructive criticisms. The boorish flames can probably be dismissed.
Some of the constructive criticisms should at least be considered.

For example, my suggestions would be to at least do the following:

- Split up the bulletins such that the DX bulletins go to rec.radio.amateur.dx, the Space bulletins go to rec.radio.amateur.space, and the rest (General and Special) go to rec.radio.amateur.misc. Previously, at least rec.radio.amateur.space was getting all of the bulletins, which was probably not wanted by most of the readers..

and consider doing the following:

- Crosspost also to rec.radio.info, with followups set back to the appropriate discussion/topic newsgroup. This allows several different presentations via newsgroup kill/select files. The default presentation, without kill/select files, is to show discussion and bulletins together, which is what most readers seem to prefer (provided that the topic-specific newsgroups only get the topic-specific bulletins).

Paul set up an automailing of a "Welcome To Rec.radio.amateur" FAQ to welcome new posters to the rra newsgroups. It's an excellent idea for a new poster to immediately receive the auto-sent FAQ rather than waiting for my sporadic posting of it (I used to post it monthly, then 4 times per year, then...) It's a one-time mailing, so no one should get bent out of shape for having received it. The few complaints ISPs have received have been immediately dismissed; apparently they too feel it's a great idea.

Paul's new call is K3FU. When someone gets a new call, their old one can still show up at some sites. My old WH6U along with my newer call still pops up on the callsign.ualr.edu 2000 telnet site.

Dear Newbie,

Paul has been on the rec.radio newsgroups ever since they were created! He's written or contributed to all the rec.radio FAQs.
For every new rec.radio newsgroup whose creation was proposed,
Paul was there to give advice to smooth out the creation process (which in itself, is extremely tedious). The two NGs this thread is posted to were created due to Paul's advice and effort.

When I came into the rec.radio NGs in 1992 Paul was already here over-seeing their smooth operation. Out of all the current readers, I imagine Paul and I have been on the rec.radio NGs the longest. If he's like myself, after all those years of posting stuff one eventually becomes just a lurker; everything that can be said has already been done, many times over.

What does matter is that unsolicited email is generally recognized as spam. Paul sends unsolicited email; therefore Paul is a spammer.

And I don't give a rat's ass how long he's been on: Times have changed

Roger has a yeast infection.

Some may recall his nickname of yore, "Monistat" Wiseman.

Well, this is how he earned it.

He will be especially irritable for the next few days due to his temporary discomfort and itching.

see http://www.arrl.org plunk IL into the club search and the Northwest club in Arlington Hts is the first on the list. Plunk 60206 into the zip search and ten come up. These are affiliated clubs only but it is a great place to start.

Enjoy!

Does anyone have the assembly and alignment manuals for the Knight Kit Star Roamer II and the R195 receiver. These solid state receivers are of 1970's vintage. Good clean copies and or clear scans would be appreciated.

I was just handed a pair of the Star Roamer II's and one R-195 all partly built, but the wiring was not completed. Of course no manuals, just the original bags of parts and hardware.

Thanks

This must be a medical first. I had no idea that a person could contract a yeast infection in their anus.
Could it be that his rectal seepage is what he is referring to when he claims to have an "honorable discharge"?

Here we go again!

I appreciate Jeff Herman's attempts to defend me, but in fairness, I think other good contributors like Brian Kantor, WB6CYT, and Gary Coffman, KE4ZV, precede me (by at least a decade in the case of Brian).

Keeping in mind the effectiveness of the "Big Lie" if it is not rebutted (e.g., if you call a dog a cat long enough, people will expect it to "meow"), I'll once again pass along my standard rebuttal to the "You are a spammer!" accusation. The word "spam" seems to have been distorted into meaning "posts or messages that I don't agree with."

SPAM has a very specific meaning, which is bulk, unsolicited, off-topic, commercial E-mail sent indiscriminantly to large distribution lists harvested from the net. The overwhelming majority of newsgroup readers, my ISP, UUNet, RBL, etc., seem to disagree with you that I am a spammer. A true spammer wouldn't operate out in the open, identify himself with his real name and E-mail address, and refer you to his ISP for any complaints or concerns (staff@novia.net). Similar projects are pursued with great success on comp.lang.perl.misc and comp.infosystems.www.authoring.html.

Whose system have I loaded up with unsolicited E-mail? The auto-mailing is designed to send a short introductory message, once and only once, to each first-time poster (by E-mail address) to rec.radio.amateur.misc. How many such messages have you, or your system, received, Mr. "Arf! Arf!" ?

To the person who forged the From: line of several messages to try and direct the introductory message for this newsgroup to my ISP's abuse mailbox, please be assured that I wasn't born yesterday. Here are some (but not all) of the common-sense filters in the auto-mailing script:

Blocked to avoid sending message to abuse complaint mailboxes
@recipients = grep (!/^abuse/, @recipients); @recipients = grep (!/^root/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep (!/^postmaster/, @recipients);
Blocked to avoid accidental posting via news gateway
@recipients = grep (!/^mail2news/, @recipients);
Probably a good idea because of address spoofing
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]whitehouse\.gov$/, @recipients); @recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]senate\.gov$/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]house\.gov$/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]fcc\.gov$/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]ftc\.gov$/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]fbi\.gov$/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]sec\.gov$/, @recipients);
@recipients = grep(!/[\.\@]ustreas\.gov$/, @recipients);

Here is my previous post on the subject (15,000 is now 20,000, but the other statistics, such as percentages and daily message count, remain the same):

>Policy published by your own isp_:

I have consulted (on an ongoing basis over the last 3 years) with my ISP, and their opinion on the matter is that my posting does not violate their terms of service. You pruned a key sentence from the start of the policy:

According to http://www.novia.net/acceptable/ (emphasis added),

"It is contrary to the Acceptable Use Policy of Novia for a direct customer, or for an Internet Service Provider customer to permit any third party, to use any Novia service, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of unsolicited mass transmissions or multiple or inappropriate postings in a manner which, IN NOVIA'S SOLE JUDGEMENT AND DISCRETION, is abusive, offensive, inappropriate or unacceptable." [...]

Note the words "in Novia's sole judgement and discretion." I have specific approval to undertake this project because of its redeeming value and public benefit. Obviously, no written policy can cover all contingencies, and discretion on the part of the ISP is sometimes necessary to determine the appropriateness of individual usage on a case-by-case basis.

It was obvious from the start that I would not be able to obtain total consensus for this project from the readers of rec.radio.amateur.misc. There will be a small, inconsolable minority with whom I will have to agree to disagree. I've asserted this before, and will do so again:

This project operates with 99.5% tacit approval, or at least lack of expressed disapproval, of the recipients.

0.5% of 15,000 is about 75. The number of negative complaints over the last 3 years is most certainly bounded by that number (I believe that it's bounded by 50, and possibly even 35, which would be approximately one per month). In terms of actual replies sent, positive replies outnumber negative ones by 2 to 1, possibly even 3 to 1, and I count messages like, "This is kind of long to read" or "I've been posting to this newsgroup for 10 years" as negative replies, so they're not all at the same level of objection.

Furthermore, though such discussion is certainly valuable and welcome, it's only because I've engaged in full disclosure on this newsgroup as to my project, its purpose, and implications (both positive and negative) that we are even having this discussion on the newsgroup at all. If there was tremendous hue and cry over what I was doing in the absence of my making periodic updates to the newsgroup, that would be one thing. Instead, what happens is that I get maybe 1 or 2 complaints in followup to my update message, and the thread quickly dies within a few days. Without such updates, this project is essentially invisible.

This project is not SPAM for the following reasons, some of which are common sense, some of which are legal (based on an informal opinion from a local lawyer with some expertise in Internet-related law; since this was just consultation and not a formal client relationship, take with the appropriate disclaimers).

- It is arguably not SPAM to send a response to a specific post, on a specific newsgroup, for a specific newsgroup-related reason, and do so one time to a given user. The automation is merely a means to an end, and does not, in and of itself, constitute SPAM. When you post to a newsgroup, you invite a reasonable amount of replies on topics relevant to that post and that newsgroup.

- The small number of messages sent on a daily basis (usually no more than 10-15) keeps it under arbitrary definitions of SPAM without even considering exceptions or discretion (usually 25, as in the Novia AUP).

- Unlike most all SPAM, the message is from a specific, real originator who reads and replies to all responses (if you write to me in reply to the message, I will get your message, will read it with interest, and will promptly send you a polite, considered reply). I realize that sending such a message invites replies, and I welcome them.

- The originator's ISP is clearly identified, and has a real address where you can direct any concerns and likely also receive a polite, considered reply.

- Inherent in this project is a "do not call" list. You are automatically put on it the first time you post, but can also be added to it at any time by writing to pschleck@novia.net.

and this one is the most interesting of all (told to me by the lawyer):

- SPAM by most laws and regulations aimed at it, is defined as having commercial content. While I believe that other aspects of the content and how its presented does affect whether it is abusive or not, in terms of most laws established to date, my message is arguably not SPAM simply because it is not commercial in nature.

What is this and your obsession with young boys, Woger? Never mind moot

It really bothers you, doesn't it 8L0J08, that the regulars in fact were

You certainly can. Fancy (and expensive) antennas aren't very good and don't have any secrets in them, regardless of advertising hype.

A good antenna has to be large and installed in a clear, high place. No shortcuts work.

Hello all,

I came across an old Omega Electronics LT-5 QRP cw transmitter. It appears to work ok. It also has 5 old xtals for it for the 40 mtr band. It is in very good condition considering it's age. I have the box and instructions for it as well.

I'm curious how popular these units were? Did any of you use them? Were they reliable? The postmark on the original box shows 1969 as the ship date. How long were they around for? How much did they sell for?

Thanks for any info.

From your own verbose post, it is clear that other people have been annoyed at your email spam for quite some time.

As is typical of people who, in my opinion, are arguing from a losing position, the supporting material keeps growing almost without bounds. You can find similarly long-winded and documented posts over in alt.conspiracy.

Maybe when all of this started it was a good idea, but the net has changed greatly since 1992. The commercialization of the net led to a Usenet spam problem that the huge influx of new users made inevitable. If it hadn't been for the efforts of people who were attempting to stop spam, Usenet could have easily gone down the tubes. The anti spam activities made some fundamental changes in the way that Usenet is administered; i.e., it isn't the same Usenet that you were using in 1992.

Email spam also became a problem. Major ISPs took the worst spammers to court because they were tying up their mail servers. They accused the spammers of theft of services and won. Several states made spam illegal, although that's a tough thing to enforce. The point is: People began to HATE spam and spammers. They got tired of picking nits about what is and what is not email spam, as you just did.

To them, ANY unsolicited email is spam. Period. Send someone unsolicited email, and these ISPs will warn you the first time they receive a complaint about your email. There is no second warning; further complaints result in termination of your account. AOL is one such ISP.

All of that notwithstanding, email is probably a pretty inefficient and intrusive way to get your "FAQ" across. Since 1992, a thing called the web has emerged and has become the dominant way that people now get information over the net. Information servers like "Archie", "Veronica", etc. have all fallen by the wayside since the web was created. What may have been the simplest way to reach the user in 1992 has now been rendered passï¿½ if not obsolete for the purpose of promulgating FAQs -- even Usenet FAQs. It is far less efficient than placing the document on a web page somewhere and simply providing people with the URL.

For that reason, many news groups don't publish FAQs any more often than "now and then", and rely instead on a server such as rtfm.mit.edu to hold the information. I know of no group, except this one, in which such things are automatically mailed to its posters, and I think that is a grave mistake.

You unwittingly place yourself in the company of spammers when you email things to people without being asked, and many of them will have a very negative reaction both to your email and to you, as you have obviously discovered. They have been so pummeled by unwanted spam that their knee-jerk reaction will be to count you as yet another net lowlife.

I would think that is precisely what you don't want to have happen when reaching out to a prospective amateur.

Web pages are free these days. Take it there. You can't make the claim that you can't afford it.

But I suspect there's really another reason these things are mailed out to hapless posters on r.r.a.m., and I've already given it. I don't expect you to change at all, but simply to come up with some more rationalizations as to why you silently maintain that old-fashioned email engine.

OK, you did it yet again! What does "nlay" mean? You're getting quite good at this, Wogie. Is your "methjadone" wearing off? Or was that just another

No, I like how the regulars in alt.2600 called you a liar and a hypocrite for trying to win a flame war by trying to get my account cancelled.
They also knew you don't know what the fuck you are talking about, to wit:

evident from you mentioning Kevin Mitnick, he got caught being a criminal, not a hacker. Kevin Mitnick was in prison for several years, and until recently, as a condition of his parole, he was prohibited from using a computer, or even talking about them, so it's pretty much a given that he is not posting here. If he was, he sure as hell wouldn't be calling himself Kevin Mitnick. Emmanuel Goldstein has enough troubles, and has an all consuming lawsuit to deal with, I doubt he has the time or energy to post here, or anywhere for that matter. I don't know who the hell Susan Thunder is, but it doesn't really matter, because there are enough knowledgeable people that post

Hello All;

Just purchased an Icom 746, and I think the radio may have a problem. It doesn't seem to pick up anything on most of the bands, and on 40 and 20 meters it only picks up a few signals, and only with the preamps on. It barely even picks up WWV. I have a good antenna, and have tried the rig on other antennas with similar results. Any advice or suggestions, particularly from people who own this rig?

Thanks.

Well, along with deregulation and downgrading tests (commercial licenses as well as amateur), has come the all-knobs-to-the-right operators. Even FRS transceivers (which are SUPPOSED to be not-user-adjustable) have had their deviation turned up to make it 'loud'. Maybe the CW forever gang has a point. Myself, I enjoy 440 FM. You'd be surprised how close by the control ops are. These are not the 'NUT' control op types. Show up on one off frequency or over-deviated and watch how fast the control op shows up (time usually can be measured in milliseconds).

You also don't see many ham stations using Orban 8200 processors, either (they cost a LOT more than the most top-end rig).

As far as broadcast audio quality goes, don't get me started now that the setting of the processors has been almost universally taken out of the hands of the engineering staff and given over to program directors and air staff.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHA.that's not what the letter said, dumbfuck.
Jizzswallowing recepticle used to be an FCC employee but was fired twice for jamming while drunk. He also has quite a traffic conviction record for DWI.

Jizzswallowing Recepticle can tell us all about jamming repeaters with music, but his main monetary goal is selling the kiddie porn and drugs to kids. He even makes his own kids participate in the kiddie porn.

Roger was caught several times but begged Riley not to make it public. Roger cried like a baby, so Riley slapped Roger's wrist, made him retest and promise not to misbehave on the ham bands again. Yes, Roger has quite a lengthy violation record with the FCC. Then, there has always remained the question of the character of his Air Force discharge. Hmmmmmm.

Mr. George A. Ashley 1138 Collierville Arlington Road
Collierville, TN 38017

Subject: Warning Notice: Amateur Radio Station W4FQF

Dear Mr. Ashely:

Information before the Commission indicates that you have engaged in deliberate interference on the 75 Meter Amateur Band (3.901 MHz) at various times since October 2000. Some of the interference included tape recordings. We note that on January 7, 1999 you were warned about such activities on the 20- Meter Amateur Band.

This constitutes a second warning that any further incidents of such operation will result in enforcement action being taken against you, including license revocation, monetary forfeiture, or both.

Section 308(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 18 U.S.C. Section 308(b), gives the Commission the authority to obtain information from licensees about the operation of their station. Pursuant to Section 308(b), you are requested to respond to this letter within 20 days of the above date. You are also requested to furnish the following information.
1. Describe the radio transmitting equipment, including antennas, you have at the 1138 Collierville Arlington Road Address. State the manufacturer, model and serial number of each item. If any items were constructed or modified by you, describe the item in detail.
2. Describe any radio transmitting equipment, including antennas, you have at any other address in Tennessee. State the manufacturer, model and serial number of each item. If any items were constructed or modified by you, describe the item in detail.

Please be advised that Congress has made punishable a willfully false response to a letter of this type. See 18 U.S.C. Section 1001.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

Back in the days before www, pre mosaic, pre xrn, ...everything pretty much fitted into one long dead news group, I forget the name, rec.ham-radio? Something like that. It was formed in the 1980s but I did not come across it until we got rn in 1991. It was about then that the original group organisation became too small and fragmented into the rec.radio groups. It has been over 10 years, we are not all new to this.

I have a YAESU FT757 GII that I haven't used for about 1 year, during the weekend I reconnected my transceiver but there seems to be a problem :
When I plug in the 3-conductor jack from my manual CW-key (that I have used for years on this RIG) on the back side of the transceiver I immediately get the CW sidetone, when I press the VOX button I sent out a CW carrier.
I first thought there was a problem with the wiring to the key, causing a permanent close of the key, but I measured it and it is completely normal. I get the same result with a non-connected 3-conductor plug !

What could be wrong ? I'm out of the electronic stuff since years so any help would be appreciated , I'd like to get back on the air in CW mode.

Thanks !

What's "They guy?" Maybe you are the one needing the dictionary, you cowardly , gutless punk. You are the one who got lambasted by alt.2600, mainly for attacking COTSE. Or has all that drug use destroyed your short-term memory, punk?

In fact, Gielda chastized your ass for whining to him.

Message-ID: <MPG.14f8c0c6d9215288989a3b@news.supernews.com>:
"Cotse does not care about flamewars, unless they violate our policies.
You are involved in a flamewar and you want to win it by terminating your opponents account. Sorry, we do not take sides in flamewars.
Radio operators are always feuding, both on and off the air.

You claim all this libel. Well, if that is true then you need to subpoena our logs and sue the person for libel. We will turn over logs upon subpoena after giving our user 14 days to quash if they desire.
That is under the law. Then you can properly address all this claimed libel.

The only one who can judge libel is a judge in a court of law who has fully heard both sides. We are not a judge. If you sue and win, meaning it is shown by a court of law to be libel then we will terminate the account for libel. We cannot play judge and investigate every shout of libel. Libel is for a court to decide, not an ISP.

Also, you have it correct in your later post. If you do not wish to read this posters posts then add @cotse.com to your kill file and you won't see any more. Stop it by killfiling , ignoring, and not playing the flame game. But, I don't believe that you want to stop the flamewar. This is evidenced by the crossposts to the nose and all kinds of other groups to fan the flames by you numerous times (not just this

to handle the situation by terminating the account.

Held accountable? Sure. If a LAW is broken, anyone is held accountable by a court of law. By Cotse's terms of service, and I have read them, there doesnt seem to be a way of staying within them and breaking the law.
You break the terms, you are in violation and it specifically states, your account may be terminated.

Is it Cotse's responsibility to monitor every single post made by their users? No you friggin idiot. It's the responsibility of the viewers to notify of complaints, if these complaints do not violate their Terms or a law, who the hell are you to try and be a NetCop?

Get a fucking life!

Just because something pisses you off doesnt mean you are within your rights to DEMAND THE ACCOUNT BE TERMINATED!!! Fuck off loser.

Personally, I like to see those posts. I think it should be against your ISP's Terms of Service to try and stop the postings. I think I will complain to your ISP that you are irritating the hell out of me and I will try and get your account terminated.

Who does that sound like? You perhaps?

Loser.

Are you an ignorant fucking WebTV user? You act like it.

First there was AOL'ers, now there is WebTV. It's nice for AOL'ers to finally have someone to pick-on.

You get your No-Code first? Cant do Morse? I bet you dont know the difference between a Zener Diode and a Transistor.

I bet you keep goats in the house for companionship... Or maybe it's just the smell eminating from your boyfriend's ass that smells like a goat.

I bet you suck the jack-bumps off your boyfriend's balls don't you?

You are a sick, sick person. You need help. You need to seek a professional psycho-therapist to help you in your time of need.

Typo lamer., Georgie, lacking any real ability to debate what was said, it's endemic of his on the air-conversations. Which are few and far between for the jammer Jizzswallowing recepticle. Poor Georgie, did you learn not to get drunk and jam on the air. Apparently not, since you been expanding your jamming of repeaters to back on HF.

Knock yourself out, fuckhead. I didn't get a letter where I had to list all my equipment, you lardass. Shall we post the ones for your jamming unidentified and getting fired from the FCC, ex-janitor boy?

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows".
Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation.

According to part 97, and we quote,
" ⁄97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

There are some shining counterexamples, too, like the guys I was listening to yesterday morning (Sunday 13 Jan) on 40 meters; they had _lovely_ sound: clear as a bell, full, rich, low-calorie^W^W^W everything you could want -- and on SSB, too. And it wasn't all due to my FRG-100, either: some other QSOs nearby sounded like a heavy metal band singing. No, I didn't get the call for the guys with the good signal, but I'll listen again next Sunday AM.

I'm in the Oklahoma City area (5-land), but I think that the good QSO was a K0 talking with a VEsomething. _Good_ longwire antenna!

gee,
thanks for giving us your nntp-postying-host IP address.
this will certainly make it easier for the fcc to know who you are (even if its a dialup, they can request the call logs and have your name and phone number in minutes).

as for an answer to your question: no, its not legal in any case.

you'll just have to learn like the rest of us poor slobs (I also suffer severe adhd as well as a severe visual impairement. that didn't stop me).

Say Billy, it doesn't cost anywhere near $1000. You can get any class license for a crisp $50 bill at most any VEC session.
Roger, KC8JBO, will be along here shortly to help you with the details, as that is how Roger got his license. Just ask Roger.
Isn't that right Roger? However, you will have to learn first to $10.00, stupid. But you're too stupid to get $10.00 because you usually spend your money on crack cocaine.

Poor anonymous COWARD, any "sick talk" gets him off, much like when he beats up women. That's the only kind of people this dickless wonder can beat up

He even beat up his own mother, according to his criminal record. Isn't that He's also a fucking hypocrite. Called me racist, on the basis of nothing take a close look at who is doing what. I think you'll find that it is roughly 6 individuals that are responsible for most of the trash here-abouts..

For the most part, a vast majority of the "real hams" just sit back and laugh at all this, mostly because its too silly to take seriously.

Doug,
Notice the "tag line" of this forum? "FLAME FEST", correct? If everyone got along, there wouldn't be such an animal. The forum was designed by and for battlers and if anyone takes it to heart, he's screwy. This forum of battling nuts and flakes doesn't represent ham radio. Don't believe it? In your USENET menu, type in radio and see how many references come up for HAM. I'd guess anywhere from 50-100. How many of them are devoted to 10 rounds of boxing? Maybe one or two at best. So stop your shrecking. I say that 99% of the stuff attributed to KC8JBO are forgeries.99% of the bigoted stuff written by Lloyd is done by ghostwriters even though he is a White Supremacist. But keep in mind that the overwhelming majority of stuff you read here is nothing but fun and no one is out to really injure anyone, so I suggest you mind your own damn business, stop your bitching and get drooping ass out of here!

By golly, we defer to Roger's expertise. If he says that the VEs only cost $10, then it goes without saying that he is correct.

He's been there, done that, got the T-shirt (and the license).

Yes, YOU Stagger Lee:

Idiot-at-Large Village Idiot
Perpetual Moron

You have shown your ignorance, your inability to rationalize a situation, your inability to show even the smallest amount of intelligence.

You speak as a Cyber Cop... Is that what you look at yourself as being? As self-imposed-marshal-of-usenet?
Is that your little mission in life? You seek to impose your views on everyone else and to hell with the accepted norms.

Idiot.

Fuck Head.

Loser.

Are you an ignorant fucking WebTV user? You act like it.

First there was AOL'ers, now there is WebTV. It's nice for AOL'ers to finally have someone to pick-on.

You get your No-Code first? Cant do Morse? I bet you dont know the difference between a Zener Diode and a Transistor.

I bet you keep goats in the house for companionship...
Or maybe it's just the smell eminating from your boyfriend's ass that smells like a goat.

I bet you suck the jack-bumps off your boyfriend's balls don't you?

You are a sick, sick person. You need help. You need to seek a professional psycho-therapist to help you in your time of need.

Oh, you mean the same "Turd Fredricks" who booted your ass time and again out of alt.2600?
Towit:

Turd Fredericks wrote this note denying any responsibility:
"The guy (Stagger Lee) is a total idiot. To give you a little background, he criticizes cotse for not cancelling accounts of people he doesn't agree with, I shot back with something calling him an idiot for not being able to learn how to use a kill file, and he starts calling me stupid and that I am supporting thugs and terrorists (or something like that). Eventually, I managed to get rid of him, but

But the anonymous degenerate punk Faggot Lee still has to pass the ham license. Maybe he can't afford the exam fee. Let's all make a donation for the welfare leech Stagger Lee. Maybe the punk will forego downloading kiddie porn and wacking off to teen porn sites long enough to actually take an exam.

we stay at the dayton tall timbers in brookville..about 10 mins from hara arena. it's off i-70 and its a lovely park. be advised that they do NOT take reservations for the week of hamvention. if you want a full hookup site you are best advised to get there no later than midday tuesday. by late thursday you'll probably be in the dry camp overflow. buses will run from the campground to the arena. we'll be there on monday this year. hope to see you there.

Hello all,

I came across an old Omega Electronics LT-5 QRP cw transmitter. It appears to work ok. It also has 5 old xtals for it for the 40 mtr band. It is in very good condition considering it's age. I have the box and instructions for it as well.

I'm curious how popular these units were? Did any of you use them? Were they reliable? The postmark on the original box shows 1969 as the ship date. How long were they around for? How much did they sell for?

Thanks for any info.

If you are going to use it for a BBS, then you won't need any software. Have a look at (http://www.f6fbb.org) for the software.

I have a bunch of spare 1270 manuals. I can ship you one for the cost of shipping. What is your QTH?

Ham Radio University 2002/ARRL New York City-Long Island Section Convention

Ham Radio University 2002 for Long Island

North Babylon, New York - On Sunday, January 20, 2002 at 8AM, the doors of the Babylon Town Hall Annex on Phelps Lane will open for the third annual Ham Radio University. Ham Radio University 2002 is a day of education about Amateur Radio.

This year the forums have been expanded and new forums have been added. There will be twenty, one-hour presentations with special forums geared to the non-ham as well as the experienced ham radio operator. The focus will be "hands on" with many demonstrations.

Come join us at the Babylon Town Hall Annex, Phelps Lane, North Babylon, Long Island, and learn about everything from satellite communications, low power operating using radios as small as a tuna tin, how to put up an emergency antenna, the latest information on advanced digital communications, finding and fixing radio frequency interference problems to purchasing your first station equipment or handi-talkie and a special "Ask the Experts" forum. There will also be a Special Event Station W2V set up and operational on HF. There will live SSTV pictures uploaded to the NLI WWW during the event.

HRU 2002 is sponsored by the Great South Bay ARC and is a cooperative effort between over twenty clubs and organizations in the New York City- Long Island area. It is also the American Radio Relay League, New York City-Long Island Section Convention. Besides the forums, there will be tables set up with information about the different groups, ham radio classes, exam session schedules, public service and other activities.

Join us for a day of fun and education for the whole family!

748. Q: USA - 446 MHz frequency for PMR use available?

Hi,

hope someone in the USA knows the answers to this question and is kind enough to help:

I own two European PMR mobile radios (Motorola T6222) which transmit on these channels with 0,5W power / and max 3 miles range:

Channel 1 - 446.00625 Mhz
Channel 2 - 446.01875 Mhz
Channel 3 - 446.03125 Mhz
Channel 4 - 446.04375 Mhz
Channel 5 - 446.05625 Mhz
Channel 6 - 446.06875 Mhz
Channel 7 - 446.08125 Mhz
Channel 8 - 446.09375 Mhz

Are any of these frequencies open for private use in the USA or - if not, is any of those channels likely not to cause any interference?

755. Why do I need a carbon monoxide detector?

What is carbon monoxide (CO) and why do I need a carbon monoxide detector in my rented hovel?

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless, tasteless and toxic gas produced as a by-product of combustion. Any fuel burning appliance, vehicle, tool or other device has the potential to produce dangerous levels of carbon monoxide gas. Examples of carbon monoxide producing devices commonly in use around the home include:

Fuel fired furnaces (non-electric) Kerosene space heaters Propane Heaters
Charcoal grills
Automobiles
The Consumer Products Safety Commission (CPSC) reports that approximately 200 people per year are killed by accidental CO poisoning with an additional 5000 people injured. These deaths and injuries are typically caused by improperly used or malfunctioning equipment aggravated by improvements in building construction which limit the amount of fresh air flowing in to homes and other structures.

While regular maintenance and inspection of gas burning equipment in the home can minimize the potential for exposure to CO gas, the possibility for some type of sudden failure resulting in a potentially life threatening build up of gas always exists.

What are the medical effects of carbon monoxide, how are they different from a cheap beer drunk, and how do I recognize them?

Carbon monoxide inhibits the blood's ability to carry oxygen to body tissues including vital organs such as the heart and brain. When CO is inhaled, it combines with the oxygen carrying hemoglobin of the blood to form carboxyhemoglobin. Once combined with the hemoglobin, that hemoglobin is no longer available for transporting oxygen. How quickly the carboxyhemoglobin builds up is a factor of the concentration of the gas being inhaled (measured in parts per million or PPM) and the duration of the exposure. Compounding the effects of the exposure is the long half-life of carboxyhemoglobin in the blood. Half-life is a measure of how quickly levels return to normal. The half-life of carboxyhemoglobin is approximately 5 hours. This means that for a given exposure level, it will take about 5 hours for the level of carboxyhemoglobin in the blood to drop to half its current level after the exposure is terminated.

1930's or early 1940's 1KW AM/CW HF transmitter. Some could use cleaning. Zero-set screws work. Movements free when rocked.
Deflection when tested using ohmmeter. Digital pictures available. All are mfd by Triplett.

In ITU Region 2 (including the USA), the 70cm amateur radio band is 420-450MHz. These frequencies are not available for the PMR service. However, if you hold a valid amateur radio license (where either the alien permit is obtained or not required by treaty), you could legally use these frequencies.

As for interference, it depends on where in the USA one is. Some areas have the frequencies around 446MHz as simplex while others have it for repeater outputs. The potential is there.

I don't know if that could be classified as a handicap, only your M.D. could determine that . I don't think they give a code waiver anymore, but 5 w.p.m. isn't that bad. I had to pass the 13 wpm before and did so, unlike these

Post it, fuckwit. Bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

Let's review one of Lllllllllllllllllllardassss Lllllllllllllllllllllllllllllllloyd's arrests:

The Great Pumpkin
Birmingham Post-Herald
October 14, 2000

Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal Courthouse Jail.
Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and he's... just working away at this pumpkin."

Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then looked me straight in the face and said,
'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

Poor Llllardasssssss Lllllloyd, and he has other arrests because he was caught slurping nutsacks behind dumptsers.
That new church hasn't helped you, has it manic depression FATASS Lllllllllllllloyd?

Say Wogey, what in the hell is a "clearence"? Do you mean "clearance"? Learn to spell FUCKWIT! And just why did you need a high level clearance? You were not an active flyer, so you did not need to miss low hanging objects, thus you did not need a high level clearance. Only those serving in actual flying jobs need a high level clearance, so that they will not collide with low hanging objects in their path of travel! Guess we caught you in

You can send it to the address on their web page, and for $35 they will give it a good tuneup and/or

It wasn't about POSTING spam, Numbnuts. It was about EMAILING spam.
According to many ISPs, email spam == unsolicited email.

Paul sends unsolicited email.

And Usenet spam has no specific definition? Go to the abuse news groups and read about BI. You'll find that, if you reach a certain BI with your Usenet posts, the spam cancelers will kill your posts -- the only time it is considered acceptable to cancel the posts of someone else.

Paul hasn't spammed on Usenet, and no one said he did, Numbnuts. Learn to read with comprehension.

Did you check the key? Is it locked down? Does it have a tune-up lever that is closed?

Have you opened the plug and checked it out for shorts? If you are using stranded hook-up wire, one tiny strand is enough to cause a short.

Why are you using a 3-conductor plug on a straight key? Try a two conductor plug.

Try inserting a 3-conductor and a 2-conductor plug with nothing connected to them -- just plugs -- and see what happens.

Poor welfare recipient, Hey, Georgeie Girl, are you still letting that wife of yours work while you collect food stamps?

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!

Georgie Girl W2ZB
(The Seekers)

Hey there, Georgie girl,
Waddling down the street so fancy free,
Nobody you meet could ever see
The pervertedness there -- inside you.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
Why can't you let all the boys just pass you by?
Could it be you just don't try,
Or is it the women's clothes you wear?

You're always window shopping, but never stopping to buy;
So shed those boa feathers and fly -- a little bit.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
There's another Georgie deep inside.
Bring out all the manlove you hide,
And oh, what a change there'd be.
The world would see
A new Georgie girl.

(Instrumental bridge)

Hey there, Georgie girl,
Dreamin' of the someone you could be,
Life is a reality;
You can't always run away.

Don't be so scared of changing and rearranging yourself;
It's time for putting slurping cum on the shelf -- a little bit.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
There's another Georgie deep inside.
Bring out all the teenboy love you hide,
And oh, what a change there'd be.

The world would see
A new Georgie girl.

Ad lib and fade:
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Wake up, Georgie girl.
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Go away, Georgie girl.
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Try and keep that job, Georgie girl.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation. According to part 97, and we quote,
" ¬97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

CO binds with hemoglobin (red blood cells), the part of blood that carries oxygen to the body, 700 times faster than oxygen. Once a red blood cell has CO on it.... the CO will not leave! The result is a red blood that will no longer carry oxygen. That is why people die of CO poisoning hours after the smoke inhalation sometimes.

Like I said, this link is just a sound clip of some moron with a speech impediment (Actually, it just sounds like he needs to swallow his spit) bitching about how cheap Radio Shack products are. It's hardly what I call the "truth."

But, look at the following tidbit I received in my Yahoo mailbox in response to my original posting.

>Racist fag going to hell!
>i have forward your slander to the authorities.

First of all, slander is when something is spoken, libel is when it's written. Posting an opinion of your piddly-assed link could hardly be considered libel, so go ahead and forward anything you want to the authorites. However, with your sound clip on line for all to hear, it's clear that you're slandering Radio Shack. (Didn't think about that one, did you?) Second, complaining about your speech impediment is not racist, but there is a chance you could make a guest appearance on Howard Stern's radio show, since he has a thing for people like you. Who know's? Maybe he'll have some Penthouse Pet on that day, and she'll have sympathy for you, and she'll let you touch her boobs for a second or two. Finally, know that any e-mail sent to my Yahoo account will get posted as I see fit, as was just done.

In short, it looks like someone should fuck you in the ear to give you some brains.

Bill,

There use to be a medical waver available for the Morse Code test but since they reduced the Morse Code requirements I believe they dropped the waver. I don't remember that there was ever a waver for the written tests. I don't see any mention of a medical waver in the fcc rules any more.

Here is a link to the regulations governing amateur licensing.
You can look through it yourself but I don't think you will find anything.

http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara/cfr/waisidx_00/47cfr97_00.html

For more information on obtaining a amateur license try:

http://wireless.fcc.gov/amateur/http://www.arrl.org
http://www.qrz.com

These sites will have links to even more sites.

Even if you were to apply for some type of waver you would need a physician's certification indicating the nature of your disability.
Testing stations are bound to accomodate any physical disabilities.

As far as price, well I'm sure if you search hard enough you might find a unscrupulous VEC that will sell you a license but it doesn't cost that much. Some have eluded to $50 and others $10 but it only cost me $6.45 each time I went in for testing. The exact amount will vary depending on where you take the test. The money is only to cover filing fees and no profit is made. My Novice was free, the General test and 13 WPM code cost $6.45, and the Advanced/Extra and 20 WPM tests cost $6.45. So for $12.90 I got it all. Of course if you don't pass the first time, they will charge you again. But it's still cheap.

The best thing you can do is go to "http://www.arrl.org" and look up a club in your local area. Visit the club and find out how they can help. And the help will probably be for FREE, not $1000.

Good Luck, I'll be listening for you on the air.

821. High Voltage Arcing??

We have a problem (when we are burning in some high voltage tubes), with the anode arcing over to the filament. The anode is being run at 60 Kilovolts, with a current of 5 milliamps. The filament is being run by a transformer, through some relay contacts. The arcing plays havoc with the relay contacts, and some other circuitry. I would like to short out these high voltage spikes, before they get to the relay contacts. Would a varistor be capable of handling this kind of spike? Is there a better way to do this? Are all 300 watts, being fed back to the relay contacts, or is much of it being dissipated by the tube? Any help or input would be appreciated.
Thanks in advance,
Brian

this guy is lucky that someone doesn't contact RS H.Q. with his link who may in turn contact earthlink to find out who this bozo is and sue his ass for all he's got and if under 18 as he sounds, his parents too for allowing it.

I have shopped at RS since I was 8 (21 Years), I only buy RS Scanners and audio (MP3) players

Some of the employees leave something to be desired but that does not mean that the products are substandard.

This guy best not let me find out who he is, cause I' m the type to contact RS H.Q. and deliver him to them in Texas.

When that misguided cat ejaculated in Roger's ear he mistakenly looked at is as a compliment. Nobody had ever cared enough about Roger to do something so loving, so tender, and so thoughtful as that.
Roger has decided that it would now be a good idea to keep his mom's house stocked with catnip should his paramour return. He leaves the bedroom window open and stocks a few Band-Aids in the night stand. Why the Band-Aids? Well, felines, when mating, have a tendency to lock their claws into the "love object" as they copulate and Roger has a few scratches on and about his left ear from the last love fest.
When Roger's mom noticed the scratches on and about his bulbous little head she asked him what caused his injuries. Roger, nonplussed, replied, "Well, Mom, it was late, I was lonely and I had a date. I was just getting a little pussy. And all this time you thought I was gay."
Roger's mom was not overly upset about this because Roger is, after all, almost fifty years old and she knows he has very few, if any adult friends. Marie said to her beloved son, "Getting a little pussy is probably what you boys do, but next time would you tell her to trim her fingernails and stop screaming so loudly. I was up half the night listening to her scream."
Roger agreed that any future visits from his feline friend would be more discreet, but only after agreeing to introduce his newest love to his mother.
Romance is in the air in Glen Dale, West Virginia! Ah, such sweet music!

Poor welfare recipient, Hey, Georgeie Girl, are you still letting that wife of yours work while you collect food stamps?

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!

Georgie Girl W2ZB
(The Seekers)

Hey there, Georgie girl,
Waddling down the street so fancy free,
Nobody you meet could ever see
The pervertedness there -- inside you.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
Why can't you let all the boys just pass you by?
Could it be you just don't try,
Or is it the women's clothes you wear?

You're always window shopping, but never stopping to buy;
So shed those boa feathers and fly -- a little bit.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
There's another Georgie deep inside.
Bring out all the manlove you hide,
And oh, what a change there'd be.
The world would see
A new Georgie girl.

(Instrumental bridge)

Hey there, Georgie girl,
Dreamin' of the someone you could be,
Life is a reality;
You can't always run away.

Don't be so scared of changing and rearranging yourself;
It's time for putting slurping cum on the shelf -- a little bit.
Hey there, Georgie girl,
There's another Georgie deep inside.
Bring out all the teenboy love you hide,
And oh, what a change there'd be.
The world would see
A new Georgie girl.

Ad lib and fade:
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Wake up, Georgie girl.
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Go away, Georgie girl.
(Hey there, Georgie girl.)
Try and keep that job, Georgie girl.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation. According to part 97, and we quote,
" §97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

Drug Possession Defendant Stagger Lee, on trial in November, 2001 in SHITHOLE county, said he had been searched without a warrant. The prosecutor said the officer didn't need a warrant because a "bulge" in Lee's jacket could have been a gun.
"Nonsense," said Stagger Lee, who happened to be wearing the same jacket that day in court. He handed it over so the judge could see it. The judge discovered a packet of cocaine in the pocket and laughed so hard he required a five minute recess to compose himself.

"suspection", but Tom Ridge is going to get the Athens, AL nutsack slurper's number real soon.]

Poor Lardass Lllllllloyd. Steve the gopher faced Turdeater has that big $WD truck to overcompensate in inadequacies in the bedroom. Not that Sterile Steve could conceive children, he's been shooting blanks after the police subdued him.

Steve only has served burgers and fries. He's too much of a COWARD to serve except in the girl scout troop. The gopher faced Sterile Steve was a safe bet and no threat to the other girls.
Llardasssss lllloyd would like Sterile steve to get a sample of his nutsack

Hi!

I want to take my HamRadio Equipment to my holiday. And I want to use Pactor and PSK31. But I've only a small pentium 100 laptop with 32 MB RAM and no(!) Soundcard.
Is there a (cheap) hardware (may be homebrew or kit) solution for an external decoder putting the decoded signals into the RS232 of my Laptop - like a modem?

Thank you!

Based upon the keyword "cheap" - not that I know of. I think the SCS PTC-II series is the only one that can do PSK31 without a sound card and it's not "cheap" by my standards :-0

The new Kantronics KAM XL can do PSK-31 and Pactor without the sound card. It's on $399.00. And of course Pacterm for Windows will run on a 486 or better with the KAM XL. Pacterm for Windows lets you use point and click "Zoom/Tune" for tuning the PSK-31 signal with the XL. It is less expensive than the PTC-II series and both a very good TNCs.

Steve went to visit Roger just to invite Roger to lunch and talk friendly. But Roger hid behind Big Marie's curtains and played peeeeek-a-boo curtains boy with Steve. Too bad Woger, Steve is a nice guy. Of course, you don't go to lunch with real men. You prefer the Lavendar Lounge behind O'Leary's Hourly Motel.

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: NEW ANTENNAS INSTALLED ON THE ISS

An American astronaut and a Russian cosmonaut ventured into space on Monday January 14th to move a construction crane and install a new set of ham radio antennas on the International Space Station. Roy Neal, K6DUE, has the details.

THERE IT WAS, ON NASA TELEVISION, TWO WHITE SPACE SUITED CHARACTERS, DWARFED BY THE IMMENSITY OF THE INTERNATIONAL SPACE STATION. FOR THE 32ND TIME ASTRONAUTS AND COSMONAUTS WERE OUTSIDE THE HUGE SPACECRAFT TO ASSEMBLE HARDWARE.

THEIR PRIMARY OBJECTIVE WAS TO MOVE A BIG CARGO CRANE FROM ITS TEMPORARY BERTH ON THE UNITED STATES SIDE OF THE ORBITING OUTPOST TO A PERMANENT LOCATION OUTSIDE THE DOCKING COMPARTMENT OF THE RUSSIAN CONTROL MODULE.

THAT ACCOMPLISHED, THEY WENT ON TO UNFURL A HAM RADIO ANTENNA. ASTRONAUT CARL WALTZ, KC5TIE AND COSMONAUT YURI ONUFRIENKO, RK3DUO, DEPLOYED THE RIBBON OF TAPE THAT SOON WILL BE IN USE ON A HAM RADIO STATION IN THE SERVICE MODULE,. WHERE THE CREWS LIVE AND SLEEP. A SECOND STATION HAS BEEN IN SERVICE FOR SOME TIME INSIDE THE SO CALLED FUNCTIONAL CARGO BLOCK, ANOTHER SECTION OF THE I S S.

FRANK BAUER, KA3HDO, THE CHAIRMAN OF ARISS, THE GROUP THAT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR AMATEUR RADIO ON THE SPACE STATION, CONGRATULATED THE INTERNATIONAL TEAM OF LICENSED HAMS FOR THE SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION TO MONTHS OF HARD WORK.

ON JANUARY 25th ONUFRIENKO IS SCHEDULED TO GO OUTSIDE AGAIN, WITH FLIGHT ENGINEER DAN BURSCH, KD5PNU, TO INSTALL 3 MORE HAM RADIO ANTENNAS OUTSIDE THE MODULE THEY CALL ZVEZDA, THE CREW COMPARTMENT THAT'S THE SIZE OF A PASSENGER BUS HERE ON EARTH.

HAM RADIO IS GROWING RAPIDLY IN SPACE, ALONG WITH THE INTERNATIONAL STATION ON WHICH IT'S INSTALLED.

FOR THE AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE, ROY NEAL, K6DUE

The Expedition 4 crew will remain on board the ISS until May. And according to Frank Bauer, KA3HDO, another important task is to bring the automatic packet system back on line. He says that ground technicians are working with the astronauts and cosmonaut on that project and that task will continue as crew time permits. (ARNewsline from information provided by ARISS, NASA.)

HAM RADIO RECORDS: 24 GHZ DOWN-UNDER

A new distance record is set on a band where even commercial interests are only now starting to tread. And its a group of Australian hams who have set it. Q-News Graham Kemp, VK4BB, has the details:

A new Queensland distance record on 24.048.1 GHz USB was established morning of Tuesday 08 January over a 72.8 Km path. Location 1 was at Wellington Point, with VK3ZQB and VK4ZHL portable. Location 2 was at Caloundra, with VK3XPD and VK5DK portable operating.

Signals strengths up to 5x5 after initial optimization with typical daytime QSB. The visiting team are continuing with local propagation experiments. The challenges of building and operating microwave amateur radio equipment are wonderfully rewarding in many ways!

From Q-News Australia, I’m Graham Kemp, VK4BB, for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

Further experimentation is expected to bring even more record setting contacts in this very microwave ham radio band. (Q-News)

RESTRUCTURING: BIG LICENSING SUCCESS IN THE UK

A new slow-code license recently introduced in the United Kingdom is also setting records. This in the area of people flocking to get it. Jeramy Boot, G4NJH, days that the new British Foundation License is on its way to becoming a major success:

The Radio Licensing Center reports that, as of the 7th of January, exactly 600 of the new M3 Foundation Licenses had been issued.

In the 'QSO Party' for Foundation Licensees that took place on the 1st of January it is estimated that about 100 M3 stations were active. Many joined the one-minute-past-midnight 80-meter net and many more were heard working DX during the subsequent days.

One person active on the 1st of January was Mike Marsden, M3BQH, who also holds the callsign G8BQH. Mike reports that he worked Alex, UR5EDU, in the Ukraine at two seconds past midnight, using 10 watts on 40 meters. The report was 59+10dB. After a few hours' sleep M3BQH worked 66 stations on the first day, with only two short CQ calls.

"The pile-up queue was never ending, I even managed to work seven other M3s", Mike said.

Jeramy Boot, G4NJH

To put this in perspective. The UK has 57,814 hams so 600 is about 1%. Here in the United States we have close to 625,000 licensees. That’s the equivalent of getting 6250 hams signing up for a new license class here in the USA in only a few short days. (GB2RS)

RADIO REGULATIONS: FCC'S APPROVES DRAFT WRC PROPOSALS

The FCC’s Advisory Committee for the year 2003 World Radiocommunications Conference has approved its preliminary draft proposals. The document has been assigned as D-A-02-101 and deals mainly with satellite and terrestrial allocations in the UHF and microwave bands. Amateur Radio is only briefly mentioned in the area of 890 to 1350 MHz allocations.

The Advisory Committee itself was formed in January of 2001 to assist in the development of United States proposals for WRC 2003. DA-02-101 is based primarily on the committee report. Comments on it are due on it no later than January 28th.

The complete of 55 page text of DA-02-101 is on the FCC website at http://hraunfoss.fcc.gov/edocs_public/attachmatch/DA-02-101A1.txt (FCC)

ENFORCEMENT: CLEAN UP THE INTERFERENCE - PLEASE

The FCC has written to an A-M radio station and an electric power provider to help resolve an unusual and long-standing interference situation. One affecting local amateurs in the Cincinnati and Mason Ohio areas. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA, brings us up to date:

The letter suggests that multiple sources may be involved in this interference case. Also that two that are possibilities are Cinergy Corporation and radio station WLW. Cinergy is the electric company to the affected area and WLW is a Clear Channel Communications owned power-house AM station serving the greater Cincinnati area from a transmitter in Mason.

WLW operates on 700 kHz with 50,000 Watts into a single element diamond shaped half-wave vertical tower. This is only one of two such towers left in the United States, the other belonging to WSM AM in Nashville Tennessee. Both were constructed in the early 1930's by the now defunct Blaw Knox Construction Corporation.

One of the amateurs affected is Bob Reiff, WA8ULW, of Mason. Reiff told the ARRL Letter that while the noise is most noticeable on 160 meters, it's showing up elsewhere. He says that some local hams suspect it is even causing problems even on a two meter repeater.

In its letters, the Commission says that it recognizes this to be an unusual case. It says that the source of the interference could turn out to be something else unexpected. But the Commission adds that it is turning to the radio station and electric utility company and asking for their help in finding the source of the noise plaguing the Mason ham community. It's also asking that both cooperate with the technical experts from the American Radio Relay League in solving the problem.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA.

By the way, More information on this very interesting Blaw Knox diamond tower design and the ones installed at both WLW and WSM is available on-line. Simply take your browser to http://www.wsmonline.com/w_homepage/tower/index.html. Its very interesting reading. (FCC, ARRL, Amateur News Weekly)

ENFORCEMENT: UNLICENSED OPERATOR TOLD TO EXPLAIN

A former ham that the FCC says may have been on the air without a license has been asked by the agency to provide an explanation. The person posing the questions is FCC chief ham radio rules enforcer Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH. And in a recent Rain Enforcement log, Hollingsworth outlined the situation:

Hollingsworth: "We requested clarifying information from Brian Bailey, ex-KD5PXQ. His license was set aside by the Wireless Bureau on October 19th. We want to know his exact whereabouts on two specific days in September. Bailey has been in touch with us and is deciding weather to provide the information."
--

According to Hollingsworth, the information that the FCC wants from Bailey relates to allegations of unlicensed operations and malicious interference. (FCC, RAIN)

CONVENTIONS: HAMVENTION SAYS BRING YOUR BUS AND LAVE THE PARKING SPOT TO US

Free parking at the HARA Arena for Hamvention? Well, kind of. Its free if you leave your car at home and charter a bus to bring in a pretty large group of people to the event. Amateur News Weekly's Phil Thomas, W8RMJ has the not so complex details:

For Amateurs who charter a bust to make the annual journey to Hamvention, the Dayton Hamvention Committee will reserve a parking place for your chartered bus for the entire three days of Hamvention. The reserved parking will be close to the HARA Arena Complex, allowing not only a place to secure your valued purchases, but also a place to rest those weary feet after walking many, many miles of Hamvention. Space is limited for the new charter bus parking area. Pre registration is required. Availability is on a first come, first served basis.

For more information on the new on-site charter bus parking offer or to reserve a space, please contact the Dayton Hamvention office. It's open normal business hours Eastern Standard Time at are code (937) 276-6930. You can also fax your request toll free at

HAM RADIO EVENTS: KIDS DAY A BIG MID-WEST SUCCESS

The first Kids Day operating event for 2002 was a rousing success in many venues. But in one Mid-West city a bit of coverage on a local T-V station helped to make it even better. Again to Amateur News Weekly and reporter Jack Parker, W8ISH:

Kids Day at the Indianapolis Chapter of the American Red Cross got a boost when event coordinator Stece Wendt, KB9RDS, made an appearance on a local TV news program. During the two minute segment. Wendt told viewers that all kids and their parents were welcome to share in the Amateur Radio experience, including an introduction to Morse Code, VHF repeaters and HF:

Wendt: “And then we turn around tand take them over to the big radios -- the big base station radios where they can talk -- literally -- around the world.”
--

This is the second year the local Red Cross chapter has shown young people how to tune in the world.

Reporting from Indianapolis Indians for Amateur News Weekly, This is Jack Parker, W8ISH.

--

This is just one of many Kids Day success stories. We will have more in future Amateur Radio Newsline reports. (Amateur News Weekly)

ARNEWSLINE(tm) FINANCIAL UPDATE WITH N6TCQ

It’s time for a report on the financial situation here at Amateur Radio Newsline. With it is our Support Fund Administrator and Corporate Treasurer, Andy Jarema, N6TCQ:

It is January of 2002. A brand new year for ham radio. And the beginning of another year for us here at the Amateur Radio Newsline. And as we start off the new year, here are the current finances.

Looking in the new corporate checkbook, the balance shows us at about $700 give or take a few bucks. Not very much when you consider that it takes over a thousand dollars a month to produce these weekly 20 minute Q-S-T’s.

Obviously, Amateur Radio Newsline is going to need your help -- and -- need it quickly to keep it from going away and to keep the news of ham radio coming your way.

We have done all that is possible from our side to keep costs under control. But, some fixed expenses like the telephone and long distance calling are a must have. So are electronic mail and world wide web access. There is the cost of the routine maintenance on the tape machines and editing gear. And in a few months the Newsline sponsored Young Ham of the Year Award will be rolling our way. All of this adds up and some costs just keep going up. When you add it all up and average it out, it comes to that $1000 a month figure I just mentioned.

So now is the time when Amateur Radio Newsline has to ask to ask that you help to keep its newscasts coming your way. Your tax deductible contributions can be sent to the Newsline Support Fund, Post Office Box 660937, Arcadia California. The Zipcode is 91066.

Ill be back within the next few weeks with an update on how things are going. For now from the Amateur Radio Newsline support center, I'm Andy Jarema, N6-Tiny-California-Quake.

Don't worry if you missed the address. It will be repeated in a few minutes at the end of this weeks newscast. (ARNewsline(tm) Support Fund)

ARNEWSLINE(tm): WE ARE GOING MP3

One other piece of news concerning Amateur Radio Newsline. As of March 1st, we will be dropping Real Audio and going exclusively MP3. Why the change? Well ever since we began posting a downloadable MP3 file at our own FTP site along side the Real Audio file, 9 out of 10 people have chosen the MP3. And with good reason. MP3 simply sounds a lot better than Real Audio to most of you. And by dropping the Real Audio, we can make the MP3 sound even better by encoding at a higher bit rate.

Right now, you can still compare the two formats if you like. Until February 22nd we will continue to post both Real Audio and MP3. Take the time to download both. And don't worry. Most modern media players including Real Audio, Microsoft Media and Winamp play MP3 so the chances are that you are already equipped to cover of the digital format change. (ARNewsline(tm))

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY: THE NOISE OF EARTH

According to Space Daily, researchers have known for three decades that the Earth is a potent radio transmitter, but they were never able to pinpoint where the noise was coming from. Recently, by using data from the four spacecraft of the European Space Agency's Cluster mission, NASA-funded scientists have precisely located the source of the radio noise along the magnetic field lines. The noise originates several thousand miles above bright regions in the Earth's northern lights. (AMSAT, Space Daily)

THAT FINAL ITEM: A CALL FOR ARDF HUNTERS FOR THE WORLD GAMES

And finally this week, 2002 may be the biggest year yet for fans of hidden transmitter hunts, especially the ones that are all on foot. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Joe Moell K0OV helps coordinate happenings like these and has news of two major events.

Every two years, hams from around the world gather to see who is best at on-foot hidden transmitter hunting, also called foxtailing, radio-orienteering and ARDF. There are separate events on eighty meters and two meters, each with five transmitters scattered in a forest that can encompass 1000 acres or more.

Competitors are divided into five categories for males and four categories for females. Each country may have up to three persons per category on its team.

Back in Y2K, the championships were in China, with a dozen stateside hams among the competitors from 26 countries. This year, the excitement moves to Slovakia and takes place from September 2 through 7. Once again, ARDF Team USA will be there.

Would you like to be on that team? If so, contact me right away, because USA must submit its Letter of Intent to the Slovakian hosts by the end of January.

Of course you'll need lots of practice beforehand, and you can get plenty by attending USA's own national ARDF championships, which will be April 19-21 in Pine Mountain, Georgia, near Atlanta.

Find out about both championships -- Slovakia and Pine Mountain -- by visiting my Web site: www.homingin.com. Homingin is one word. Then apply for the Team USA roster at my e-mail address on that site, or by postal mail to my callbook address.

Maybe you'll bring home a medal this year. From southern California, where this year's local radio-orienteering training sessions will begin soon, this is Joe Moell K-zero-Oscar-Victor for Amateur Radio Newsline.

In case you missed it, Joe’s website is www.homingin.com. “homeingin” is one word. (K0OV, ARNewsline(tm))

TS 520

Radio seems to work ok except 1 of 3 of the 10 meter bands, 28.0 will not funtion.
I can get a 60 ma reading on IP (USB or LSB) when in transmit mode but that is all it will do, no ALC or or other output readings on the radio or SWR meter no matter what.There is no recieve at all on 28.0 except at about 28.375 the is a faint carrier and if I flip the band switch to 29.1 (the 3rd 10 meter band) without ajusting the VFO the same carrier is there but much stronger.

I have had the radio ajusted to the manual specs and all seems to tune just fine, as the manual says. 10 meter is tuned with the band sellector in the 28.5 position.
Another thing, the radio has a tone just like the 25hz tuning tone throughout the radio on all the bands (except 28.0), sometimes without moving the VFO you can switch the bands and the tone will be uniform across them all.

For the band problem, I suspect the 28.0 crystal (36.895 ?) but this is my first HF rig, I just bought it off Ebay as a working radio, I guess that means the lights come on.....This is the only band I can use as a tech and as my luck would have it, its the only one that does not work.

Any help would be great from the Ham communitee.

Thanks in advance and 73's

The only thing bad about Dimmy, a bath and brushing his tooth would cure. If Donna leaves him again, I'm sure LLLoyd will give him a place to stay, and keep him warm. One of these days he'll learn not to accuse someone of something that they didn't do, or maybe he won't. He's not the sharpest pin in the package.

He lives in a shack, has a junk car that barely runs, needs dental work and owes everybody money. He won't face you. He will just load you up with spam, junk magazine subscriptions and make late-nite hang-up phone calls. Ignore him. He ain't worth the waste of the air it takes you to talk about him.

Lloyd is much akin to the likes of Dimmy...both are living in a pseudo-fantasy land wherein they both delude themselves into thinking that they are offering something to benefit mankind.
Neither one is beneficial to our Society.

Roger claims to be the ultimate of posters on various news groups.
Problem is that he is a spankee ten times over.

Roger has a problem with spelling.
Case in point:
Rogie once referred to a woman as a Bitch...Roger spelled it "Biotch".
Rogie made fun of a person that he said was undergoing Methadone therapy...Rogie spelled it "methjadone". Rogie went on to claim that this person was addicted to "cociane".
Of course Rogie, the college graduate he claims to be, went on to post
"sumbliminal" messages to "amny" and all folks who would "beraking" the
"tiome" to read his twisted posts.
Oh, and let us not forget that Roger cannot spell "Recepticle", try as he may.

Roger will again awaken in the wee hours after he prepares breakfast for Big Marie. He will head directly for the computer and imediately look at the news groups. Roger has no life, per se'...he is addicted to the News Groups.
Roger is a 50 year old with no past, no future, and no hope.

Have fun, Rogie. Your myopic comments are just about all you have left.
Nobody gives a hoot about you otherwise.

I don't have any personal knowledge as to whether these are true or not but the things described make me think of religious groups which have either had suicides/murders (Jonestown, al Qaeda) or which have done things which frightened the authorities sufficiently so that, rightly or wrongly, they killed many of them. (Branch Davidians)

Hi there,

I've been reading a lot about amateur radio lately, and I'm getting more and more interested in entering this exciting new world. (Or shall I say "old world"? Whatever...) As so, I would greatly appreciate some help from those who know more. That would be you, I guess :)

I should tell you I'm mainly interested in long distance contacts, DXing if I got your terminology right. And I'm particularly keen on learning morse. My father was a morse operator in the army, so I get a private free tutor at home. I am also informed about the bureaucratic procedures to get a license and all those legal aspects.

However, I am totally ignorant about the hardware issues, which is why I'm writing this post at the first place. I've read some information on the web, but I was confused with all those kinds of antennas and transceivers and what more. As I said, my primary interest for now would be DXing using morse. From what I read, I got the idea that this is something that can easily be done even with low-powered equipment. Am I correct? What equipment will I need? What would the price range be? What if I wanted to use phone instead of morse? I guess this would require a totally different animal. I live in Portugal, SW Europe, if that makes any difference. And by the way, are there still many stations using morse nowadays?

Anyway, this is all for now. I'm sure I can safely predict that I will be bothering you with other questions very soon, though.

Thank you so much,
Pedro

There is a story about a kid from a farm just outside of Glendale, WV and one of the local bars there.

The kid's name was Roger.

It seems that he had just turned 21 and his father let him go into town alone to buy supplies and feed. Since it was his first trip to town as a man, his dad told Roger to go ahead and buy himself a beer while he was there.

Roger finished up at the feed store and went to the bar to do as his dad said he could. He ordered a beer and the bartender asked if he was new around town. As he was telling the bartender his history, a stunningly beautiful young woman came into the bar and sat down beside Roger. Roger was so powerfully affected by her presence that he began to lose track of his conversation with the bartender and to stammer just a bit.

He turned to the girl and attempted to start up a conversation with her, but she seemed to be distracted. She always answered him politely, but acted as if she didn't really want to talk to him.

A few minutes later, a second beautiful girl entered the bar. She immediately struck up a conversation with the first girl, and eventually they left the bar together.

"Don't worry" said the bartender "she wouldn't ever have gotten interested in you. She's a lesbian."

"What's a lesbian?" asked Roger.

"Well see, it's this way: Lesbians only think about girls. They want to hang out with girls, they want to kiss girls, and they want to sleep with girls."

"Get it?"

"Um, yeah" Roger said, and then left to bring his supplies home.

A few weeks later, Roger was back in Glendale and he stopped at the same bar again. After he'd ordered a beer and was sitting there drinking it, a talkative stranger entered the bar. He was a salesman and told Roger all about how wonderful his job was. Eventually he said to Roger, "Yep, I'm a salesman and proud of it. What are you?"

Roger blushed, looked at the floor, and said "I'm a lesbian."

Did you know that the Lavender Lads have a pet nickname for Roger? Yes.
It's true. Roger is lovingly known in and around Glen Dale, West Virginia as "Rent-a-Rectum".
Of course there is no need to ask how he got this moniker since the name speaks for itself.

Speak, Roger. Speak.
Say something unoriginal and filthy.
Good boy.

Not true. Roger has shown a clear preference for those of the male persuasion. Ask him how he earned the nickname "rent-a-rectum".

"Therefore, I find your story difficult to believe. Your own anonymous

George Arselick's hog of a wife walks into the doctors office with a huge boil on her ass.
The doctor squeezes it, pushes it, and then looks at the hard white pus core. He says this is too big a job for me so he sends her to Stagger Lee the pus sucker.
The woman goes to Stagger Lee, who looks at the bulging red, inflamed boil festering with pus and says "this is no problem" and he proceeds to press his syphlitic lips to her ass and sucks out the pus and core ofthe boil.
Halfway through, the woman drops a mammoth fart. Stagger Lee stops what he's doing, looks up and says "You know lady, it's people like you that make this job fucking disgusting."

So Stair is a sex offender according to http://www.thenetteam.net/policereports.html/?
Am I surprised? Not in the least. He feels anything he does is justified because of his personal relationship with Jesus. What an emabarrassment to serious Catholics and Protestants!
Now, according to http://www.thenetteam.net/ the public will do something about the fraud. Good. He should be removed from the air immediately and tossed in the pokey.

Poor arf arf, he's going to pimp Shelby and Michelle Grimm again tonight to Brother Stair certainly wasn't the first moron in the world to think with the little head. He just as certainly won't be the last.

What's the big deal?

Not like he matters or is even credible or anything.

If you want to post to this group on matters of hardware, I'm all for it. I just don't care what Brother Stair does with HIS hardware.

Is outed coward Wiseman Clairvoyant? Wiseman seems to instinctively know who posts what instantly, even when an anon service is used. How foolish Wiseman looks, making his asinine wild ass guesses as to who is posting what. As if we didn't already know that Usenet's favorite trained whipping dog is not a rocket scientist. Wiseman is a fool, a dysfunctional fool, if such a thing is possible. One person whom Wiseman continually thinks is posting here is in Afghanistan, on duty with the U.S. military as a civilian tech. rep. The guy does not even have access to the internet, nor the time to get on it if he did have access. Get a clue Wiseman and stop listening to some psycho who tells you a pack of lies, unless you take some sick pleasure in propagating lies.

I wonder what the black gangstas in prison will think about a 70 year old whitey raping 7 year old black girls. Anybody want to take bets on
1) how long Stair will last in the slamboni and 2) how long WBCQ will stay afloat without Stair's blood money?

Also, this sort of widespread activity under the banner of Christ led me to conclude that Christianity is nothing but a religion of lies developed for the purpose of power and control, not for true spiritual enlightenment.

After the CIA leaked Mara's boobie pics to an international spy ring,
Turd Fredericks wrote this note denying any responsibility:

"The guy (Stagger Lee) is a total idiot. To give you a little background, he criticizes cotse for not cancelling accounts of people
he doesn't agree with, I shot back with something calling him an idiot
for not being able to learn how to use a kill file, and he starts calling me stupid and that I am supporting thugs and terrorists (or something like that). Eventually, I managed to get rid of him, but now, for whatever reason, he has come back and is forging posts in my name. I would killfile him, but it's more fun to watch him dance :-)"

Y'know Wiseman, I normally don't give you serious material, because I know damned well that you don't really read what other people write, anyway. You are too busy "thinking" about what you are going to spew next.

But our one year anniversary on Usenet is fast approaching, and I want to let other people know how "Stagger Lee" got involved in the first place. So skip the rest of this post, Wiseman; it isn't addressed to you.

What got to me was the way that Wiseman treated women. He wasn't in a "flame" group, and one poor woman had no reason to expect the following vomit to issue from Wiseman's keyboard in message <985226467.3ab95ce327403@webmail.cotse.com> (I have only reposted the first couple of paragraphs):

At that time, COTSE was free and was one of his Usenet providers. COTSE also automatically inserted the X-No-Archive header so that its subscribers could hide from a Deja News search. This post is only available because Brenda Ann quoted it in her reply.

In another archived post, we find the following example of Wiseman's vileness:

These were far from the only two instances of Wiseman engaging in vile and harassing posts in newsgroups where such posts are not expected or welcome. He had been driven from the so-called "flame" newsgroups -- places where such posts are expected -- and so he came looking for victims in the radio news groups. Such posts violate the terms of service of the vast majority of Usenet providers, although the owner of COTSE seemed to have the laughable notion that what Wiseman was doing was exercising freedom of speech. Slander is of course not protected speech in the US, but the concept that even free speech has its limits seemed to be impossible for Steve Gielda -- COTSE's owner -- to grasp.

I indeed complained publicly in one of the newsgroups that the owner of COTSE regularly read, and saw to it that Wiseman's vile posts showed up in that news group too. When Gielda and his supporters complained, I suggested that they take their own advice and use filters.

When the shoe is on the other foot, it often pinches.

Eventually, Gielda started charging for COTSE access and Wiseman of course quit using COTSE. At that point, his posts began to moderate just a little, because he knew that he could lose his Usenet accounts with the other providers if he continued. When his confidence returned and he resumed his harassment, I saw to it that the alt.flame regulars knew about his posts.

The rest is history.

Wiseman now has his own news group (alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman), two "special" web pages, and a whole series of awards for 2001, all provided by the people of the flame news groups. He has been revealed as a fool, and is now a laughing stock of Usenet.

Soy Yer Nora, Woger Dimwit. You are getting almost everything you deserve.

As with all MAJOR posting services, Cotse has an abuse section devoted to their Terms of Service. If the Terms of Service is violated, I am sure that Mr. Stephen K. Gielda and the gang at Cotse will step in to handle the situation by terminating the account.

Held accountable? Sure. If a LAW is broken, anyone is held accountable by a court of law. By Cotse's terms of service, and I have read them, there doesnt seem to be a way of staying within them and breaking the law. You break the terms, you are in violation and it specifically states, your account may be terminated.

Is it Cotse's responsibility to monitor every single post made by their users? No you friggin idiot. It's the responsibility of the viewers to notify of complaints, if these complaints do not violate their Terms or a law, who the hell are you to try and be a NetCop?

Get a fucking life!

Just because something pisses you off doesnt mean you are within your rights to DEMAND THE ACCOUNT BE TERMINATED!!! Fuck off loser.

Personally, I like to see those posts. I think it should be against your ISP's Terms of Service to try and stop the postings. I think I will complain to your ISP that you are irritating the hell out of me and I will try and get your account terminated.

Who does that sound like? You perhaps?

NetCops are the very essence of online evil."

Funny how If I had broken the law, I would've heard from the police if I was "harassing" somebody, , Fuckwit Lee.

After the CIA leaked Mara's boobie pics to an international spy ring,

"The guy (Stagger Lee) is a total idiot. As i have a website on my ham activities, they often use it to find out what it is all about. Of course they also take a look in the guestbook to see where on earth some others are busy with the same hobby :)
So, i only want to ask you to sign my guestbook and maybe you can find some usefull info on my website .. It contains docu on antennas, APRS, ACARS, meteosat, ATV, ... and lots of other stuff. You can also download lots of freeware for your hobby :)

Thanks in advance and 73s

I lurk on this newsgroup -- read, but don't speak.

I saw a post titled something like "A brief history of relations between Stagger Lee and Wiseman" -- that's not the title but it's close enough.

Without doing a lot of research, I have compiled the following history of contacts between "Stagger Lee" and "Wiseman" and their respective supporters and defenders.

Stagger Lee said: "You did it."
Wiseman said: "No, I didn't, you did."
Stagger Lee said: "You're one."
Wiseman said: "Oh, yeah? Well, you're a big fat one."
Stagger Lee responded: "So's your mother."
Wiseman retorted: "You don't even have a mother."
Meanwhile, various other folks were sporting about on the edges of this gutter discussion, adding similarly dumb comments.

For the rest of the history, simply repeat the above exchanges -- over and over and over and over and . . .

If anything emerges from this entire history, it's the total lack of brains and good taste on the part of all involved. But I guess it's best they have at each other here -- keeps them busy and off the ham bands.

Back to lurking.

That is irrelevant. What Stagger Lee doesn't understand is that you can't slander or libel an annonymous entity. Since he is annonymous, uses a fake name etc. he doesn't exist. It's like saying "Santa Claus is a faggot". It's totally meaningless because Santa Claus doesn't exist.
You are free to say whatever you like him. As well, even if Stagger Lee did exist, it would be hard for him to prove any damages from being called a "choad swallower". The judge would just say "why didn't you just use your killfile? case dismissed"

Hey, Fred! How ya been? Well, his misuse of words is relevant, since he portrays himself as some sort of "expert" on almost everything on the newsgroups. Just like he claims to be a ham, know that Mitnick posted to alt.2600, and the list goes on and on and on...

And Gielda has told him over and over that is such libel has occured to take it to court and stop whining in the newsgroups about it.

He exists. He's too cowardly to post under his real name. He knows that I can't specifically target things about him that way. But, he's too stupid to know how to use a kill file, so whatever jusdge it went before would probably question whether or not he can be classified as a "protected person," a legal state reserved for the aged and mental defectives such as "Stagger 'choad swallower' Lee."

Just wondering if anyone could point me to a vendor who sells a console mounting kit for mobile radio equipment. Specifically, for a Ford Explorer.

Not the typical mounting kit to mount a rig to under the dash, but a box-like container that would be just to right of me.... i.e. the center console. I would figure that the mobile rigs would be mounted vertically in this configuration.

Anyone heard of such a thing? or know where plans to build/modify such a thing would be? or even a person's/vendor's name that may not have the item, but could me headed in the right direction?

I was talking about other people that Wiseman regularly attacked, such as brendaannd @ uswest.net, who is indeed a real person. There was even some discussion of a suit against Wiseman over in rec.radio.amateur.policy. Perhaps you missed the post which started this thread since it did not appear in alt.2600. Wiseman chose to cross post his response there, because he is desperate for support.

Your "argument" is uninformed, specious, and is totally irrelevant, since it is based upon a false premise. Go back to impressing the script kiddies.

[Since the original post did not appear in alt.2600, that news group has been trimmed and the original news groups have been restored]

[As stated earlier, followups to this thread by Wiseman will be ignored.]

I can't provide any definite answers but u should look for companies which cater to public safety (police, fire departments, and the like) they usually have these type of items one such company would be Galls www.galls.com but i don't believe they have anything for the explorer i am also on a similar quest to find good mounting solutions for my explorer for now i have fabricated a rack out of lexan that spans the transmission hump and tucks under the front floor mats to keep it in place if you would liek i can take some pictures of it for you just drop me an email also please keep me posted via email on what you find

Pop the end of the console off (the end with the cup holders). Bolt the mounting bracket to the dash end of this piece. Pop it back on, and mount the radio in the bracket. I have mounted dual banders in two Explorers, and this makes a nice convenient location for the rig.

Hi Brad --

I can't offere anything about console mounting kits. But, perhaps, the way I solved my Icom 2710 mounting problem would help: I bought the remoting kit for it, used the "indistrial strength" hook-n-loop adhesive-backed fasteners from Radio Trash to lount the control head to my dash directly under the conrols and mounted the radio under the passenger seat. In my case, my front passernger seat lacks electric controls. If it was fully adjustable with all the motors underneath, I would have otherwise mounted the radio under the rear seat. BTW: there are enough holes in the under-seat brackets that no drilling was necessary.

Hope that helps & 73 --

I was having probs with my Yeasu FT8100 so I returned it to them for repair (non-swr related-see below if interested). I got it back and reinstalled it. The best I could get was 1.8:1 on 2m and 3:1 on 440. I tried adjusting the Diamond SG7900 to no avail.

So after a couple days when I got around to trying to fix it, I retested and 2m was at 7.5:1, 440 was still 3:1, hummm. I have a second ant mounted just in case and switched to it, same thing to a tee. That is w/ separate coax all the way to the radio pig tail. Any idea what could have happened?

It took them 6 wks to fix it the first time so this time I am not sure I won't just but a different radio (Kenwood TM-V7A most likely).

Help, ideas? I use this in K9 Search and Rescue and need it back in operation.

Thanks,
Danny
http://www.k9alert.org

Problems:
*440 side vol. did not work
*Would not receive distant signals (compared side by side w/ same radio in another vehicle)
*XMIT would hang for no apparent reason
*Display would flash and 'go nuts' or radio would just die
Had several other things but can't recall them all now. Would never buy another Yaesu, their service leaves allot to be desired, to say the least.

Can someone confirm that this is a drop-in charger and that it is able to charge the battery alone, without the radio attached?

I bought the DJ-196T, sight unseen, as we have no retail stores in the area, and was disappointed to find the charger outlet on the radio body, rather than the battery. Thus, you can't take the battery off and charge it up, while using the radio with another battery.

Alinco, and my sales rep both say this will work, but I hesitate to believe them, especially since the documentation with the battery only refers to the EDC-9x series of chargers!

Web sites refer to it as a "wall charger" or a "drop-in charger," and just add to the confusion. I need a way to charge the battery without tying up the radio! Otherwise, my extra battery shell will have been a waste of money!

Thanks for any info you can provide.

Kevin.

Eh?

Obtuse: [from Latin obtusus dulled, past participle of obtundere to beat down; see {obtund}

1. (of an angle) lying between 90ï¿½ and 180ï¿½.
2. (of a triangle) having one interior angle greater than 90ï¿½.
3. not sharp or pointed.
4. indistinctly felt, heard, etc.; dull: obtuse pain.
5. (of a leaf or similar flat part) having a rounded or blunt tip.

So, how often do you obtundere your participle Woger?

If the person feels they have be wronged, then they should take it to court. However, I'm not aware of any successful cases of that nature.
Usenet, being the public forum that it is, generally doesn't carry the same weight as a newspaper article or similar publication.

I don't think you really know what you are talking about. What about the premise is false? That you can't slander or libel an annonymous entity?
Or that Santa Claus isn't a real person?

But that was my whle point. The entity known as Stagger Lee does not exist. There is someone behind that name, it could be a whole group of people or just a halfwit, but until it/they reveal their real identity it's kind of hard to slander them.

So. Following the logic posited by the "Rev. Turd" it would not be slander if I were to say that Turd has a lengthy criminal record, eh? It would not be slanderous to state that Turd travels the side roads on a Moped because he lost his drivers license due to his numerous drunken driving convictions, eh? It would not be slanderous if one were to say that the Rev. Turd had his children taken away by Child Protective Services because he abused them, eh?
Or that he blackened his wife's eyes on numerous occasions?
It wouldn't be slanderous to tell all that the "Rev." is an addict, eh?
Of course it wouldn't. This is because the "Reverend Turd" does not exist, does he? There IS someone behind that name, but the person is most likely mentally challenged.

Your false premise is that a fictitious person was being libeled or slandered. The people originally involved are quite real and use their real names on Usenet.

There you have it. Rev. Turd and spankard Wiseman have met their betters.
They get their wimpy little arses raked over the coals night after night and have not the grey matter to realize same.
One can only hope that a second Turd will soon appear on the scene. Why? Because it will take at least two of them to comprise a double-digit intelligence quotient.
And insofar as Wiseman is concerned, no comments are necessary. He has no intellect. He only parrots the same tired old filth and continues to prove that profanity is the effort of a feeble mind to express itself.
Turd and Wogie have been duly spanked.
They simply do not have the brains to realize it.

He really should include himself in that. Did you know he's followed a family tradition to take 7 or more years to get an undergraduate degree?

I know it's hard to believe out of slobbering fool Faggot Lee, huh?

Fuckhead Lee slobbered his pathetic gene cesspool story in

His father took 7 years to get a four year degree, so this is the type of gene cesspool Stagger "TexASS turd" Lee comes from.

I think W4AMP has a "Get out of Jail free" card from Riley. I've asked Riley, himself, if this was true, but he denied it. Dimmy still gets on the air accusing me of illegal activities, calls N4CND's wife and daughters whores and d*cksuckers, has an unnatural attraction to George Arsics, and both he and his "wife" have the filthiest mouths on ham radio. Maybe Riley has just not had time to remove the biggest blight on ham radio. To let W4AMP continue is a travesty of justice.

Of course you found it on ebay, they are your auctions, or didn't you know that? And the items are not for sale, they are for auction, two different things.

FS: Collins 30K-4 Vintage HF Transmitter.

Taking offers on my partially restored 30K-4 xmtr.
Several years ago I acquired this rig with the idea of restoring it after retirement. The time has come and I have come to the conclusion that I bit off more than I can chew - not technically as it is very easy to work on (in 5' rack) and straight-forward circuitry - but timewise. I have been putting about 75% of my spare time on restoration taking away from projects that I am now more interested in (i.e., VLF, antennas, D/F).

It is about 75% restored. On all the individual chasis they have been cleaned and things like xfmrs, chokes, etc. were removed, cleaned, repainted, replaced, etc.
Only the cabinet (5' Bud rack) remains to be refinished.
Most of the components have been checked by applying either 110vac (via Variac) or B+ (variable 0-500vdc supply) and slowly bring up the applied voltages to season the electrolytics, check insulation, etc.

It is missing the tubes (6V6, 807, 4-125A in the RF and the speech ampl/mod tubes). It has the 3-5 mhz RF coils & xtals. It is unmodified in anyway. The only addition has been a set of heavy casters so as to move it about but I plan to remove these so it is "virgin"

Digital pix are available (complete unit, before/after of each chasis, etc) to the seriously interested. It comes with a copy of the complete manual.

I am not interested in donating it and have a lot of work in it along with the original price I paid.
Naturally, a pickup deal would be ideal as it probably weighs 500 lbs or better.

If interested, contact:

I have an Alinco DR590 that intermittently distorts the tx PL or tone. So much so that it can no longer bring up the repeaters.

Later it will be ok.

Any ideas on how to repair it?

I've checked the fuses internal and external all are ok. I've tried this with and with out the remote cable. Does anyone have any suggestions as to a fix short of shipping off to ICOM?

I think you have an excellent idea, but you don't go far enough. In the interest of affirmative action we should drop the sight requirement for airline pilots. There are currently NO blind pilots in the airline industry. We should stop drug testing in all occupations. We definitly should have some pot smoking, coke snorting law enforcement officers. We should induct some weiner dogs into the police dog ranks. We should force the Navy Seals to accept people who can't swim. Paratroopers who are afraid of heights. There's no limit to what affirmative action can do to right this ENORMOUS wrong.

Its sad, you pose a well reasoned proposal, ask for intelligent discussion and see what you get. It sort of echo's the dark side of what you can hear on 20 meters.

That said, here's my opinion....

While facilitating access to the license structure to persons who are underrepresented in our hobby is a great idea -- I think this hobby would be FAR STRONGER if it better reflected the rich diversity of our great nation -- I think what needs to be done first is to reach out to the underrepresented communities. Clubs need to make a point of getting into schools where the culture of persuing an education in science isn't well developed. Field day operations need to consider how their choice of sites might affect their exposure to potential members of our hobby. We've got to get the kids, ALL KIDS, interested in the hobby if it is to survive. We have to engage all cultures otherwise we'll be marginalized as irrelevent and it will be difficult to justify our spectrum.

While I'm not convinced that the entry requirements need a sliding scale and the certain heartburn that would bring (nor am I necessarily opposed to such an idea), I am convinced that our national and local organizations would find the benefits of funding recruitment/training programs to far outweigh the costs in the long run. And I believe that they could do a much better job of this than they do now.

A common criticism of Amateur Radio is that its a neat technology but the only people you can talk to are hams! There's a LOT to ponder in that!

73's and thanks for posting a great message. I'd love to see this continued in QST.

I checked everything, even tried inserting a 3-conductor plug with nothing connected, the result is the same. According to the 'Technical Supplement' manual you have to use a 3-conductor plug for correct CW operation, 2-conductor plugs will cause problems.
I'm convinced that some circuit in the rig doesn't work anymore, although I have no idea why , I'll see if I can get it repaired.

JJ

Being language challenged, Wiseman lurks on 3901, 14313, 3898, etc.
then when he doesn't agree with what is being said, which is often,

Wiseman is on Usenet between 7 a.m. & 10 p.m.
seven days a week.
He is in late 40s, too young to be retired.
So what is his source of income? He was in the Air Force, so he is able bodied, at least physically.
How is an able bodied man in his late 40s able to spend so much time during working hours on Usenet?

Welfare to support his mother? Possibly Wiseman works at a job where he has access to a computer & Usenet. If true, the employer is being screwed, as Wiseman spends too much time on Usenet.

Does Wiseman work out of his mother's home? ditto again, the employer is being screwed, Wiseman spends too much time on Usenet.

Is Wiseman in business for himself? Very unlikely. Self-employed people are too busy. Wiseman would not be able to spend week day hours continually on Usenet. AND Woger has no ambition, no interest in life, his only interest is spewing hate and filth on Usenet.

Questions Questions Questions. So What DOES Little Wogey do to support himself?????????
Anyone?

Hello,

I have a Astatic TUG-9 Stand and a D-104 head that I put a electret condensor element into. There isn't any pre-amp circuit and I power the element from a 9 volt in the mic base. I am getting RF into the mic that is causing distortion on the transmitted audio - I know it for sure because it happens when I turn the RF power up. I don't have the problem with the stock microphone. I have used bypass capacitors across the lines leaving the microphone and still have them problem - what else can I try? I have grounding bus and < 1/4 wavelength grounding strap to ground (basement station).

Thanks,

Scott.

Well, the boy just made me a liar. Other than a few quick posts before 7 a.m., the boy is AWOL on Usenet. Either Wiseman made those few quick posts from work or from home before he left for work. I am still not convinced this fool holds a job. It's the first business day after a three day holiday, and he may have had business at the Welfare Office. The lines are very long there!
Also, he may be posting both from home & work.

Hi Scott,

Here are some suggestions, some of which you may have already tried, but I can't tell from original message:

- Use shielded wire for all audio connx inside the mic.
- Put a bypass cap on the positive battery lead.
- Put ferrite beads on the mic audio and PTT leads inside the mic plug, right where the wires are soldered to the pins.
- Verify that the shield on the mic audio lead in the cable has not opened up on you.

Questions for you:

- Does the stock mic have a dynamic element or an electret?
- Where have you installed bypass caps? What value?

Is it a coiled cord? In my case running a direct wire from the plug at the rig to a common gnd inside the mic solved the problem. Don't know if it was simply poor shielding or possibly some resonance due to the cord. Anyway, it fixed it. (D104 + IC-745 barefoot)

TROLL.

Having said that, I'll post my reply as well.

The amateur exams have already been "dummied down" enough for ANYONE to pass. If you want these "under-represented members of society" to get involved, I'd suggest offering classes in an inner-city community center or something of the like. Or, buy a book, buy a code tape and do it like the rest of us. Come on, if you listen to the bands it is obvious that every Billy Joe Jimbob in Trailer-park USA can now get a license; I am certain that ANYONE else could pass with some study.

Beyond printing the exam in Ebonics, I don't think there is much more that could or should be done.

Could you install an RF choke on the 9V line and bypass to ground (as you did) and loop the whole thing through a small ferrite bead 2 or 3 times?

The Great Pumpkin
Birmingham Post-Herald
October 14, 2000

Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal Courthouse Jail.
Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then looked me straight in the face and said,
'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

[Llllardasssssssssss Lllllllloyd even fucks up a sig, just like the pattern of his so-called "life."]

The GAY-TEAM
- In 1972, a commando unit was sent to prison by a military court for gay acts they committed. These men promptly escaped a maximum security penitentiary to the San Francisco underground. Today, still wanted by the government, they survive as soldiers of gay fortune. If you have a problem, if no one else can help, and if you can find them, maybe you can hire The Gay-Team. -

"Howling Mad" Eric Oyen- This flaming homo went insane after his participation in the deal a meal program failed one too many times. He now resides in a mental hospital but The Gay Team frequently breaks him out when going on assignment. He constantly annoys Herpes but he is still a valuable member.

Sgt. Lllardasssss Llllloyd- The enforcer of the group, he pities the fool who don't like drag queens. Although he can't stand Oyen, deep down he likes him and has saved his ass many times (Mainly for his own pleasure). His specialty is working on mechanical things such as hooking a vibrator to a car battery and new ways to tie back his schlong so he appears as a woman.

"CUNTFace"Eduardo - The best looking of the group, queers worldwide would do anything to get to see that fat naked ass. This smooth talking snake is the master of charm. Whether the assignment is infiltrating enemy lines or surviving on an island full of straight people, usually gets the blowjob done.

Hannibal Stagger Lee- The leader of the group. Using his vast array of eyeglasses and feather boas, he is truly the master of disguise. He can pass himself off as almost anything, from straight to bisexual. Stagger just loves it when a plan "cums" together.
Just don't bend over in the shower with them.......

So help me Hannah--I didn't believe what I was hearing yesterday afternoon. For the first time in many many moons I whipped out my trusty TR4C, Shure 444 and AC4 to a stinking 90' random wire and tuner just to make a QSO or two with a stinking 50 watts output on 14.275. And of course who had to be on covering up everything? Of course, the useless K1MAN report. But despite it, I was hearing a very recognizable voice--the one and only KV4FZ, Herbie Schoenbohm whom Glenn was interviewing because of the entertainment value.

Jeez..I hadn't heard the Herbster for eons; how long has it been since the Feds shlepped the guy off the air by refusing to renew his tickee? Months? Years? Time flies, doesn't it?

Okay, there was he by way of Baxter because like Baxter, the Herbster, whether overtly or covertly, harbors ill will toward the FCC. Baxie's no fool by wanting to garner as much fuel as possible to ram his steamroller against the suits who oversee our hobby/service including Riley Hollingsworth. Baxie therefore allowed Herbie free reign--like a psychiatrist who encourages free association to help the patient rid himself of neuroses while the shrink gets the dough and credit for it. Shrinks aren't nuts--just shrewd. Big bucks shrewd.

So there I sat waiting to hear the Herbster come clean in order to get back on the air; afterall he did pass the General recently, knows electronics, loves the hobby and must have been rehabilitated by now to warrant the FCC's trust in that he now has the requisite characteristics to ham it up again.

I was wrong because once again I was hearing the same lame excuses by FZ that were told over and over again by him as he was fighting the Feds.Deja vu. The one that tickled the most was that he's such an important radio personality, the Clinton government had to shut him up which explained why his ham ticket wasn't renewed. Hell, I had more listeners with my Drake and Cloudwarmer than he ever had with his commercial operations. Then Herbie went into his song and dance about how he was helping rather than pilfering service from the Caribbean Automated Long Lines Service and how he got into a pack of troubles over a billing dispute..on and on it went while Bax sat there trying to come up with other plans on how to outmaneuver the Feds.

Simply stated: I cannot believe the pompousness and utter stupidity of that St. Croixan insofar as once again holding to the same stupid melody and lyrics of the useless and boring song that landed him in such trouble while singing it to Admin. Judge Lutin. INCOMPREHENSIBLE.

And so I tuned the duo OUT, QSYed and had a nice chat with W4NTI and ND8V. For those who don't adhere to the adage, "The more things change, the more they stay the same," tune into the K1MAN report today as it once again usurps frequencies most illegally and listen to the interview with Herbie.

He has the voice of a prince but the reasoning of a retard.

How about lowering the bar for midgit high jumpers? How about lowering the basket when a "white boy" shoots? If anyone can explain the gross injustice that has been inflicted on these people(minorities) that prevent them from learning CW or passing a written test, I'll be the first to embrace affirmative action. Even lowering the test to a second grade level for brain surgeons, and rocket scientists.

Hello Scott,

I used to have the same problem on my D104.
Whenever I turned on my Amplifier, it fed back to my audio.
The stock microphone cable was ok, so I added a Ferrite core, and all my problems went away..

The GAY-TEAM
- In 1972, a commando unit was sent to prison by a military court for gay acts they committed. These men promptly escaped a maximum security penitentiary
to the San Francisco underground. Today, still wanted by the government, they survive as soldiers of gay fortune. If you have a problem, if no one else can help, and if you can find them, maybe you can hire The Gay-Team. -

"Howling Mad" Eric Oyen- This flaming homo went insane after his participation in the deal a meal program failed one too many times. He now resides in a mental hospital but The Gay Team frequently breaks him out when going on assignment. He constantly annoys Herpes but he is still a valuable member.

Sgt. Lllardassss Herpes Lllllllllllllloyd- The enforcer of the group, he pities the fool who don't like drag queens. Although he can't stand Oyen, deep down he likes him and has saved his ass many times. His specialty is working on mechanical things such as hooking a vibrator to a car battery and new ways to tie back his schlong so he appears as a woman.

would do anything to get to see that fat naked ass. This smooth talking snake is the master of charm. Whether the assignment is infiltrating enemy lines or surviving on an island full of straight people, usually gets the blowjob done.

Hannibal Stagger Lee- The leader of the group. Using his vast array of loves it when a plan "cums" together.

I am also looking for ideas for consoles for our radio club's station. We need to have 4 or 5 operating positions for the different operating modes or band operations that may be used during Field Day. The consoles need to be on casters so that they can be moved since the "shack" we are in at the moment would be to small for all to operate and could be moved into the clubs meeting room if need be.

The consoles should be long enough to set two operators. one to operate and the other to keep the log.

Also one of the consoles should be designed for digital communications (SSTV, PSK 31, etc) where a computer is used.

What are some of your ideas

hey all, i'm looking to basically build a small am/fm transmitter with a couple of miles of range. from what i gather this is based much more on the amplifier you use than the actual transmitter so i wanted to know what difference the transmitter makes. im also unsure how exactly you include the amplifier in the circuit and connect the antannea but i have basic circuit building knowledge and would prefer to build my own. if there are any low price kits however i would be willing to look, but i want to learn more about their functioning as well.

thanks a lot

After getting annoyed from his unsolicitated PM in my mailbox,
I tried to answer him and mailed to him that his mails are NOT wanted by my.

The result is clearly: He blocked ALL his (in the newsgroup visible) mail accounts.

So Paul, to make it clear once again:

- your mailing is not wanted by most of us, including me.
- read the FAQ yourself.
- stop this immediately.

If not, I'll start a collection within the newsgroup for money to hire a profesional. To give you a clear HEAD-SHOT.

Got the message?

BUT: If Paul is really such a wonderful person as you described him, why does he simply send unsolicitated mail, but blocks the way back to mail him? Is he not open to discussion? Seems to me like a child that just put's his hands about his ears and shouts: "I can't hear you! I won't listen! I can't hear you".

Or has he still problems with his wife that betrayed him? So he wants to a way to compensate his grief? Well, maybe then he should look for psychatric help of a pro. SCNR
